

CO-ED SLAIN; PROFESSOR HELD

FRENCHMEN LAND IN SPAIN WITH FUEL COMPLETELY EXHAUSTED

YOUNG STOWAWAY IS BLAMED IN FAILURE OF GASOLINE TANKS

Added Weight Hinders
Plane; Flyers Are
Forgiving

PARIS, June 15.—An announcement by Le Bourget Airdrome officials that the French trans-Atlantic plane Yellow Bird had hopped off from Santander, Spain, for Paris, was denied in a telephone conversation with Santander today.

The Yellow Bird still was at Santander at 1:30 p. m., the United Press' informant at Santander said.

COMILLAS, Spain, June 15.—An American youth who rode the Atlantic on the flip of a coin shared the glory of a daring sea flight with three Frenchmen here today. The monoplane Yellow Bird, carrying a stowaway, Arthur Schreiber of Portland, Me., landed on the pebble-strewn beach here at 8 o'clock last night (3 p. m. E. S. T. Friday), its fuel tanks almost tinder-dry.

Today Jean Assolant, Rene Lefevre and Armeno Lotti, crew of the Yellow Bird, plan to refuel and proceed to Paris with Schreiber—the chief cause of their failure to reach the soil of France—tucked away in the cubby hole he occupied on the 3,440 mile flight from Old Orchard, Me., during the twenty-nine hours and fifty minutes it took to make the journey. "He shared our risks and he is one of us now," Assolant, chief pilot of the Yellow Bird, said of Schreiber. "We will see to it that he sees all there is to be seen in Paris and then we shall send him home on a steamer. He is a nervous lad, a typical American boy."

The aviators had figured their fuel supply to take care of the weight of the three men who were scheduled for the journey. They had failed to count on the pluck and imagination of an American boy who was determined to travel alone the route taken two years ago by the man whom he considers the "greatest man in the world"—Lindbergh.

At first Assolant was bitter about the intrusion of the stowaway. The pilot blamed Schreiber for the exhaustion of fuel. He had figured the supply so closely that the added weight of Schreiber's 165 pounds played a prominent part in the forced landing.

But Schreiber explained that he just "had to go through with it," and said:

"This meant glory for me. I was determined to do like Lindbergh and fly across the ocean."

Assolant took personal charge of the boy. He refused to turn him over to the police, saying that the courage of the boy deserved a greater reward.

The pilot said that Schreiber came out of his hiding in the plane about twenty minutes after the Yellow Bird took off.

"Our surprise was greater than our indignation. But when we re-

(Continued on Page Eight)

SENTENCE PAIR FOR ABANDONING GIRL

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Irvin B. Baxter, members of a traveling carnival, drew jail sentences here for the abandonment of a daughter, Mercedes, 15. Baxter was fined $500 and sentenced to six months in the workhouse. His wife was sentenced to Marysville Reformatory.

ONE VELOCIPEDE-- 25 CENTS!

CHILD'S VELOCIPEDE, in good condition. Phone 579-W. 223 Dayton Ave.

Mrs. B. L. Hughey inserted the above ad in the CLASSIFIED columns one night and immediately sold the velocipede. Her experience is only that of many others who have resorted to GAZETTE CLASSIFIED to dispose of their wares and make ready and easy money. You can do the same--CALL 111

Dry Agent Exonerated

Jonah Cox, above, border patrol agent, was absolved from blame in connection with the shooting of Archibald Euster, aged 21, at Detroit, Mich., by investigators when one of Euster's companions, Frank Cooper, admitted that he, Cooper and others were running liquor across the border into the United States.

CONGRESS HOPES TO CONCLUDE SESSION ON NEXT WEDNESDAY

Tariff Resolution And Secrecy Rule Re- main

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Congress took a day off today to prepare for terminating all pending business early next week, with the hope of beginning a six-week summer recess Wednesday.

A new plan worked out by the leaders, would allow a vote on the Borah tariff resolution and the secrecy rule abolition in the senate under restricted debate. If these measures are disposed of by Wednesday and the house bill increasing salaries of congressional employees is passed by both houses, an effort will be made by senate leaders to fix a time for voting in the fall on the tariff revision bill.

In case the agreement fails, as now seems likely, the senate will enter a period of three-day recesses, as the house plans to do. Senators and representatives of the various factions will be left on guard to protect their respective interests and both houses will meet every third day without a quorum for the sole purpose of adjourning for three days more.

This scheme is made necessary by refusal of the house to consent to adjourning the senate unless a date is set for a tariff vote. House leaders are standing with President Hoover on the issue, and the constitution provides neither house shall adjourn for more than three days without the consent of the other house.

The three day recess routine will have almost the same effect as a six week recess. Most of the congressmen could get away from Washington. There would be no business to be transacted because the subjects of the session have been confined generally by the president to farm relief and tariff revision.

The status of the farm bill was somewhat in doubt since Vice-President Curtis unexpectedly signed the bill shortly after the senate adjourned for the week end. Curtis said he believed the records would show it was signed in open session and on that premise sent it immediately to the White House where President Hoover was expected to sign it today.

Parliamentarians insisted the Curtis signature was not legal since the senate had already adjourned. The president may sign it at his leisure, making it a law.

In event the parliamentarians are right, Curtis must sign it again, after the senate reconvenes Monday with the president's signature to follow.

CITIZENS ASK HELP FROM PRESIDENT IN DRY SHOOTING CASE

Protest Actions Of Officers; White To Be Defended

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., June 15.—"For God's sake help us," read an appeal to President Hoover by a group of professional and business men protesting the killing of Henry Virkula by Border Patrolman Emmett J. White.

The plea was forwarded to the White House after a mass meeting in the city council chamber where the civic group, incensed over the slaying, aired its opinions and sought protection from the "unprecedented abuses" it reared the community had been subjected to by customs agents.

Their action came simultaneously with the filing of a second degree murder charge against White by State's Attorney David Hurlburt. The accused patrolman had been held on a second degree manslaughter information.

The message to President Hoover, signed by Hurlburt, other public officials and many of International Falls' leading citizens, contended a "desperate situation" existed.

"These agents," the message stated, "instead of confining their activities within the limits of their authority and mission have usurped civil authority they do not possess. They have innumerable instances, violated the constitutional rights of the citizens of this community."

Virkula, a confectioner of Big Forks, was shot and killed as he drove homeward with his wife and two small children after a Saturday evening in International Falls. White pleaded he fired only when he thought Virkula was about to run him down.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The treasury department today proceeded with its plans for defending Customs Patrolman Emmett J. White, who fatally shot a citizen near Duluth, Minn., while patrolling the highway in that vicinity. Issuance of the treasury's official statement absolving White of all blame in connection with the shooting was followed by a statement in the house that continued use of firearms by prohibition operatives may result in a nation wide revolt against the dry laws and the federal government.

Ignoring congressional attacks on what Rep. Pittenger, Repn., Minn., described as the "White-Washing" of White, Assistant Treasury Secretary Seymour Low, said the treasury will cooperate with the justice department in defending White. A motion will be made to have White's case transferred to a federal court where he will be defended by the U. S. attorney for that district.

A resolution pending before the house asking congressional inquiry of the use of firearms by federal officers is expected to evoke further discussion of the subject on the floor next week.

Predicting "civil war" may ensue unless treasury agents cease using firearms in prohibition enforcement, Rep. Laguardia, Repn., N. Y., said. "Uncle Sam and the United States government have always been considered by the American people as something kindly, something to love, but now they have become something hated, something oppressive."

A demand by Rep. Murphy, Repn., Ohio, that this portion of Laguardia's remarks be expunged from the record was overruled by Rep. Williams, Repn., Ill., who was acting speaker at the time.

ACCUSED SLAYER OF NURSE SAYS GIRL VICTIM ENDED OWN LIFE

CANEY, Kan., June 15.—The joy ride that ended in death for a pretty student nurse in the inky darkness of a country lane had two explanations today—suicide and murder.

Enraged friends of Miss Margaret White, 20, probationary nurse, believing she was murdered when she resisted the advances of Elmer Cales, young farmer, became so threatening that he was taken to Independence, nearby county seat, for safe keeping.

There he told his version of the nocturnal joy ride.

"Miss White proposed to me," Cales said. "I told her I was in no fix to marry. She grabbed a gun I carried in the car, jumped out, ran down the road and shot herself. I ran away because I knew no one would believe my story."

Cales, whose first engagement with the nurse was the night she was killed, was arrested in Bartlesville, Okla., and returned here.

MURDER VICTIM WAS MYSTERY

Friends Knew Little About Slain Co-Ed; Had Few
Affairs With Men.

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—Miss Theora Hix, slain Ohio State University co-ed, followed her usual secretive habits when she silently slipped away to keep what proved to be a date with death, her friends revealed today.

And this peculiar psychological make-up of the murdered girl left detectives with no clues to pierce the veil of mystery which shrouds her activities on that fatal night. Theora was a strange girl. She was pretty, intelligently cultured, but by her own choice, she had few friends.

Even those few girls who considered themselves her closest friends, were hardly more than acquaintances. Theora did not talk about herself, her friends said. She made her plans quietly and carried them out without revealing what they were to be.

She was reserved. And sometimes moody. Yet she had chosen medicine as her career and was making rapid strides towards that goal.

Her social life seems to have been limited to her two roommates and a few other girls. She did not mix with the campus crowd. She did not belong to any social sorority or take any major part in campus activities.

"She was just not that kind," her friends said yet they believed she was usually happy and contented with her college life.

Her relationship with men at the university seems to have been very casual. And this was one side of her life that she kept locked within herself.

"She never talked about her personal affairs," her friends said.

They knew she had dates occasionally. They knew that some time ago she spent many evenings with the same man, an older man who is a university employee. They knew that this "affair" had been broken up. They didn't know why or how.

Theora didn't talk about such things.

Her friends knew that recently she had started going around with another man. They had seen her

(Continued on Page Eight)

GAMBLING ON RACES WILL STOP ASSERTS GOVERNOR COOPER

Report Executive Is Determined To End
Track Betting

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—Gambling on dog and horse races in Ohio must and will be stopped.

That's become the present slogan of Governor Cooper and his administration, confronted with the refusal of local officials in Madison and Geauga Counties to enforce the gambling laws.

Following a series of conferences Friday, it was announced today by an administration spokesman that the governor is determined to carry his fight to a successful finish and is confident that he will be able to stop the violation of the law.

Definite decision has not been reached as to the next step to be taken by the governor. It is possible, however, that he may endeavor to have citizens of Madison County start proceedings in their local courts by petition to have Prosecutor Dean Richmond removed from office on the ground that he has failed to stop gambling at the West Jefferson dog races.

The same plan is said to be under consideration with relation to officials of Geauga County, who have refused to interfere with betting at Bainbridge race track.

Final decision as to the course of action to be followed may be reached early next week. The governor is in Cincinnati to spend Saturday and Sunday, but will be back in his office Monday morning.

MAYBE HE TALKS THROUGH HIS HAT

MARTINS FERRY, O., June 15.—The "farthest north" in prohibition enforcement was hailed here today, when Dry Agent O. P. Davis caught whiskey thrown from a second story window in his hat, and placed charges against the offender.

Waiting in a lane near the home of George Bariso for another suspect, Davis saw a woman empty several bottles onto the porch roof. He slipped through the bushes surrounding the house and secured a hatful as it dropped from the eaves.

FARM RELIEF READY FOR SIGNATURE; TO BE EFFECTIVE SOON

Federal Farm Board To Be Selected In Ten Days

(Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, June 15.—President Hoover today signed the $500,000,000 administration farm relief bill.

The new law, to become effective immediately, provides for creation of a federal farm board of nine members to work for the rehabilitation of American agriculture.

No export bounty or subsidy is provided, the controversial debenture feature having been killed by congress after President Hoover twice had expressed uncompromising opposition to the scheme.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Two months from the day congress assembled for the extra session, the administration farm bill, without the export debenture provision, was at the White House today for President Hoover's signature.

The new federal farm board, to be selected by the president and confirmed by the senate, will be established in about ten days under present White House plans.

With confirmation of the new board, the nation will have its first permanent federal agency empowered to work for coordination and stabilization in all phases of agriculture.

A revolving fund of $500,000,000 is authorized by the bill, to stimulate development of co-operative marketing systems and aid in balancing production with consumption in every commodity.

BAD CHECK MAY LEAD TO ROBBERY CHARGE

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—A charge of robbery, in addition to bigamy and issuing a bad check may be placed against Alfred S. Dyhre, 39, New York. He was partially identified by Miss Georgia Miller as the man who stole $22.50 from the Western and Southern Life Insurance Co. April 2.

When Dyhre was arrested here on charges of trying to pass a "rubber" check, it was disclosed that he had been married three times, and two of the wives were living. They met each other in the office of a local detective agency.

KING ACCEPTS DAWES PAPERS

WINDSOR, England, June 15.—Charles G. Dawes, former vice president of the United States, officially became ambassador to Great Britain today when his credentials were accepted by King George in audience at Windsor Castle.

Dawes, accompanied by Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, Mrs. Dawes, Ray Atherton, counsellor of the American embassy, and J. B. Monck, of the British foreign office, came here by train to present his credentials.

FATHER GETS WHAT'S COMING TO HIM SUNDAY

SUNDAY is "Father's Day," which comes between "Be Kind to Dumb Animals Week" and "National Insect Killing Week."

It is the only day in the year dedicated to Father, but he could tell you something about the nights that are his.

Father's Day was inaugurated nineteen years ago and is usually celebrated by giving him nineteen pairs of suspenders and nineteen neckties, all of which he pays for. The quality depends on how much

Prince of Wales Rumored "Tied Up"

Though not the first of his reported betrothals, an announcement of the engagement of the much sought-after Prince of Wales, left, to the comely Princess Ingrid, right, daughter of the Crown Prince of Sweden, is expected shortly, according to rumor afloat. If true, many royal tears will be shed by many ambitious mammas and eligible daughters, as the most desirable bachelor slips through their royal fingers.

TWO YOUTHS EFFECT CAPTURE OF FIVE KIDNAPING BANDITS

LEWISTON, Ida., June 15.—Ward Alexander, 14, and Sam Bryant, 16, were the heroes of their chums here today after their capture of the five "bad men" who kidnapped Lieut. Gov. W. B. Kinne and two men who came to his aid Wednesday.

White bloodhounds, airplanes and hundreds of posse men searched in parts of three states for the five "bad men" who kidnapped Lieut. Gov. W. B. Kinne when he faced his alleged abductors in the jail here.

The four members of the gang who kidnapped Kinne and shot Paul Killey and beat W. L. Tribbey when they came to his aid all are between nineteen and twenty-two years old. They identified themselves as Franklin Lang, Redmond, Wis., Geo. Livingston, Tuscaloosa, Ala., Engos Foynsund, Fargo, N. D., Tex Reynolds, Matine Fall, Wash., and "Seattle George" Normad.

They confessed they had planned a bank robbery at Pierce and had left "Seattle George" to lay the groundwork for the crime while they went out and stole a car. Kinne who drove by, was kidnapped and his automobile taken and wrecked and Killey's then was captured.

Kinne and his two defenders escaped after being gagged and tied to trees in the woods and spread the alarm.

"I think I'm sittin' pretty," said the boys when they were tuning up the monoplane Yellow Bird this morning. Schreiber spent his time kissing black-eyed Senoritas, writing his autograph and eating breakfast. His only criticism of the Spaniards was that they spoke Spanish.

"Why don't they speak English? I haven't understood a word since I landed here. They'd be much more interesting if they spoke English."

"I suppose I'll have to go to jail when I get to France, because I have no passport. But after the ride through the storm I think I can stand jail, even a French one."

"All I hope is that they don't ship me back home before I've seen Paris. Assolant promised to show me things I never saw before. Lotti says I can live at his hotel. Lefevre says he thinks he can get me a temporary passport."

"So I guess I'm sittin' pretty."

Names of the boys were withheld.

A warrant charging Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hamilton with being accessories to murder was issued on complaint of the county probation officer who said the boys told their parents that they held the Cooley boy under water, but were advised to keep silent.

SENTENCE MINISTER TO ELECTRIC CHAIR

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 15.—Rev. Maston Rhodes was sentenced to death in the electric chair late last night by Judge David G. Jenkins for the murder of Otto Campbell, a member of his congregation.

Eight men and four women returned a guilty verdict on the first degree murder charge. They did not recommend mercy.

After quarreling with Campbell, the pastor killed him on the evening of March 15.

"He shot him down like a dog in the street," was the expression of Assistant Prosecutor Vern Thomas.

After three days of legal battles the case went to the jury at 3:25 p. m. Nine ballots were taken before an agreement was reached.

DIES IN CHAIR

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., June 15.—Theodore D. Carr, 50, went calmly to his death on the gallows at the state penitentiary here last night for the murder of his brother-in-law, Lock Sharp. The condemned man made no statement.

O. S. U. PROFESSOR ARRESTED IN PROBE OF BRUTAL KILLING

Medical Student Is Beaten To Death At Columbus

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—Dr. James H. Snook, professor of veterinary medicine at Ohio State University, was arrested here today for questioning in the brutal slaying of Miss Theora Hix, attractive medical student at the university.

Dr. Snook was arrested at his home here. Accompanied by a detective he drove his own blue coupe, which had been the object of a police search shortly after Miss Hix's body was found on a rifle range five miles northwest of here yesterday, to the police station.

One of his hands was bandaged. He explained he was fixing his machine and the wrench slipped, causing the injury.

Dr. Snook, according to police, was a member of the Olympic pistol team to Antwerp in 1920 and is a member of the Columbus Revolver Club.

Dr. Snook said he had known Miss Hix for the past several years and admitted financing part of her education at the university. He said he last saw her on Wednesday night near the university campus.

Friends of the attractive co-ed told the United Press that Miss Hix was seen Thursday night in the company of a man in a blue automobile. The girl's companion, they said, appeared to be about 40 years old and wore glasses.

When she left the University Hospital, where she was to have been employed this summer, Miss Hix told Miss Bertha Dillon, telephone operator at the hospital, that she was "leaving for a date."

That was Thursday night about 8 o'clock.

Yesterday afternoon Milton Miller, 19, and Paul Krumlauf, 15, went to a rifle range to practice marksmanship. There they stumbled upon the body of Miss Hix. It was badly mutilated—the head was crushed, the throat and one ear gashed and the abdomen was severely cut.

A medical examination of the body, police and medical authorities agreed the murder probably was the work of a maniac. Identification of the body was made by Mrs. Alice Moore, secretary of Neil Hall, a women's dormitory at the University, and by Alice and Beatrice Bustin, sisters who had an apartment with Miss Hix.

Fresh automobile tracks leading to the rifle range caused police to proceed upon the theory that the girl was murdered elsewhere and taken to the range in a car.

Friends of Miss Hix were surprised when they learned she had been seen in the company of a man. The Bustin girls, who had known her for several years, said Miss Hix apparently had little interest in men and had few dates in the evening, they said, and was fond of playing tennis and golf. She usually played tennis on the municipal courts near the rifle range, they declared.

Miss Hix's parents live in Brantford, Fla., her father, William

(Continued on Page Eight)

CRUSHED PROBABLY FATALLY BY POLE

CINCINNATI, O., June 15.—Little hope was held today for the recovery of James Schradt, 40, Columbus, brother-in-law and advance agent for Jack Reynolds, welterweight wrestling champion, injured last night when a large pole fell and broke his spine at Redland Field.

Schradt was directing installation of the pole, a support for an arc light above the ring in which Reynolds and Matty Matsuda, Japanese wrestler, were slated for a championship contest.

Schradt, suffered concussion of the brain.

YOUTH CONVICTED ON CHARGE OF MURDER

LOGAN, O., June 15.—Albert Burkett, 23-year-old, Lawrence County, Ky., youth faced a life sentence in the Ohio penitentiary today following his conviction of second degree murder by a jury here late yesterday in the killing of Earl Behrens of Lancaster.

Common Pleas Judge Harley M. Whitcraft announced sentence would be withheld until attorneys filed a motion for a new trial.

Behrens was shot to death when he and another man went into a wooded section near Brimstone Creek in search of a liquor cache.

CO-ED SLAIN; PROFESSOR HELD

FRENCHMEN LAND IN SPAIN WITH FUEL COMPLETELY EXHAUSTED

YOUNG STOWAWAY IS BLAMED IN FAILURE OF GASOLINE TANKS

Added Weight Hinders
Plane; Flyers Are
Forgiving

PARIS, June 15.—An announcement by Le Bourget Airdrome officials that the French trans-Atlantic plane Yellow Bird had hopped off from Santander, Spain, for Paris, was denied in a telephone conversation with Santander today.

The Yellow Bird still was at Santander at 1:30 p. m., the United Press' informant at Santander said.

COMILLAS, Spain, June 15.—An American youth who rode the Atlantic on the flip of a coin shared the glory of a daring sea flight with three Frenchmen here today. The monoplane Yellow Bird, carrying a stowaway, Arthur Schreiber of Portland, Me., landed on the pebble-strewn beach here at 8 o'clock last night (3 p. m. E. S. T. Friday), its fuel tanks almost tinder-dry.

Today Jean Assolant, Rene LeFevre and Armeno Lotti, crew of the Yellow Bird, plan to refuel and proceed to Paris with Schreiber—the chief cause of their failure to reach the soil of France—tucked away in the cubby hole he occupied on the 3,440 mile flight from Old Orchard, Me., during the twenty-nine hours and fifty minutes it took to make the journey.

"He shared our risks and he is one of us now," Assolant, chief pilot of the Yellow Bird, said of Schreiber. "We will see to it that he sees all there is to be seen in Paris and then we shall send him home on a steamer. He is a nervous lad, a typical American boy."

The aviators had flung their fuel supply to take care of the weight of the three men who were scheduled for the journey. They had failed to count on the pluck and imagination of an American boy who was determined to travel along the route taken two years ago by the man whom he considers the "greatest man in the world"—Lindbergh.

At first Assolant was bitter about the intrusion of the stowaway. The pilot blamed Schreiber for the exhaustion of fuel. He had figured the supply so closely that the added weight of Schreiber's 145 pounds played a prominent part in the forced landing.

But Schreiber explained that he just "had to go through with it," and said:

"This meant glory for me. I was determined to do like Lindbergh and fly across the ocean."

Assolant took personal charge of the boy. He refused to turn him over to the police, saying that the courage of the boy deserved a greater reward.

The pilot said that Schreiber came out of his hiding in the plane about twenty minutes after the Yellow Bird took off.

"Our surprise was greater than our indignation. But when we re-

(Continued on Page Eight)

SENTENCE PAIR FOR ABANDONING GIRL

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Irvin B. Baxter, members of a traveling carnival, drew jail sentences here for the abandonment of a daughter, Mercedes, 15.

Baxter was fined $500 and sentenced to six months in the workhouse.

His wife was sentenced to Marysville Reformatory.

ONE VELOCIPEDE-- 25 CENTS!

CHILD'S VELOCIPEDE, in good condition. Phone 579-W. 223 Dayton Ave.

Dry Agent Exonerated

Jonah Cox, above, border patrol agent, was absolved from blame in connection with the shooting of Archibald Euster, aged 21, at Detroit, Mich., by investigators when one of Euster's companions, Frank Cooper, admitted that he, Euster and others were running liquor across the border into the United States.

CONGRESS HOPES TO CONCLUDE SESSION ON NEXT WEDNESDAY

Tariff Resolution And Secrecy Rule Re- main

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Congress took a day off today to prepare for terminating all pending business early next week, with the hope of beginning a six-week summer recess Wednesday.

A new plan worked out by the leaders, would allow a vote on the Borah tariff resolution and the secrecy rule abolition in the senate under restricted debate. If these measures are disposed of by Wednesday and the house bill increasing salaries of congressional employees is passed by both houses, an effort will be made by senate leaders to fix a time for voting in the fall on the tariff revision bill.

In case the agreement fails, as now seems likely, the senate will enter a period of three-day recesses, as the house plans to do. Senators and representatives of the various factions will be left on guard to protect their respective interests and both houses will meet every third day without a quorum for the sole purpose of adjourning for three days more.

This scheme is made necessary by refusal of the house to consent to adjourning the senate unless a date is set for a tariff vote. House leaders are standing with President Hoover on the issue, and the constitution provides neither house shall adjourn for more than three days without the consent of the other house.

The three day recess routine will have almost the same effect as a six week recess. Most of the congressmen could get away from the increasing summer heat of Washington. There would be no business to be transacted because the subjects of the session have been confined generally by the president to farm relief and tariff revision.

The status of the farm bill was somewhat in doubt since Vice-President Curtis unexpectedly signed the bill shortly after the adjournment for the week end. Curtis said he believed the records would show it was signed in open session and on that premise sent it immediately to the White House where President Hoover was expected to sign it today.

Parliamentarians insisted the Curtis signature was not legal since the senate had already adjourned. The president may sign it at his leisure, making it a law. In event the parliamentarians are right, Curtis must sign it again, after the senate reconvenes Monday with the president's signature to follow.

CITIZENS ASK HELP FROM PRESIDENT IN DRY SHOOTING CASE

Protest Actions Of Officers; White To Be Defended

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., June 15.—"For God's sake help us," read an appeal to President Hoover by a group of professional and business men protesting the killing of Henry Virkula by Border Patrolman Emmett J. White.

The plea was forwarded to the White House after a mass meeting in the city council chamber where the civic group, incensed over the slaying, aired its opinions and sought protection from the "unprecedented abuses" it declared the community had been subjected to by customs agents.

Their action came simultaneously with the filing of a second degree murder charge against White by State's Attorney David Hurlburt. The accused patrolman had been held on a second degree manslaughter information.

The message to President Hoover, signed by Hurlburt, other public officials and many of International Falls' leading citizens, contended a "desperate situation" existed.

"These agents," the message stated, "instead of confining their activities within the limits of their authority and mission have usurped civil authority they do not possess. They have in innumerable instances, violated the constitutional rights of the citizens of this community."

Virkula, a confectioner of Big Forks, was shot and killed as he drove homeward with his wife and two small children after a Saturday evening in International Falls. White pleaded he fired only when he thought Virkula was about to run him down.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The treasury department today prepared with its plans for defending Customs Patrolman Emmett J. White, who fatally shot a citizen near Duluth, Minn., while patrolling the highway in that vicinity.

Issuance of the treasury's official statement absolving White of all blame in connection with the shooting was followed by a statement in the house that continued use of firearms by prohibition operatives may result in a nation wide revolt against the dry laws and the federal government.

Ignoring congressional attacks on what Rep. Pittenger, Rep., Minn., described as the "White washing" of White, Assistant Treasury Secretary Seymour Lowman said the treasury will cooperate with the justice department in defending White. A motion will be made to have White's case transferred to a federal court where he will be defended by the U. S. attorney for that district.

A resolution pending before the house, asking congressional inquiry of the use of firearms by federal officers is expected to evoke further discussion of the subject on the floor next week.

Predicting "civil war" may ensue unless treasury agents cease using firearms in prohibition enforcement, Rep. Laguardia, Rep., N. Y., said, "Uncle Sam and the United States government have always been considered by the American people as something kindly, something to love, but now they have become something hated, something oppressive."

A demand by Rep. Murphy, Rep., Ohio, that this portion of Laguardia's remarks be expunged from the record was overruled by Rep. Williams, Rep., Ill., who was acting speaker at the time.

ACCUSED SLAYER OF NURSE SAYS GIRL VICTIM ENDED OWN LIFE

CANEY, Kan., June 15.—The joy ride that ended in death for a pretty student nurse in the inky darkness of a country lane had two explanations today—suicide and murder.

Enraged friends of Miss Margaret White, 20, probationary nurse, believing she was murdered when she resisted the advances of Elmer Cales, young farmer, became so threatening that he was taken to Independence, nearby county seat, for safe keeping.

There he told his version of the nocturnal joy ride.

MURDER VICTIM WAS MYSTERY

Friends Knew Little About Slain Co-Ed; Had Few
Affairs With Men.

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—Miss Theora Hix, slain Ohio State University co-ed, followed her usual secretive habits when she silently slipped away to keep what proved to be a date with death, her friends revealed today.

And this peculiar psychological make-up of the murdered girl left detectives with no clues to pierce the veil of mystery which shrouds her activities on that fatal night. Theora was a strange girl. She was pretty, intelligently cultured, but by her own choice, she had few friends.

Even those few girls who considered themselves her closest friends, were hardly more than acquaintances.

Theora did not talk about herself, her friends said. She made her plans quietly and carried them out without revealing what they were to be.

She was reserved. And sometimes moody. Yet she had chosen medicine as her career and was making rapid strides towards that goal.

Her social life seems to have been limited to her two roommates and a few other girls. She did not mix with the campus crowd. She did not belong to any social sorority or take any major part in campus activities.

"She was just not that kind," her friends said yet they believed she was usually happy and contented with her college life.

Her relationship with men at the university seems to have been very casual. And this was one side of her life that she kept locked within herself.

"She never talked about her personal affairs," her friends said. They knew she had dates occasionally. They knew that some time ago she spent many evenings with the same man, an older man who is a university employee. They knew that this "affair" had been broken up. They didn't know why or how.

Theora didn't talk about such things. Her friends knew that recently she had started going around with another man. They had seen her

(Continued on Page Eight)

GAMBLING ON RACES WILL STOP ASSERTS GOVERNOR COOPER

Report Executive Is Determined To End
Track Betting

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—Gambling on dog and horse races in Ohio must and will be stopped.

That's become the present slogan of Governor Cooper and his administration, confronted with the refusal of local officials in Madison and Geauga Counties to enforce the gambling laws.

Following a series of conferences Friday, it was announced today by an administration spokesman that the governor is determined to carry his fight to a successful finish and is confident that he will be able to stop the violation of the law.

Definite decision has not been reached as to the next step to be taken by the governor. It is possible, however, that he may endeavor to have citizens of Madison County start proceedings in their local courts by petition to have Prosecutors Dean Richmond removed from office on the ground that he has failed to stop gambling at the West Jefferson dog races.

The same plan is said to be under consideration with relation to officials of Geauga County, who have refused to interfere with betting at Bainbridge race track.

Final decision as to the course of action to be followed may be reached early next week. The governor is in Cincinnati to spend Saturday and Sunday, but will be back in his office Monday morning.

MAYBE HE TALKS THROUGH HIS HAT

MARTINS FERRY, O., June 15.—The "farthest north" in prohibition enforcement was hailed here today, when Dry Agent O. P. Davis caught whiskey thrown from a second story window in his hat, and placed charges against the offender.

Waiting in a lane near the home of George Barso for another suspect, Davis saw a woman empty several bottles onto the porch roof. He slipped through the bushes surrounding the house and secured a halfal as it dropped from the eaves.

BAD CHECK MAY LEAD TO ROBBERY CHARGE

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—A charge of robbery, in addition to bigamy and issuing a bad check may be placed against Alfred S. Dyhre, 39, New York. He was partially identified by Miss Georgia Miller as the man who stole $32.20 from the Western and Southern Life Insurance Co. April 2.

When Dyhre was arrested here on charges of trying to pass a "rubber" check, it was disclosed that he had been married three times, and two of the wives were living. They met each other in the office of a local detective agency.

FATHER GETS WHAT'S COMING TO HIM SUNDAY

SUNDAY is "Father's Day," which comes between "Be Kind to Dumb Animals Week" and "National Insect Killing Week."

Prince of Wales Rumored "Tied Up"

Though not the first of his reported betrothals, an announcement of the engagement of the much sought-after Prince of Wales, left, to the comely Princess Ingrid, right, daughter of the Crown Prince of Sweden, is expected shortly, according to rumor afloat. If true, many royal tears will be shed by many ambitious mamas and eligible daughters, as the most desirable bachelor slips through their royal fingers.

TWO YOUTHS EFFECT CAPTURE OF FIVE KIDNAPING BANDITS

LEWISTON, Ida., June 15.—Ward Alexander, 14, and Sam Bryant, 16, were the heroes of their chums here today after their capture of the five "bad men" who kidnapped Lieut. Gov. W. B. Kinne and two men who came to his aid Wednesday.

White bloodhounds, airplanes and hundreds of possemen searched in parts of three states, guarded highway junctions and bridges in an effort to apprehend the bandit gang. The lads stole upon three of the desperadoes sleeping in the bushes on the banks of the Potlatch Creek, near Julietta, yesterday.

The boys sneaked silently away. Then, when they were far enough so they were sure their footsteps would not be heard, they strained legs and lungs in a dash to notify officers of their discovery.

The heavily armed men were awakened and arrested without resistance. The other two were captured close by.

"Seattle George" Normad, 47, leader of the gang, was known as a desperate character by police in the northwest. He was the only one not identified by Lieut. Gov. Kinne when he faced his alleged abductors in the jail here.

The four members of the gang who kidnapped Kinne and shot Paul Killey and beat W. L. Tribbey when they came to his aid all are between nineteen and twenty-two years old. They identified themselves as Franklin Lang, Redmond, Wis.; Geo. Livingston, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Engos Foylund, Fargo, N. D.; Tex Reynolds, Matine, Fall, Wash., and "Seattle George" Normad.

They confessed they had planned a bank robbery at Pierce and had left "Seattle George" to lay the groundwork for the crime while they went out and stole a car. Kinne who drove by, was kidnapped and his automobile taken and wrecked and Killey's then was captured.

Kinne and his two defenders escaped after being gagged and tied to trees in the woods and spread the alarm.

"I think I'm sittin' pretty."

While the aviators were tuning up the monoplane Yellow Bird this morning, Schreiber spent his time kissing black-eyed Senoritas, writing his autobiography and eating breakfast. His only criticism of the Spaniards was that they spoke Spanish.

"Why don't they speak English? I haven't understood a word since I landed here. They'd be much more interesting if they spoke English."

"I suppose I'll have to go to jail when I get to France, because I have no passport. But after the ride through the storm I think I can stand jail, even a French one."

"All I hope is that they don't ship me back home before I've seen Paris. Assolant promised to show me things I never saw before. Lotti says I can live at his hotel. LeFevre says he thinks he can get me a temporary passport. "So I guess I'm sittin' pretty."

KING ACCEPTS DAWES PAPERS

WINDSOR, England, June 15.—Charles G. Dawes, former vice president of the United States, officially became ambassador to Great Britain today when his credentials were accepted by King George in audience at Windsor Castle.

Dawes, accompanied by Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, Mrs. Dawes, Ray Atherton, counselor of the American embassy, and J. B. Monck, of the British foreign office, came here by train to present his credentials.

SENTENCE MINISTER TO ELECTRIC CHAIR

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 15.—Rev. Maston Rhodes was sentenced to death in the electric chair last night by Judge David G. Jenkins for the murder of Otto Campbell, a member of his congregation.

Eight men and four women returned a guilty verdict on the first degree murder charge. They did not recommend mercy.

After quarreling with Campbell, the pastor killed him on the evening of March 15.

He shot him down like a dog in the street," was the expression of Assistant Prosecutor Vern Thom-

O. S. U. PROFESSOR ARRESTED IN PROBE OF BRUTAL KILLING

Medical Student Is Beaten To Death At Columbus

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—Dr. James H. Snook, professor of veterinary medicine at Ohio State University, was arrested here today for questioning in the brutal slaying of Miss Theora Hix, attractive medical student at the university.

Dr. Snook was arrested at his home here. Accompanied by a detective he drove his own blue coupe, which had been the object of a police search shortly after Miss Hix's body was found on a rifle range five miles northwest of here yesterday, to the police station.

One of his hands was bandaged. He explained he was fixing his machine and the wrench slipped, causing the injury.

Dr. Snook, according to police, was a member of the Olympic pistol team to Antwerp in 1920 and is a member of the Columbus Revolver Club.

Dr. Snook said he had known Miss Hix for the past several years and admitted financing part of her education at the university. He said he last saw her on Wednesday night near the university campus.

Friends of the attractive co-ed told the United Press that Miss Hix was seen Thursday night in the company of a man in a blue automobile. The girl's companion, said, appeared to be about 40 years old and wore glasses.

When she left the University Hospital, where she was to have been employed this summer, Miss Hix told Miss Bertha Dillon, telephone operator at the hospital, that she was "leaving for a date."

That was Thursday night about 8 o'clock.

Yesterday afternoon Milton Miller, 16, and Paul Krumlauf, 15, went to a rifle range to practice marksmanship. There they stumbled upon the body of Miss Hix. It was badly mutilated—the head was crushed, the throat and one ear gashed and the abdomen was severely cut.

A post-mortem of the body, police and medical authorities agreed the murder probably was the work of a maniac. Identification of the body was made by Mrs. Alice Moran, secretary of Neil Hall, a women's dormitory at the University, and by Alice and Beatrice Bustin, sisters who had an apartment with Miss Hix.

Fresh automobile tracks leading to the rifle range caused police to proceed upon the theory that the girl was murdered elsewhere and taken to the range in a car.

Friends of Miss Hix were surprised when they learned she had been seen in the company of a man. The Bustin girls, who had known her for several years, said Miss Hix apparently had little interest in men and had few dates. She was accustomed to take strolls in the evening, they said, and was fond of playing tennis and golf. She usually played tennis on the municipal courts near the rifle range, they declared.

Miss Hix's parents live in Brandenton, Fla., her father, William

(Continued on Page Eight)

CRUSHED PROBABLY FATALLY BY POLE

CINCINNATI, O., June 15.—Little hope was held today for the recovery of James Schradt, 40, Columbus, brother-in-law and advance agent for Jack Reynolds, welterweight wrestling champion, injured last night when a large pole fell and broke his spine at Redland Field.

Schradt was directing installation of the pole, a support for an arc light above the ring in which Reynolds and Matty Matsuda, Japanese wrestler, were slated for a championship contest.

Asa Peris, 17, newsboy, assisting Schradt, suffered concussion of the brain.

YOUTH CONVICTED ON CHARGE OF MURDER

LOGAN, O., June 15.—Albert Burdett, 23-year-old Lawrence County, Ky., youth faced a life sentence in the Ohio penitentiary today following his conviction of second degree murder by a jury here late yesterday in the killing of Earl Behrens of Lancaster.

Common Pleas Judge Harley M. Whitcraft announced sentence would be withheld until attorneys filed a motion for a new trial.

Behrens was shot to death when he and another man went into a wooded section near Brimstone Creek in search of a liquor cache.

DIES IN CHAIR

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., June 15.—Theodore D. Carr, 50, went calmly to his death on the gallows at the state penitentiary here last night for the murder of his brother-in-law, Lock Sharp. The condemned man made no statement.

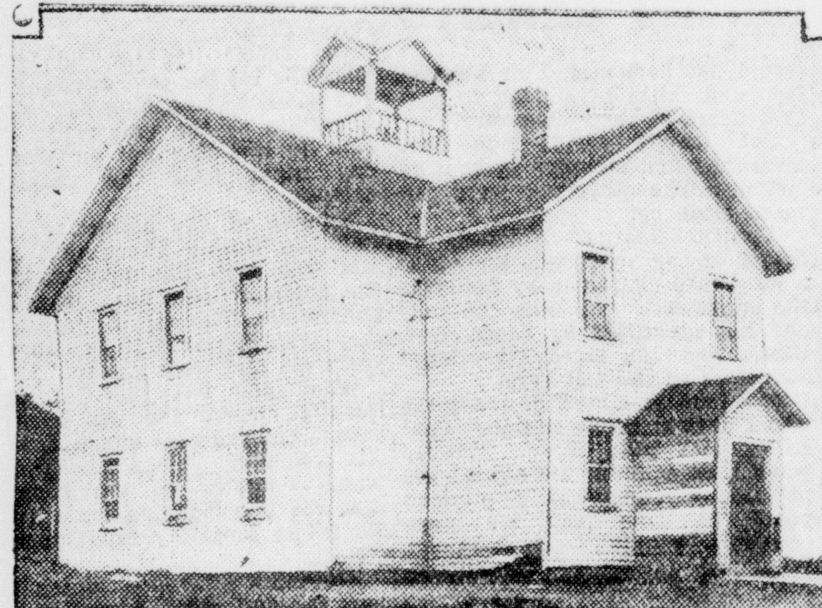

TELLING the WORLD'S NEWS with PICTURES

Could Have Been Much Worse

Luckily no one was badly hurt when a Waco plane crashed right into the roof of the summer home of Gov. Morgan J. Larson, of New Jersey, at Seagirt, quite uninjured. The plane, driven by the president of the Red Bank Flying Club, peeped into the governor's bedroom, but didn't enter. "Forget it, as long as no one's hurt," said Governor Larson.

School Youths Answer Liquor Charge

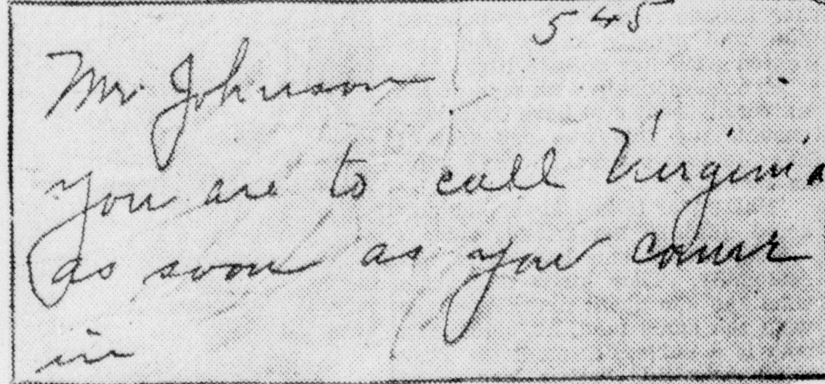

A dozen boys, ranging from 13 to 16 years in age, have been summoned to tell the judge what they know about making home brew in the woods near the school (above), which they attend at Towanda, Pa. The boys claim they learned the principles of the method from their chemistry classes. Their crude stills and paraphernalia are shown below after the angry parents finished breaking them up.

FOOTBALL STAR IN EXTORTION PLOT

Charged with one of the most amazing extortion plots on record, in which the names of Calvin Coolidge, Leo V. Youngworth, Shrine potentate; Col. William Donovan, and others were used, Rush V. Meadows, former nationally-known football star, is under arrest in Los Angeles. It is charged that he got $35,000 from Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Osborne, of Glendale, Cal., on the pretext that he could obtain a pardon for their son, now serving a prison term. Rush asserted, according to charges, that through his "drag" with high officials he could obtain the pardon. Becoming suspicious, Osborne complained to the Los Angeles district attorney and Meadows was arrested. The Osbornes are above, and, insert, Meadows.

Beaten and Hanged in Apartment

Frank Patty, right, returned to Los Angeles, Cal., from a business trip to find his wife, Virginia, left, beaten to death with a brick and her body suspended from the clothes hooks in the closet of an apartment registered in the name of Johnson. The note shown below was written by the telephone operator of the house where the murder occurred.

Strike Grievances Reach Senate

Binnie Green, 14 (left) and Henry Tetherow, 17, undernourished mill hands, carried their grievances into the Senate, telling tales of 60 hours per week in the textile mills at Gastonia, N. C., for which Henry earned a princely salary of $7 a week and Binnie about $4.95. As a result the Senate is conducting an inquiry into the conditions complained of.

Ambassador's a Father-in-Law Now

Since Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow was photographed as he left the train at the Newark, N. J., station on his arrival from Mexico a few days ago, he has annexed a son-in-law in the person of Charles A. Lindbergh, who married Miss Anne Morrow. It all took place very stealthily soon after the ambassador's arrival here, at the Morrow Englewood home and the ceremony was performed by Dr. William Brown, an old friend of the Morrow family.

Father and Daughter Work Together

David Lloyd George, famous Liberal leader, with his charming daughter, Megan, and his wife, who allowed themselves to be photographed at their home in Crecech, Eng., during a lull in the campaign just before the general elections in England, as a result of which Miss Lloyd George was elected to a seat in the House of Commons and her father will wield the balance of power in Parliament.

PASTOR RULES ANTHEM WARLIKE

Objecting to singing of The Star Spangled Banner at Memorial Day services on Sunday, May 26, in St. Paul Episcopal church, right, Huntington, Conn., the Rev. George Hilton, left, rector, declares the anthem "is too warlike for peacetime America."

Novel Basis for Domestic Suit

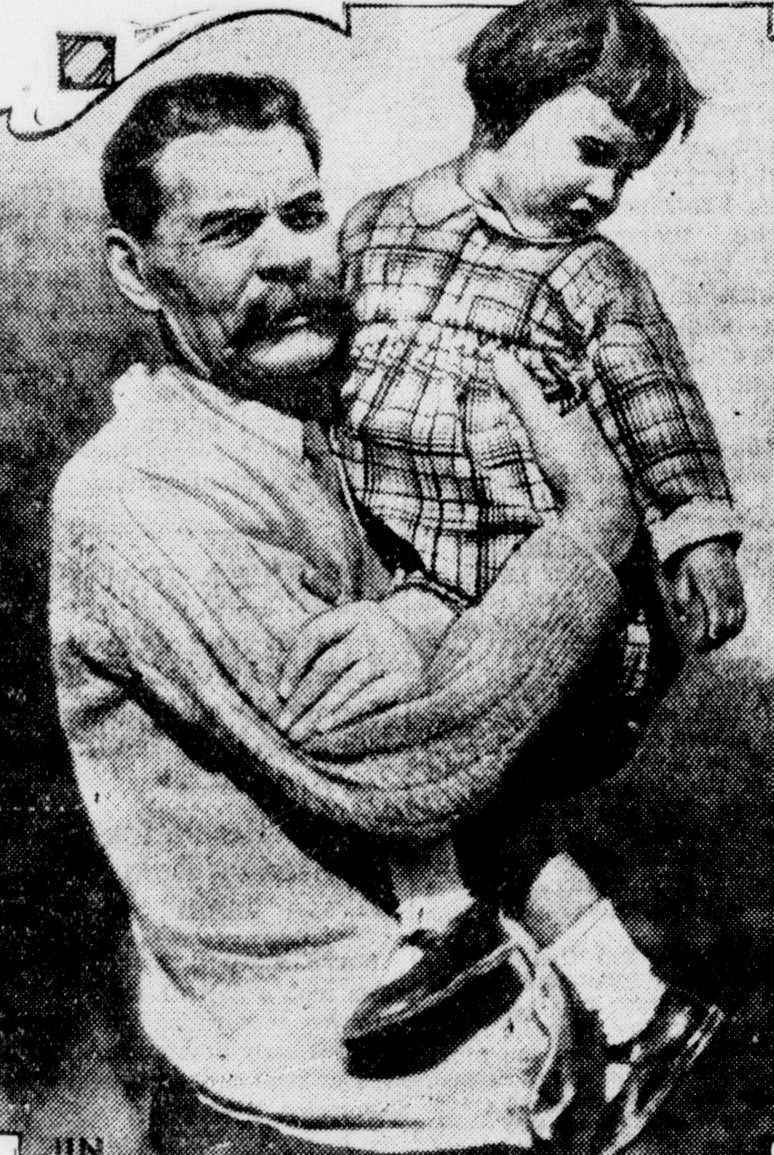

Violation of a unique agreement whereby Mrs. Bainbridge Colby, right, estranged wife of the Secretary of State under President Wilson, promised never to ridicule her husband, is the cause for a suit by Mr. Colby, left, to break the agreement. By its terms Mrs. Colby was to get $1,500 a month as long as she did not poke fun at her internationally-known hubby, who says that her novel, "The Green Forest," violates the agreement. His application for divorce following the publication of the book, was denied in a Paris court.

POLAND ACCLAIMS HER BEAUTY

This dark-eyed beauty, Jenina Smolinska, is acknowledged to be the most comely maiden in Poland since she won a nationwide pulchritude contest.

Communists Welcome Gorky Back

Maxim Gorky, Russian author, arrived in Moscow with his niece, above, recently, to remain for several months and was given a membership card and a badge in the Communist party from the All-Union Central Executive Committee, by a government representative who met him on his arrival at Moscow.

Movie Fashions

Bows make the trimming of this imported frock of gold shot taffeta and lame. The bodice has a snug, hemline plain bodice with a V shaped neckline. The skirt is full and short. Gold pumps complete the costume worn by Raquel Torres.

County Judge John W. Butcher, top, before whom Cecil Mahan, of Paintsville, aged 6, was tried and sentenced to 13 years in the reformatory for killing his playmate, finds his decision being reversed by Judge J. F. Dailey of the circuit court, who is reviewing the case and holds that the boy could not be sentenced because of his age.

TELLING the WORLD'S NEWS with PICTURES

Could Have Been Much Worse

Luckily no one was badly hurt when a Waco plane crashed right into the roof of the summer home of Gov. Morgan J. Larson, of New Jersey, at Seagirt, quite uninjured. The plane, driven by the president of the Red Bank Flying Club, peeped into the governor's bedroom, but didn't enter. "Forget it, as long as no one's hurt," said Governor Larson.

School Youths Answer Liquor Charge

A dozen boys, ranging from 13 to 16 years in age, have been summoned to tell the judge what they know about making home brew in the woods near the school (above), which they attend at Towanda, Pa. The boys claim they learned the principles of the method from their chemistry classes. Their crude stills and paraphernalia are shown below after the angry parents finished breaking them up.

FOOTBALL STAR IN EXTORTION PLOT

Charged with one of the most amazing extortion plots on record, in which the names of Calvin Coolidge, Leo V. Youngworth, Shrine potentate; Col. William Donovan, and others were used, Rush V. Meadows, former nationally-known football star, is under arrest in Los Angeles. It is charged that he got $35,000 from Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Osborne, of Glendale, Cal., on the pretext that he could obtain a pardon for their son, now serving a prison term. Rush asserted, according to charges, that through his "drag" with high officials he could obtain the pardon. Becoming suspicious, Osborne complained to the Los Angeles district attorney and Meadows was arrested. The Osbornes are above, and, insert, Meadows.

Beaten and Hanged in Apartment

Mr. Johnson
you are to call Virginia as soon as you come in

Frank Patty, right, returned to Los Angeles, Cal., from a business trip to find his wife, Virginia, left, beaten to death with a brick and her body suspended from the clothes hooks in the closet of an apartment registered in the name of Johnson. The note shown below was written by the telephone operator of the house where the murder occurred.

Strike Grievances Reach Senate

Binnie Green, 14 (left) and Henry Tetherow, 17, undernourished mill hands, carried their grievances into the Senate, telling tales of 60 hours per week in the textile mills at Gastonia, N. C., for which Henry earned a princely salary of $7 a week and Binnie about $4.95. As a result the Senate is conducting an inquiry into the conditions complained of.

Ambassador's a Father-in-Law Now

Since Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow was photographed as he left the train at the Newark, N. J., station on his arrival from Mexico a few days ago, he has annexed a son-in-law in the person of Charles A. Lindbergh, who married Miss Anne Morrow. It all took place very stealthily soon after the ambassador's arrival here, at the Morrow Englewood home and the ceremony was performed by Dr. William Brown, an old friend of the Morrow family.

Father and Daughter Work Together

David Lloyd George, famous Liberal leader, with his charming daughter, Megan, and his wife, who allowed themselves to be photographed at their home in Creccech, Eng., during a lull in the campaign just before the general elections in England, as a result of which Miss Lloyd George was elected to a seat in the House of Commons and her father will wield the balance of power in Parliament.

PASTOR RULES ANTHEM WARLIKE

Objecting to singing of The Star Spangled Banner at Memorial Day services on Sunday, May 26, in St. Paul Episcopal church, right, Huntington, Conn., the Rev. George Hilton, left, rector, declares the anthem "is too warlike for peacetime America."

Novel Basis for Domestic Suit

Violation of a unique agreement whereby Mrs. Bainbridge Colby, right, estranged wife of the Secretary of State under President Wilson, promised never to ridicule her husband, is the cause for a suit by Mrs. Colby, left, to break the agreement. By its terms Mrs. Colby was to get $1,500 a month as long as she did not poke fun at her internationally-known hubby, who says that her novel, "The Green Forest," violates the agreement. His application for divorce following the publication of the book, was denied in a Paris court.

POLAND ACCLAIMS HER BEAUTY

This dark-eyed beauty, Jenina Smolinska, is acknowledged to be the most comely maiden in Poland since she won a nation-wide pulchritude contest.

Communists Welcome Gorky Back

Maxim Gorky, Russian author, arrived in Moscow with his niece, above, recently, to remain for several months and was given a membership card and a badge in the Communist party from the All-Union Central Executive Committee, by a government representative who met him on his arrival at Moscow.

Movie Fashions They Do Not Agree

Bows make the trimming of this imported frock of gold shot taffeta and lame. The bodice has a snug, hemline plain bodice with a V shaped neckline. The skirt is full and short. Gold pumps complete the costume worn by Raquel Torres.

County Judge John W. Butcher, top, before whom Cecil Mahan, of Paintsville, aged 6, was tried and sentenced to 13 years in the reformatory for killing his playmate, finds his decision being reversed by Judge J. F. Dailey of the circuit court, who is reviewing the case and holds that the boy could not be sentenced because of his age.

School Classes Plan To Hold Reunions

NECESSITY of purchasing tickets early for the annual Central High Alumni Association reception and dinner-dance at the high school next Tuesday evening is being impressed upon alumni by officers of the association.

The ticket sale now progressing will indicate to the officers, now many people to expect for the dinner to be served in the school cafeteria. Tickets are being sold for one dollar each, which includes all expenses, and may be purchased from any of the officers or at Geyers, the Hy-Art Shop, the Citizens National Bank or at the office of Miss Helen Dadds, county treasurer.

Members of the class of 1929 will be guests of the alumni at the party, which will convert the school house, with its familiar scenes of dull study hours, into a place of gaiety. Guests will dine in the cafeteria, enjoy a one-act play, "The Cast Rehearses," to be given under the direction of Miss Helen Hurley, and then play cards or dance to music furnished by "Jew" Harrington and his Campus Revelers from Wilberforce University in the school gymnasium. From a complete roster of all graduates, volunteers are calling their classmates and urging their attendance, and many special class reunions are expected to feature the evening.

STEPHENS-DRAKE NUPTIALS THURSDAY

Miss Thelma Stephens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Stephens, near Wilmington, and niece of Mrs. H. A. Higgins, this city, and Mr. C. C. Drake, only son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Drake, Lebanon, were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents near Wilmington, at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Elizabeth Reardon and Miss Lorna Stephens, sister of the bride, sang several nuptial songs. At the appointed time for the ceremony Mrs. C. H. Williams played the Lohengrin wedding march. Mrs. Clark Lackey, Mt. Airy, N. C., sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a gown of peach georgette and carried pink roses. She was followed by Master Corwin Talbert, ring bearer, nephew of the bridegroom. The bride chose as her wedding dress a gown of white satin with white shoes to match and a bridal veil of real lace. She carried an arm shower of white roses.

Miss Stephens was met at the altar which was banked with palms, fern and roses, by the bridegroom, his best man, Mr. D. J. Hatfield, and the Rev. H. J. Wright, of Wilmington, who read the impressive ring ceremony.

Immediately following the ceremony a lovely luncheon was served after which Mr. and Mrs. Drake left for a short trip through the East. They will be at home to their friends near West Alexandria, after July 1.

Mrs. Drake is a graduate of Wilmington College and a member of the Alpha Phi Kappa Sorority. She has been a teacher in Reesville school for the past year.

Mrs. Drake is a graduate of Ohio State University and a member of Delta Theta Sigma Fraternity. He has been a Smith Hughes teacher for the past three years.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Higgins and Mr. Edward Higgins, Xenia, were among out of town guests present.

MRS. TONKINSON HOSTESS TO A. C. TURRELL UNION.

Mrs. A. M. Tonkinson, Springfield, Pike, was a delightful hostess Friday afternoon when she entertained about sixty members of the A. C. Turrell W. C. T. U.

The meeting was opened with devotions by Mrs. Ada Bailey. Roll call was answered by current events. During the business session the union responded to the call for the memorial services which will be held in Indianapolis, Ind., next autumn, honoring Mrs. Frances E. Willard, who was elected national president of the W. C. T. U. fifty years ago. During the national convention held there this summer a large tablet will be erected in her honor.

Mrs. Henry Norkewer made an appeal to the women at this time for carpet rags to be sent to the National Military Home, Dayton for the veterans to make into uniforms. She also asked the women to make cookies and candy to be given to the soldiers. Two new members were taken into the organization.

Mrs. William H. Tiford sang several Negro spirituals after which Mrs. Jeanette Anderson gave a splendid talk on "The Observance of the Sabbath."

Mrs. R. C. Ledbetter gave several readings and Mrs. Charles Gowdy gave a talk on "Temperance in the Sunday School" which closed the program of the day.

The July meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank Bishop, N. King St.

Assisting Mrs. Tonkinson were: Mrs. A. L. Oglesbee, Mrs. Mose Sutton, Mrs. L. W. Clouse, Mrs. Maude White, Mrs. Grace Branden, Mrs. D. E. Huffman, Mrs. M. J. Bebb, Mrs. Henry Slagle, Mrs. Orville Bridgman, and Mrs. Robert Oglesbee.

PIANO PUPILS WILL GIVE RECITAL

Piano pupils of Miss Hattie Greening will be presented in a recital Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Louise Stunich, vocal student of Miss Zella Soward, will assist.

The program follows:
Duet—Waltz ..... Pfitzner
..... Betty Jane Smith
..... Mildred LeVeck
Rondino ..... Hemont
The Robins ..... Virgil
..... Mildred LeVeck
Old France Gallantry ..... Leth
Playing Jack Straws ..... Rolfe
Betty Jane Smith
Rangish Little Sunbeams ..... Ogle
Nocturn ..... Suter

Nina ..... Pergolesi
Major and Minor ..... Spross
..... Louise Stunich
To a Wild Rose
From an Indian Lodge, MacDowell
To a Water Lily
..... Charles Adair

Prelude Op. 28 No. 15 ..... Chopin
Scherzino ..... Paderewski
Sonata—C Minor ..... Beethoven
Grave-Allergo
Adagio-Cantabile
..... Dick Ross

There will be an "old fashioned" social and festival at the Paintersville M. P. Church, Wednesday. A splendid program is being arranged and music will be furnished by the New Burlington Band. The public is cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy King, Detroit, Mich., were the guests Thursday night of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. McDaniel, Upper Bellbrook Pike. Mr. and Mrs. King were enroute to Detroit, Mich., where they will visit Mr. King's sister. They were accompanied to Xenia by Charles Faulkner who will spend the summer with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. McDaniel.

Mrs. Dennis Padgett entertained the Ladies Aid Society of the Eleazar Church at her home south of Xenia, Thursday afternoon. About fifteen women attended the meeting. After a business session a social hour was enjoyed when the hostess served a two-course luncheon. Roses and other summer flowers were used in the decorations of the Padgett home.

Mrs. Walter Clevelee, Home Ave., will leave Monday for Detroit, Mich., where she will spend two weeks with her husband who is employed there.

Miss Alba Junk, Chillicothe and Miss Marian Lane, Marblehead, will arrive here Sunday to spend a week with Mrs. A. B. Kester, N. King St.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Glass this city, received word Thursday of the serious illness of their son, Mr. Clarence Glass, former Xenian, who underwent an operation for the removal of his appendix at the Marion City Hospital, Marion, Ohio, last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hult, E. Second St., are spending the weekend in Delaware, attending the commencement exercises at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Mrs. A. M. Randall, Springfield, Pike, will entertain the Ladies Aid of Old Town M. E. Church, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. She will be assisted by Miss Mabel Harner, Mrs. Sarah Harner and Mrs. Ethel Harner.

Mr. Fred Wooley, who was struck by an automobile three weeks ago, was removed from Espey Hospital Saturday morning to his home.

Mr. M. Earle Collins, who has been teaching in Assuit College, Assuit, Egypt, for the past four years, arrived in Cedarville Tuesday to spend some time with relatives and friends.

Mrs. R. C. Jessup, Mrs. Charles E. Brackney and Mrs. Thurman Oglesbee and daughters, Phyllis and Elaine all of Dayton, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Hartsock, Wilmington Pike, Thursday.

Mrs. Sallie Eyler, Leaman St., left Saturday morning for Omaha, Neb., where she will join Mrs. John A. Eyler and from there they will go to Boulder, Col., where they will visit relatives. She expects to be gone all summer.

Mrs. Harry E. Noble, S. Monroe St., has returned home after spending six weeks in Hagerstown and Baltimore, Md., and in Virginia. Mrs. Noble was critically ill while in Fairmont, W. Va., but has now recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Denham, Spring St., and Miss Ruth Smith, W. Market St., attended the inspection of Troy Chapter No. 256, O. E. S., at Troy, Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tiffany, Peoria, Ill., are spending the week end here with their parents and friends. They have as their guests, Miss Dorothy Myers and Mr. George Larson.

Mr. William Hitchcock, S. Galloway St., son of Mr. H. R. Hitchcock and student at Bradley Polytechnic Institute, Peoria, Ill., has been elected president of the Psi Delta Omega Fraternity for the coming year.

Miss Lucile Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hoffman, Jamestown and nurse at the University Hospital at Athens, underwent an operation for the removal of her appendix last Wednesday morning at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus. She is reported to be doing nicely.

Miss Doris Whittington and Mrs. Jane Bell will spend the week end at Summerland Beach, Buckeye Lake.

Attorney M. A. Broadstone, who received a broken collar bone when hit by an automobile some time ago, is showing considerable improvement at Espey Hospital, where he is still a patient.

Mrs. Cecil Phillips Hill St., was removed to Espey Hospital Saturday morning for treatment. Her condition is critical.

ENGAGEMENT AND COMING MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Of interest to relatives and friends here is the announcement of the engagement and coming marriage of Mr. Martin Stearns, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Stearns, Washington St., to Miss Della Child, of Rochester, N. Y. The date for the wedding has been set for September 3 at the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church in Rochester.

Miss Child is a graduate of Rochester High School and is an accomplished flute soloist. She is in the beauty-parlor business in Rochester. She made many friends in Xenia two years ago at which time she was a visitor at the Stearns' home.

Mr. Stearns is a graduate of Xenia Central High School and of the Mechanic Institute, Rochester, N. Y., of Rochester. He has been connected with the Stromberg-Carlson Co., at Rochester, for the past six years.

Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Kuhn, N. King St., will leave Monday for a motor trip through Virginia to Washington, D. C. They will be gone for about ten days. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Syferd of Leesburg will occupy their residence during their absence.

Members of the congregation of the First Reformed Church will hold a reception at the church Monday evening for the new pastor, the Rev. W. W. Frost and family. The reception will be held from 8 to 10 o'clock and all members and their families are invited to attend.

The congregational picnic of Christ Episcopal Church which was to have been held Wednesday evening has been postponed because of the illness of the pastor, the Rev. Carl O. Nybladh. The picnic will be held at a date to be announced later.

Mr. A. G. Collins who has been ill for some time shows little improvement.

REPORT OF LIBRARY CONVENTION GIVEN BEFORE BOARD HERE

Mrs. P. H. Flynn, president of the board of the Greene County District Library and Miss Mildred W. Sandoe, librarian, gave reports of the recent American Library Association meetings in Washington, D. C., at the meeting of the board here Thursday.

More than 2,500 librarians and library trustees were in Washington during the week of May 12 to 18 and attended the conferences to learn the more recent trends in library affairs and the best ways of solving their local problems.

The conference laid stress on the need to meet the demand for books growing out of the adult education movement. Leaders pointed to the county library as the most likely and practical way of meeting the book demands of the present. They said the county library is still in its infancy but has already proved its worth.

One speaker called attention to the fact that there are more than 3,000 counties in the United States, but less than 300 county libraries. The slogan of the county section of the association is: "A county library in every county in the U. S."

ENGINE DERAILED AT DAYTON SWITCH

Splitting a switch at Third and Commercial Sts., in Dayton at 8:15 a. m. Saturday, the locomotive of Pennsylvania passenger train No. 202, running from Richmond, Ind., to Springfield, was derailed. None of the coaches left the rails and no one was injured. It was traveling slowly at the time of the mishap.

The train was taken by another engine to Springfield over the New York Central lines. Sam Snyder, Springfield, was engineer; Cliff Esterline, Xenia, was fireman, and George Kampman, also of Xenia, was conductor on the train.

After leaving the rails, the engine straddled the track, shunted 100 feet to a siding and bumped into a yard engine which was standing. A hole in the coal carler constituted the only damage to the switch engine.

DISTRICT TO VOTE ON SCHOOL MEASURE

Elector of the Yellow Springs village school district will ballot at a special election Tuesday, July 9 on the proposition to dissolve the Yellow Springs school district and join the contiguous Miami Township school district. Polls will be open from 5:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

GOOFY MOVIES

GOOFY MOVIES PRESENT
Hot Knights
PART TWO.

IT'S ROYAL HIGHNESS, HEINTZ THE 5TH IS VERY BUSY MAKING PLANS TO GET HIS DAUGHTER ABA DABA, MARRIED OFF.....

NOW, LET'S HURRY ON WITH THE STORY.....

LIBRARY NOTES

Although many business places are making it a practice to close one afternoon a week, the Greene County District Library has decided not to change its schedule.

Every day summer and winter the library will be open from 10 a. m. until 9 p. m. Those who have not already discovered that the library is the coolest place in town on a hot afternoon are invited to try it for themselves.

For the benefit of residents spending vacations out of town a special vacation privilege has been inaugurated to last from June 1 to October 1. Older books of fiction or non-fiction may in this way be borrowed by vacationists for a period of four weeks.

Delightful as it is to fish, golf or motor the time is sure to come when your one desire is to sit back, rest and let yourself become absorbed in a thoroughly interesting book. Unfortunately a good book is not always easy to find in the haunts frequented by vacation hunters. The only safe thing to do is to pack up a half dozen or so to take along in the car at the same time you begin packing the rods, golf clubs and slippers. This four week privilege will allow most people ample time but if you are to be gone more than four weeks do not despair. Books can be renewed. The library will even mail books to you if you desire. The library wishes to be of service in making the vacation trips of its readers more enjoyable. Won't you give it the opportunity?

BACCALAUREAT E SERMON WILL OPEN WILBERFORCE EXERCISES

Bishop George C. Clements, of Louisville, Ky., of the Zion A. M. E. Church, South, will open the exercises of the sixty-sixth annual commencement week of Wilberforce University by delivering the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class, Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Jones Auditorium of Shorter Hall.

President Gilbert H. Jones, accompanied by the visiting bishops of the A. M. E. Church and other distinguished visitors, teachers and members of the graduating class will form the processional line at Galloway Hall and march to Jones Auditorium to attend the baccalaureate sermon. Music will be furnished by the University Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Prof. C. W. Salsbury, with Miss Grace Edwards and Mrs. Anna Terry presiding at the pipe organ and piano.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the first annual vesper hour, the Religions and Greek Lettered Societies will listen to an address delivered by the Rev. E. W. B. Curry, Springfield. At 8 o'clock in the evening the annual sermon is to be delivered to the graduating class of Payne Theological Seminary by Bishop A. L. Gaines, Baltimore, Md.

The program for the week is as follows:
MONDAY, JUNE 17
Annual Address to Literary Societies by Rev. T. J. Askew, D. D., Pittsburgh, Pa.—8:00 p. m.
Music by Quartette
TUESDAY, JUNE 18
Closing Chapel Exercises, Conducted by the Graduating Classes—10:00 a. m.
Annual Meeting University Trustees Board, Bishop W. H. Heard, presiding—10:00 a. m.
Annual Prize Speaking Contest, Jones Auditorium—8:00 p. m.
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19
Annual Senior Federation Class Day Exercises, Jones Auditorium—10:00 a. m.
Annual Physical Education Demonstration, Athletic Field—3:00 p. m.
THURSDAY, JUNE 20
Home Economics Demonstration, Home Economics Building—6:30 p. m.
Annual Alumni Business Meeting—6:30 p. m.
Annual Alumni Address, Rt. Rev. Edward T. Demby, D. D., Bishop of Arkansas and Oklahoma (Protestant Episcopal Church) Little Rock, Ark.—8:00 p. m.
FRIDAY, JUNE 21
Annual Commencement Exercises, Jones Auditorium—10:00 a. m.
Commencement Address by the Rev. Reese Tulloss, Ph.D., D. D., L.L.D., President of Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio.
Third Annual Commencement Concert, Jones Auditorium—3:00 p. m.

Indications are that this will be one of the largest attended commencements in recent years. A large number of parents have already arrived on the campus from different sections of the country to witness the graduation of their children. A delegation arrived Friday, in automobiles from Texas, Oklahoma and as far west as California to spend the week at the commencement.

The annual exhibit of student work in the department of art, commerce, home economics, vocations, high school, University and applied science will be held in their respective buildings during the week of the commencement exercises.

There will be no contest, at least at the forthcoming primary election August 13, for the judgeship of Xenia's new municipal court which will start to function in 1930.

When the deadline date for filing declarations of candidacy for judge of the court expired at midnight Friday it was found that only one candidate had filed. He is Attorney James Kyle. Consequently there will be no primary race.

Other candidates for the position will enter the judgeship race at the November election by circulating petitions. They will then run on a non-partisan ticket whereas at the primary it would be necessary to declare their party affiliations.

According to R. E. Dunkel, clerk of the election board, it is not at all certain there will even be a primary.

Candidates for the three vacancies that will exist on the City Commission may start to circulate their petitions on June 24 but not before that date. The final day for filing declarations in the commission race expires July 13.

Terms of Commissioners S. M. McKay, Mayor Karl R. Babb and David Cherry expire this year.

LIBRARY NOTES

Although many business places are making it a practice to close one afternoon a week, the Greene County District Library has decided not to change its schedule.

Every day summer and winter the library will be open from 10 a. m. until 9 p. m. Those who have not already discovered that the library is the coolest place in town on a hot afternoon are invited to try it for themselves.

For the benefit of residents spending vacations out of town a special vacation privilege has been inaugurated to last from June 1 to October 1. Older books of fiction or non-fiction may in this way be borrowed by vacationists for a period of four weeks.

Delightful as it is to fish, golf or motor the time is sure to come when your one desire is to sit back, rest and let yourself become absorbed in a thoroughly interesting book. Unfortunately a good book is not always easy to find in the haunts frequented by vacation hunters. The only safe thing to do is to pack up a half dozen or so to take along in the car at the same time you begin packing the rods, golf clubs and slippers. This four week privilege will allow most people ample time but if you are to be gone more than four weeks do not despair. Books can be renewed. The library will even mail books to you if you desire. The library wishes to be of service in making the vacation trips of its readers more enjoyable. Won't you give it the opportunity?

BACCALAUREAT E SERMON WILL OPEN WILBERFORCE EXERCISES

Bishop George C. Clements, of Louisville, Ky., of the Zion A. M. E. Church, South, will open the exercises of the sixty-sixth annual commencement week of Wilberforce University by delivering the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class, Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Jones Auditorium of Shorter Hall.

President Gilbert H. Jones, accompanied by the visiting bishops of the A. M. E. Church and other distinguished visitors, teachers and members of the graduating class will form the processional line at Galloway Hall and march to Jones Auditorium to attend the baccalaureate sermon. Music will be furnished by the University Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Prof. C. W. Salsbury, with Miss Grace Edwards and Mrs. Anna Terry presiding at the pipe organ and piano.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the first annual vesper hour, the Religions and Greek Lettered Societies will listen to an address delivered by the Rev. E. W. B. Curry, Springfield. At 8 o'clock in the evening the annual sermon is to be delivered to the graduating class of Payne Theological Seminary by Bishop A. L. Gaines, Baltimore, Md.

The program for the week is as follows:
MONDAY, JUNE 17
Annual Address to Literary Societies by Rev. T. J. Askew, D. D., Pittsburgh, Pa.—8:00 p. m.
Music by Quartette
TUESDAY, JUNE 18
Closing Chapel Exercises, Conducted by the Graduating Classes—10:00 a. m.
Annual Meeting University Trustees Board, Bishop W. H. Heard, presiding—10:00 a. m.
Annual Prize Speaking Contest, Jones Auditorium—8:00 p. m.
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19
Annual Senior Federation Class Day Exercises, Jones Auditorium—10:00 a. m.
Annual Physical Education Demonstration, Athletic Field—3:00 p. m.
THURSDAY, JUNE 20
Home Economics Demonstration, Home Economics Building—6:30 p. m.
Annual Alumni Business Meeting—6:30 p. m.
Annual Alumni Address, Rt. Rev. Edward T. Demby, D. D., Bishop of Arkansas and Oklahoma (Protestant Episcopal Church) Little Rock, Ark.—8:00 p. m.
FRIDAY, JUNE 21
Annual Commencement Exercises, Jones Auditorium—10:00 a. m.
Commencement Address by the Rev. Reese Tulloss, Ph.D., D. D., L.L.D., President of Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio.
Third Annual Commencement Concert, Jones Auditorium—3:00 p. m.

Indications are that this will be one of the largest attended commencements in recent years. A large number of parents have already arrived on the campus from different sections of the country to witness the graduation of their children. A delegation arrived Friday, in automobiles from Texas, Oklahoma and as far west as California to spend the week at the commencement.

The annual exhibit of student work in the department of art, commerce, home economics, vocations, high school, University and applied science will be held in their respective buildings during the week of the commencement exercises.

There will be no contest, at least at the forthcoming primary election August 13, for the judgeship of Xenia's new municipal court which will start to function in 1930.

When the deadline date for filing declarations of candidacy for judge of the court expired at midnight Friday it was found that only one candidate had filed. He is Attorney James Kyle. Consequently there will be no primary race.

Other candidates for the position will enter the judgeship race at the November election by circulating petitions. They will then run on a non-partisan ticket whereas at the primary it would be necessary to declare their party affiliations.

According to R. E. Dunkel, clerk of the election board, it is not at all certain there will even be a primary.

Candidates for the three vacancies that will exist on the City Commission may start to circulate their petitions on June 24 but not before that date. The final day for filing declarations in the commission race expires July 13.

Terms of Commissioners S. M. McKay, Mayor Karl R. Babb and David Cherry expire this year.

Woman Sets Legislative Achievement Record

MRS. ALBION FELLOWS BACON (Mrs. Hilary Edwin Bacon) of Evansville, Ind., has a record for legislative achievement lasting over twenty years, of which few women can boast.

She won the first housing law in Indiana after a lively fight in which she prepared by state-wide investigation, study of the housing laws of this and other countries, and by lecturing. The first law was amended so as to apply only to the two largest cities in the state, so at the next session Mrs. Bacon went back, taking a bill which included all the cities of Indiana. This was lost by the narrow margin of one vote.

At the next session Mrs. Bacon won the tenement law for all the cities of the state which now prevails. Her next fight was for a bill condemning all unsanitary dwellings unfit for habitation in the state, but won in that session of the legislature, but won in the following and those two laws now control the state housing.

As chairman of the state commission on child welfare in 1921, Mrs. Bacon drafted and won a law creating the state probation department with a commission and state officer. She is a member of the city planning commission of which she has been for five years, and now is, president.

Her latest interest and efforts are toward placing psychologists in schools and juvenile courts with a view to cutting down the percentage of juvenile delinquency.

Mrs. Bacon's book, now out of print, "Beauty for Ashes," tells of her years of work among the poor, leading to her fight for housing reforms. It is being used in clubs and universities and run as a serial in states attempting to get housing laws. The National Housing association issued many of her pamphlets. She is also a successful writer of verse, prose, songs and pageants. Her sister, Mrs. Annie Fellows Johnston, is the author of the famous "Little Colonel" books.

Advise on Styles
Several young society women in Berlin, Germany, are operating as style advisers to women who wish to dress well.

It is quite an important duty of these style advisers to see that their clients do not buy a dress or coat already being worn in their set, and this often entails lengthy and difficult inquiries.

"The main thing," said one of these young women, "is originality. In fact, it is everything. I cannot divulge the names of some of my clients, since whenever one of the gowns, etc., worn by them is the subject of flattering comment, they wish to imply that it was their own resourcefulness by which it was secured."

The average charge for this service is five marks an hour, plus the taxi fares. Visits to restaurants, cafes and the like must also be paid for by the client.

One of these young style advisers, coming from one of the best known but impoverished families of Berlin, Germany, is now operating as a style adviser to women who wish to dress well.

SCARBOROUGH HOME SOLD TO C. N. AND I. DEPARTMENT BOARD

The residence of the late Dr. W. S. Scarborough, formerly president of Wilberforce University, located across from the campus of Arnett Hall, has been purchased by the Combined Normal and Industrial Department of the university at a reported price of $13,000.

The deal was completed Friday at the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the C. N. and I. Department, the purchase being made from the widow, Mrs. S. C. Scarborough, who has continued to occupy the property since the death of her husband. The house is a two-story frame structure and will be used either as a teachers' cottage or for the superintendent.

When Mrs. Scarborough vacates the property she will go to Cleveland to make her home with relatives. She was prominently identified with the affairs of Wilberforce University for many years, especially during the time her husband was its president, and is widely known as an educator. She is credited with instituting the normal department of the school.

Board members Friday also heard the annual report and recommendations of R. C. Bundy, superintendent of the C. N. and I. Department and considered the election of teachers. Members attending the session were: Dr. Joseph L. J. Jones, Columbus, president; Bishop J. H. Jones, Wilberforce, vice president; Dr. G. H. Jones, president of the Toledo; Rev. B. F. McWilliams, Toledo; Robert Barcus, Columbus attorney; the Rev. Russell S. Brown, Cleveland and Miss Jennie Porter, Cincinnati.

LIBRARY NOTES

Although many business places are making it a practice to close one afternoon a week, the Greene County District Library has decided not to change its schedule.

Every day summer and winter the library will be open from 10 a. m. until 9 p. m. Those who have not already discovered that the library is the coolest place in town on a hot afternoon are invited to try it for themselves.

For the benefit of residents spending vacations out of town a special vacation privilege has been inaugurated to last from June 1 to October 1. Older books of fiction or non-fiction may in this way be borrowed by vacationists for a period of four weeks.

Delightful as it is to fish, golf or motor the time is sure to come when your one desire is to sit back, rest and let yourself become absorbed in a thoroughly interesting book. Unfortunately a good book is not always easy to find in the haunts frequented by vacation hunters. The only safe thing to do is to pack up a half dozen or so to take along in the car at the same time you begin packing the rods, golf clubs and slippers. This four week privilege will allow most people ample time but if you are to be gone more than four weeks do not despair. Books can be renewed. The library will even mail books to you if you desire. The library wishes to be of service in making the vacation trips of its readers more enjoyable. Won't you give it the opportunity?

BACCALAUREAT E SERMON WILL OPEN WILBERFORCE EXERCISES

Bishop George C. Clements, of Louisville, Ky., of the Zion A. M. E. Church, South, will open the exercises of the sixty-sixth annual commencement week of Wilberforce University by delivering the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class, Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Jones Auditorium of Shorter Hall.

President Gilbert H. Jones, accompanied by the visiting bishops of the A. M. E. Church and other distinguished visitors, teachers and members of the graduating class will form the processional line at Galloway Hall and march to Jones Auditorium to attend the baccalaureate sermon. Music will be furnished by the University Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Prof. C. W. Salsbury, with Miss Grace Edwards and Mrs. Anna Terry presiding at the pipe organ and piano.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the first annual vesper hour, the Religions and Greek Lettered Societies will listen to an address delivered by the Rev. E. W. B. Curry, Springfield. At 8 o'clock in the evening the annual sermon is to be delivered to the graduating class of Payne Theological Seminary by Bishop A. L. Gaines, Baltimore, Md.

The program for the week is as follows:
MONDAY, JUNE 17
Annual Address to Literary Societies by Rev. T. J. Askew, D. D., Pittsburgh, Pa.—8:00 p. m.
Music by Quartette
TUESDAY, JUNE 18
Closing Chapel Exercises, Conducted by the Graduating Classes—10:00 a. m.
Annual Meeting University Trustees Board, Bishop W. H. Heard, presiding—10:00 a. m.
Annual Prize Speaking Contest, Jones Auditorium—8:00 p. m.
WEDNESDAY, JUNE

School Classes Plan To Hold Reunions

NECESSITY of purchasing tickets early for the annual Central High Alumni Association reception and dinner-dance at the high school next Tuesday evening is being impressed upon alumni by officers of the association.

The ticket sale now progressing will indicate to the officers, how many people to expect for the dinner to be served in the school cafeteria. Tickets are being sold for one dollar each, which includes all expenses, and may be purchased from any of the officers or at Geyers, the Hy-Art Shop, the Citizens National Bank or at the office of Miss Helen Dadds, county treasurer.

Members of the class of 1929 will be guests of the alumni at the party, which will convert the school house, with its familiar scenes of dull study hours, into a place of gaiety. Guests will dine in the cafeteria, enjoy a one-act play, "The Cast Rehearses," to be given under the direction of Miss Helen Hurley in the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium, and then play cards or dance to music furnished by "Jew" Harrington and his Campus Revelers from Wilberforce University in the school gymnasium. From a complete roster of all graduates, volunteers are calling their classmates and urging their attendance, and many special class reunions are expected to feature the evening.

STEPHENS-DRAKE NUPTIALS THURSDAY

Miss Thelma Stephens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Stephens, near Wilmington, and niece of Mrs. H. A. Higgins, this city, and Mr. C. H. Drake, only son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Drake, Lebanon, were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents near Wilmington, at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Elizabeth Reardon and Miss Loren Stephens, sister of the bride, sang several nuptial songs. At the appointed time for the ceremony Mrs. C. H. Williams played the Lutheran wedding march, Mrs. Clark Lackey, Mr. Alry, N. C. sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a gown of peach georgette and carried pink roses. She was followed by Master Corwin Talbert, ring bearer, nephew of the bridegroom. The bride chose as her wedding frock a gown of white satin with white shoes to match and a bridal veil of lace. She carried an arm shower of white roses.

Miss Stephens was met at the altar which was banked with palms, fern and roses, by the bridegroom, his best man, Mr. J. Hatfield, and the Rev. H. J. Wright, of Wilmington, who read the impressive ring ceremony.

Immediately following the ceremony a lovely luncheon was served at which Mr. and Mrs. Drake left for a short trip through the East. They will be at home to their friends near West Alexandria, after July 1.

Mrs. Drake is a graduate of Wilmington College and a member of the Alpha Phi Kappa Sorority. She has been a teacher in Reesville school for the past year.

Mr. Drake is a graduate of Ohio State University and a member of Delta Theta Sigma Fraternity. He has been a Smith Hughes teacher for the past three years.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Higgins and Mr. Edward Higgins, Xenia, were among out of town guests present.

MRS. TONKINSON HOSTESS TO A. C. TURRELL UNION.

Mrs. A. M. Tonkinson, Springfield Pike, was a delightful hostess Friday afternoon when she entertained about sixty members of the A. C. Turrell W. C. T. U.

The meeting was opened with devotions by Mrs. Ada Bailey. Roll call was answered by current events. During the business session the union responded to the call for the memorial services which will be held in Indianapolis, Ind. next autumn, honoring Mrs. Frances E. Willard, who was elected national president of the W. C. T. U. fifty years ago. During the national convention held there this summer a large tablet will be erected in her honor.

Mrs. Henry Norekauer made an appeal to the women at this time for carpet rags to be sent to the National Military Home, Dayton for the veterans to make into carpets. She also asked the women to make cookies and candy to be given to the soldiers. Two new members were taken into the organization.

Mrs. William H. Tilford sang several Negro spirituals after which Mrs. Jeannette Anderson gave a splendid talk on "The Observance of the Sabbath."

Mrs. R. C. Ledbetter gave several readings and Mrs. Charles Gowdy gave a talk on Temperance, the subject of the program of the day.

The July meeting will be held at the home of Miss Frank Bishop, N. Kink St.

Assisting Mrs. Tonkinson were: Mrs. A. L. Oglesbee, Mrs. Mose Sutton, Mrs. I. W. Clouse, Mrs. Maude White, Mrs. Grace Brand, Mrs. D. E. Huffman, Mrs. M. J. Babb, Mrs. Henry Stacie, Mrs. O'ville Bridgeman, and Mrs. Robert Oglesbee.

PIANO PUPILS WILL GIVE RECITAL

Piano pupils of Miss Hattie Greening will be presented in a recital Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Louise Stunich, vocal student of Miss Zeila Soward, will assist.

The program follows:
Duet—Waltz ..... Pfitzner
Betty Jane Smith
Mildred LeVeck
Rando ..... Hemont
The Robins ..... Virgil
Mildred LeVeck
Old France Gallantry ..... Loh
Florence Jack Straws ..... Rolfe
Betty Jane Smith
Rangish Little Sunbeams ..... Ogle
Nocturn ..... Sutor
Virginia Kinsey

Nina ..... Pergolesi
Major and Minor ..... Spross
Louise Stunich
From an Indian Lodge ..... MacDowell
To a Water Lily ..... Charles Adair
Prelude Op. 28-No. 15 ..... Chopin
Scherzino ..... Paderewski
Mary Soward
Sonata-C Minor ..... Beethoven
Grave-Allergo
Adagio-Cantabile
Dick Ross

There will be an "old fashioned" social and festival at the Paintersville M. P. Church, Wednesday. A splendid program is being arranged and music will be furnished by the New Burlington Band. The public is cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy King, Detroit, Mich., were the guests Thursday night of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. McDaniel, Upper Bellbrook Pike. Mr. and Mrs. King were enroute to Detroit, Mich., where they will visit Mr. King's sister. They were accompanied to Xenia by Charles Faulkner who will spend the summer with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. McDaniel.

Mrs. Dennis Padgett entertained the Ladies Aid Society of the Ebenezer Church at her home at Xenia, Thursday afternoon. About fifteen women attended the meeting. After a business session a social hour was enjoyed when the hostess served a two-course luncheon. Roses and other summer flowers were used in the decorations of the Padgett home.

Mrs. Walter Cleveland, Home Ave., will leave Monday for Detroit, Mich., where she will spend two weeks with her husband who is employed there.

Miss Alba Junk, Chillicothe and Miss Marian Lane, Marblehead, will arrive here Sunday to spend a week with Mrs. A. B. Kester, N. King St.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Glass this city, received word Thursday of the serious illness of their son, Mr. Clarence Glass, former Xenian, who underwent an operation for the removal of his appendix at the Marion City Hospital, Marion, Ohio, last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hult, E. Second St., are spending the week end in Delaware, attending the commencement exercises at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Mrs. A. M. Randall, Springfield Pike, will entertain the Ladies Aid of Old Town M. E. Church, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. She will be assisted by Miss Mabel Harner, Mrs. Sarah Harner and Mrs. Ethel Harner.

Mr. Fred Wooley, who was struck by an automobile three weeks ago, was removed from Espey Hospital Saturday morning to his home.

Mr. M. Earle Collins, who has been teaching in Assuit College, Assuit, Egypt, for the past four years, arrived in Cedarville Tuesday to spend some time with relatives and friends.

Mrs. R. C. Jessup, Mrs. Charles E. Brackney and Mrs. Thurman Oglesbee and daughters Phyllis and Elaine all of Dayton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Hartsook, Wilmington Pike, Thursday.

Mrs. Sallie Eyer, Leaman St., left Saturday morning for Omaha, Neb., where she will join Mrs. John A. Eyer and from there they will go to Boulder, Col., where they will visit relatives. She expects to be gone all summer.

Mrs. Harry E. Noble, S. Monroe St., has returned home after spending six weeks in Hagerstown and Baltimore, Md., and in Virginia. Mrs. Noble was critically ill while in Fairmont, W. Va., but has now recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Denham, Spring St., and Miss Ruth Smith, W. Market St., attended the inspection of Troy Chapter No. 256, O. E. S. at Troy, Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tiffany, Peoria, Ill., are spending the week end here with their parents and friends. They have as their guests, Miss Dorothy Myers and Mr. George Larson.

Mr. William Hitchcock, S. Galloway St., son of Mr. H. R. Hitchcock and student at Bradley Polytechnic Institute, Peoria, Ill., has been elected president of the Psi Delta Omega Fraternity for the coming year.

Miss Lucile Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hoffman, Jamestown and nurse at the University Hospital at Athens, underwent an operation for the removal of her appendix last Wednesday morning at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus. She is reported to be doing nicely.

Miss Doris Whittington and Mrs. Jane Bell will spend the week end at Summerland Beach, Buckeye Lake.

Attorney M. A. Broadstone, who received a broken collar bone when hit by an automobile some time ago, is showing considerable improvement at Espey Hospital, where he is still a patient.

Mrs. Cecil Phillips Hill St., was removed to Espey Hospital Saturday morning for treatment. Her condition is critical.

ENGAGEMENT AND COMING MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Of interest to relatives and friends here is the announcement of the engagement and coming marriage of Mr. Martin Stearns, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Stearns, Washington St., to Miss Della Child, of Rochester, N. Y. The date for the wedding has been set for September 3 at the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church in Rochester.

Miss Child is a graduate of Rochester High School and is an accomplished flute soloist. She is in the beauty-parlor business in Rochester. She made many friends in Xenia two years ago at which time she was a visitor at the Stearns' home.

Mr. Stearns is a graduate of Xenia Central High School and of the Mechanic Institute Rochester Athenium, of Rochester. He has been connected with the Stromberg-Carlson Co., at Rochester, for the past six years.

Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Kuhn, N. King St., will leave Monday for a motor trip through Virginia to Washington, D. C. They will be gone for about ten days. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Syferd of Leesburg will occupy their residence during their absence.

Members of the congregation of the First Reformed Church will hold a reception at the church Monday evening for the new pastor, the Rev. W. W. Poust and family. The reception will be held from 8 to 10 o'clock and all members and their families are invited to attend.

The congregational picnic of the Christ Episcopal Church which was to have been held Wednesday evening has been postponed because of the illness of the pastor, the Rev. Carl O. Nybladh. The picnic will be held at a date to be announced later.

Mr. A. G. Collins who has been ill for some time shows little improvement.

REPORT OF LIBRARY CONVENTION GIVEN BEFORE BOARD HERE

Mrs. P. H. Flynn, president of the board of the Greene County District Library and Miss Mildred W. Sandoe, librarian, gave reports of the recent American Library Association meetings in Washington, D. C., at the meeting of the board here Thursday.

More than 2,500 librarians and library trustees were in Washington during the week of May 12 to 18 and attended the conferences to learn the more recent trends in library affairs and the best ways of solving their local problems.

The conference laid stress on the need to meet the demand for books growing out of the adult education movement. Leaders pointed to the county library as the most likely and practical way of meeting the book demands of the present. They said the county library is still in its infancy but has already proved its worth.

One speaker called attention to the fact that there are more than 3,000 counties in the United States, but less than 300 county libraries. The slogan of the county section of the association is: "A county library in every county in the U. S."

The program for the week is as follows:
MONDAY, JUNE 17
Annual Address to Library So-

NEW BOOKS AT LIBRARY

Mystery and Detective Stories
Thynn—Draycott murder mystery.
O'Brien—Four and twenty blackbirds.
Austin—Black pidgeon.
Daingerfield—Gay nineties murder.

Williams—Death on Scruvy Street.
Wallace—Door with seven locks.
Cline—Dark chamber.
Cox—Silk stocking murders.
Rhode—Murder in Praed Street.
Rebner—Christopher Quaries.
Strahan—Deadly poison mystery.
Strahan—Footprints.
Lincoln—Cat's paw.
Post—Bradford murder.
Daingerfield—Linden Walk tragedy.

Conington—Case with the nine solutions.
Starrett—Murder on "B" Deck.
Webster—Sealed trunk.
Openheim—Treasure house of Martin Hews.

When the deadline date for filing declarations of candidacy for judge of the court expired at midnight Friday it was found that only one candidate had filed. He is Attorney James Kyle. Consequently there will be no primary race.

Other candidates for the position will enter the judgeship race at the November election by circulating petitions. They will then run on a non-partisan ticket where as at the primary it would be necessary to declare their party affiliation.

According to R. E. Dunkel, clerk of the election board, it is not at all certain there will even be a primary.

Candidates for the three vacancies that will exist on the City Commission may start to circulate their petitions on June 24 but not before that date. The final day for filing declarations in the commission race expires July 13.

Terms of Commissioners S. M. McKay, Mayor Karl R. Babb and David Cherry expire this year.

GOOFY MOVIES

GOOFY MOVIES PRESENT
Hot Knights.
PART TWO.

HE'S ROYAL HIGHNESS
HIS THE STEPS
VERY BUSY MAKING PLANS TO GET HIS DAUGHTER, ABA DABA, MARRIED OFF.....
NOW, LET'S HURRY ON WITH THE STORY.....

GOLLY THIS THING OF BEING CANNED
UP IN T.N. IS GETTING ON MY NERVES—
I FEEL LIKE A SARDINE.....
HUH.....
WHAT'S THAT.....

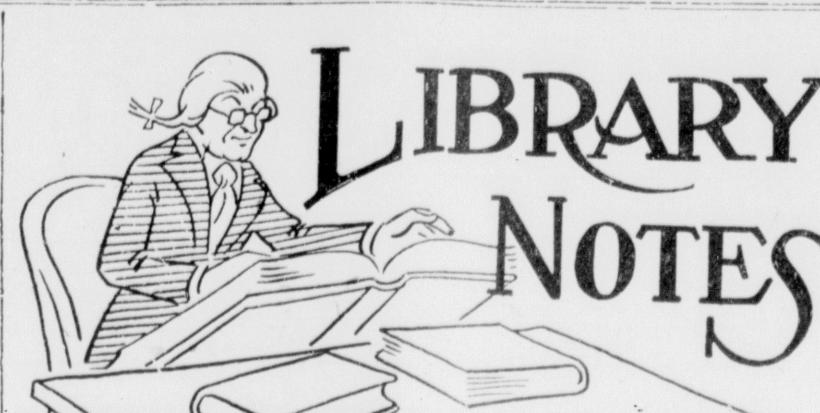

SR EDDATIZER,
ONE OF THE BRAVEST
KNIGHTS THAT EVER SLIPPED INTO A TIN
UNION SUIT, PLAYED BY.....
BEVERLEY BROWN.

MMMM.....
THAT LURE
A CINCH!

A FEW MINUTES LATER
A POOR
PEASANT HAPPENS
ALONG AND SEES THE SAME
POSTER

O BOY, I'D GIVE MY LEFT TONSIL IF I WAS A KNIGHT.....

EPISODE
THREE HAS A BIG SURPRISE FOR YOU
? LIVE AND LEARN

Although many business places are making it a practice to close one afternoon a week, the Greene County District Library has decided not to change its schedule.

Every day summer and winter the library will be open from 10 a. m. until 9 p. m. Those who have not already discovered that the library is the coolest place in town on a hot afternoon are invited to try it for themselves.

For the benefit of residents spending vacations out of town a special vacation privilege has been inaugurated to last from June 1 to October 1. Older books of fiction or non-fiction may in this way be borrowed by vacationists for a period of four weeks.

Delightful as it is to fish, golf or

BACCALAUREAT SERMON WILL OPEN WILBERFORCE EXERCISES

Bishop George C. Clements, of Louisville, Ky., of the Zion A. M. E. Church, South, will open the exercises of the sixty-sixth annual commencement week of Wilberforce University by delivering the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class, Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Jones Auditorium of Shorter Hall.

President Gilbert H. Jones, accompanied by the visiting bishops of the A. M. E. Church and other distinguished visitors, teachers and members of the graduating class, will form the processional line at Galloway Hall and march to Jones Auditorium to attend the baccalaureate sermon. Music will be furnished by the university Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Prof. C. W. Salsbury, with Miss Grace Edwards and Mrs. Anna Terry presiding at the pipe organ and piano.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the first annual vesper hour, the Religions and Greek Lettered Societies will listen to an address delivered by the Rev. E. W. B. Curry, Springfield. At 8 o'clock in the evening the annual sermon is to be delivered to the graduating class of Payne Theological Seminary by Bishop A. L. Gaines, Baltimore, Md.

The program for the week is as follows:
MONDAY, JUNE 17
Annual Address to Library So-

Several young society women in Berlin, Germany, are operating as style advisers to women who wish to dress well.

It is quite an important duty of these style advisers to see that their clients do not buy a dress or coat already being worn in their set, and this often entails lengthy and difficult inquiries.

"The main thing," said one of these young women, "is originality. In fact, it is everything. I cannot divulge the names of some of my clients, since whenever one of the gowns, etc., worn by them is the subject of flattering comment, they wish to imply that it was their own resourcefulness by which it was acquired."

The average charge for this service is five marks an hour, plus the taxi fare. Visits to restaurants, cafes and the like must also be paid for by the client.

One of these young style advisers, coming from one of the best known but impoverished families

The annual exhibit of student work in the department of art, commerce, home economics, vocations, high school, University and applied science will be held in their respective buildings during the week of the commencement exercises.

The residence of the late Dr. W. S. Scarborough, formerly president of Wilberforce University, located across from the campus of Arnett Hall, has been purchased by the Combined Normal and Industrial Department of the University at a reported price of $13,000.

The deal was completed Friday at the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the C. N. and I. Department, the purchase being made from the widow, Mrs. S. C. Scarborough, who has continued to occupy the property since the death of her husband. The house is a two-story frame structure and will be used either as a teachers' cottage or for the superintendent.

When Mrs. Scarborough vacates the property she will go to Cleveland to make her home with relatives. She was prominently identified with the affairs of Wilberforce University for many years, especially during the time her husband was its president, and is widely known as an educator. She is credited with instituting the normal department of the school.

Board members Friday also heard the annual report and recommendations of R. C. Bundy, superintendent of the C. N. and I. Department and considered the reelection of teachers. Members attending the session were: Dr. Joseph L. Jackson, Columbus, president; Bishop J. H. Jones, Wilberforce, vice president; Dr. G. H. Jones, president of the university; Rev. R. P. Williams, Toledo; Robert Barcus, Columbus attorney; the Rev. Russell S. Brown, Cleveland and Miss Jennie Porter, Cincinnati.

There will be no contest, at least at the forthcoming primary election August 13, for the judgeship of Xenia's new municipal court which will start to function in 1930.

When the deadline date for filing declarations of candidacy for judge of the court expired at midnight Friday it was found that only one candidate had filed. He is Attorney James Kyle. Consequently there will be no primary race.

Other candidates for the position will enter the judgeship race at the November election by circulating petitions. They will then run on a non-partisan ticket where as at the primary it would be necessary to declare their party affiliation.

According to R. E. Dunkel, clerk of the election board, it is not at all certain there will even be a primary.

Candidates for the three vacancies that will exist on the City Commission may start to circulate their petitions on June 24 but not before that date. The final day for filing declarations in the commission race expires July 13.

Terms of Commissioners S. M. McKay, Mayor Karl R. Babb and David Cherry expire this year.

Several young society women in Berlin, Germany, are operating as style advisers to women who wish to dress well.

It is quite an important duty of these style advisers to see that their clients do not buy a dress or coat already being worn in their set, and this often entails lengthy and difficult inquiries.

motor the time is sure to come when your one desire is to sit back, rest and let yourself become absorbed in a thoroughly interesting book. Unfortunately a good book is not always easy to find in the haunts frequented by vacation hunters. The only safe thing to do is to pack up a half dozen or so to take along in the car at the same time you begin packing the rods, golf clubs and slickers. This four week privilege will allow most people ample time but if you are to be gone more than four weeks do not despair. Books can be renewed. The library will even mail books to you if you desire. The library wishes to be of service in making the vacation trips of its readers more enjoyable. Won't you give it the opportunity?

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

At one time curly hair for Japanese women was considered a distinct social disadvantage. The permanent wave has now invaded Japan, however, and women have their waves "set" in Americanized beauty salons in Tokio.

Woman Sets Legislative Achievement Record

MRS. ALBION FELLOWS BACON (Mrs. Hilary Edwin Bacon) of Evansville, Ind., has a record for legislative achievement lasting over twenty years, of which few women can boast.

She won the first housing law in Indiana after a lively fight for which she prepared by state-wide investigation, study of the housing laws of this and other countries, and by lecturing. The first law was amended so as to apply only to the two largest cities in the state, so at the next session Mrs. Bacon went back, taking a bill which included all the cities of Indiana. This was lost by the narrow margin of one vote.

At the next session Mrs. Bacon won the tenement law for all the cities of the state which now prevails. Her next fight was for a bill condemning all unsanitary dwellings unfit for habitation in the state, whether in city or country. This was lost in that session of the legislature, but won in the following and those two laws now control the state housing.

As chairman of the state commission on child welfare in 1921, Mrs. Bacon drafted and won a law creating the state protection department with the commission and state officer. She is a member of the city planning commission of which she has been for five years, and now is, president.

Her latest interest and efforts are toward placing psychiatrists in schools and juvenile courts with a view to cutting down the percentage of juvenile delinquency.

Mrs. Bacon's book, now out of print, "Beauty for Ashes," tells of her years of work among the poor, leading to her fight for housing reforms. It is being used in clubs and universities and run as a serial in states attempting to get housing laws. The National Housing association issued many of her pamphlets. She is also a successful writer of verse, prose, songs and pageants. Her sister, Mrs. Annie Fellows Johnston, is the author of the famous "Little Colonel" books.

Advise

FEATURES VIEWS and NEWS COMMENT EDITORIAL

The Gazette is published morning and evening except Sunday at the Gazette Building, South Detroit Street, Xenia, Ohio, by The Chew Publishing Company, Inc. Entered as second class matter under act of March 3, 1879, at the Postoffice, Xenia, Ohio.

Members of "Ohio Select List" Daily Newspapers Robert E. Ward, Inc., Foreign Advertising Representative, Chicago Office, No. 5 South Wabash Avenue; New York Office, 301 Fifth Avenue.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES	1 Mo.	3 Mo.	6 Mo.	1 Yr.
In Greene County	$4.00	$10.00	$19.00	$35.00
Zones 1 and 2	.45	1.15	2.15	4.00
Zones 3, 4, and 5	.50	1.30	2.40	4.50
Zones 6 and 7	.55	1.45	2.65	5.00
Zone 8	.60	1.50	2.90	5.50

By carrier in Xenia, 15c Per Week, Single Copy, Three Cents

TELEPHONES
Advertising and Business Office	111
Editorial Department	70
Circulation Department	800

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE THIRD TEST—Again the devil sheweth him all the kingdoms of the world, and saith, All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me. Then saith Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.—Matthew 4:8, 9, 10.

GOLD-DIGGING DIVORCEES

The day is not far distant when American courts generally will radically reduce the national divorce rate by the simple expedient of refusing alimony to all able-bodied and childless divorcees, in the opinion of Frances Parkinson Keyes, the writer, wife of Senator Keyes of New Hampshire, who also is a close student of marital problems.

"I do not think that the young, healthy, childless woman should ever be granted alimony, and indeed I believe the time is coming when she will not be," declares Mrs. Keyes, discussing modern marriage in Good Housekeeping Magazine.

A large proportion of divorcees, she believes, can be traced to young women who find the duties of marriage and home-making irksome, who prefer excitement to placid home life and motherhood, and who know that American courts traditionally provide for the livelihood of the ex-wife at the husband's expense where she can provide even the flimsiest justifications for divorce.

"The practice has been so abused that the pendulum is bound to swing the other way before long, and courts which now regard pretty plaintiffs with a lenient eye will look at them more severely in the future, unless I am very much mistaken," she says.

Mrs. Keyes admits the faults of men in marriage, but she also points out that wives are usually half to blame wherever a home comes to grief. As despicable as the gold-digging divorcee, she declares, is the wife "who lives with her husband, takes everything he can give her and gives nothing in return." She is probably responsible for as large a share of marital failures as the first group.

Sometimes we wonder whether other people are not worrying about the President's troubles with congress more than the President is himself.

David Lloyd George doesn't seem to have gained much by his attempt to return from the wilderness, except a nice little balance of power.

YOUR BROADWAY AND MINE

By Walter Winchell

NEW YORK, June 12.—Dear Column Conductor: My experiences, not far from your Broadway, are given herewith to you for all sundry to observe:

My wife and I were strolling through Central park—over you know where that is—over miles of grass and remains of lunch baskets and bridges falling apart, past acres and acres of grass with nobody permitted on it, when—

"I'd like an ice cream soda," I says to my wife.

"All right," she replies.

Twisting and turning and endeavoring to be missed by eighteen million autos, we finally reached a bush, behind which stood a traffic cop on duty.

"I'm a stranger from Indiana," I began, "and I'd like to know where to get an ice cream soda."

He jerked his thumb. "At the casino over the hill."

"Which hill?" I asked.

"That hill!" he roared, waving his arms at three formidable (understand that word?) risings.

Well, we climbed all three hills, and found a large rambling place with flags flying, bearing the title "Casino."

"It must be a gambling joint," my wife breathed fearfully.

There wasn't any sidewalk to it, merely a driveway. A liveried footman stood at the foot of an elaborate entrance stairs.

"No, it looks like a movie theater," I guessed.

I politely asked the greengaw whether I could obtain an ice cream soda there.

With an air of surprise, he opined I could.

We climbed the carpeted stair. In a hallway always described as being of "quiet magnificence" there was a checkroom. Then I knew we were in for it.

We made our way, with the aid of three head waiters in full dress, to a balcony overlooking a sea of tree tops. If you look at the tree tops before you look at the menu, it's all right.

Poring over scores of persons who might have been of the ultra-ultras for all I know, but now I am willing to bet they were suckers.

"How beautiful it all looks," my tired wife remarked.

Then I looked at the engraved menu. "What shall you have, dear?" my wife asked.

I looked deeper. "I—I don't see any ice cream soda," I faltered.

"Then take ice cream," she comforted, not having seen the menu yet.

THE WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

NO CURE

There is no cure for the man bitten with the bug of office-holding or office-seeking. One might think defeat would cure the victim but it only makes him worse. Election soothes him for a time but effects no permanent cure. Some, indeed, are so inflamed that holding one office they demand the stimulant that comes from chasing another. It is a restless, never-ending advantage that men embark upon when they seek office.

All this is but comment on life and times and is not a criticism of men who are candidates. It is fortunate there are good men—a few—who are willing to give up time and money, and sacrifice their private business for the sake of the public service. Of course not many are animated by such motives. Most of them just crave a gold braid job. When we do detect a modest and able man seeking public office it is our duty to be for him.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not confined to civilized peoples and it is not confined to the white race. Some proverb of a primitive tribe in Africa, being interpreted in English, prove barbarians have the intelligence to size up life. Among the proverbs are these: "Two clever women do not plant rice in the same field."

"He who boasts is not always rich."

"The sound of the snapping trap which has caught me remains in my ears."

TOO LIMITED

Lola Jean Simpson, once a teacher and now editor of "Children," a magazine for parents, says: "Many hounds teachers and takes out all the inspiration to do a fine piece of work. I doubt if any woman has any business teaching more than ten years. I advise any woman with intelligence to train herself for another field at the end of ten years."

Miss Simpson seems to be lacking in vision or is unduly pessimistic. A good mind ought to improve steadily through ten years of use. What can exercise the mind more than the analysis of a subject which is important to true teaching? What can stimulate the mind more than contact with young lives? What offers more improvement for oneself than the study made necessary for intelligent teaching?

The victim of monotony usually has a mind with a small entrance and a small exit.

Why this talk about ten years? The mind is not like a piece of cheap machinery. It does not wear out. It improves with use—if it is put to good work.

Who's Who and Timely Views

BILL TO DIVERT UNPRODUCTIVE LANDS TO FORESTRY USES INTRODUCED

By H. P. FULMER

Congressman from South Carolina

(Hampton Pitts Fulmer was born at Springfield, S. C., June 23, 1875. He was educated in high school and business college. He has been a merchant, banker and farmer. From 1917 to 1920 he was a member of the South Carolina house of representatives. He was elected to congress in 1921 from the seventh South Carolina district and is now serving his fourth term. He is a Democrat and his home is at Orangeburg, S. C.)

I recently introduced in the house a bill to divert lands unsuitable for profitable agricultural production to productive forestry uses.

The measure is based on the assumption that the farm relief bill will become a law, creating a federal board.

In the farm bill we have given the board the following power:

"To make investigations and reports and publish the same, including investigations and reports upon the following: Land utilization for agricultural purposes; reduction of the acreage of unprofitable marginal lands in cultivation; the economic need for reclamation and irrigation projects, and so forth...."

Therefore, my bill purposes to put into execution these powers, believing that this work is of too much importance to further delay a real national survey, as stated.

After this survey has been made, it is very important that the uses for which we shall utilize the lands designated by the board as lands that should be taken over, that the forest service, which is a part of the department of agriculture should determine whether or not these lands are suitable for forest purposes, or for other purposes.

Some indications of the way in which such a program would work may be obtained from the example of the Landes region of France, where the creation of extensive forests (both public and private) on distinctly sub-marginal land brought prosperity to an impoverished population.

In England the government has purchased and is planning forests on considerable areas of just such marginal and sub-marginal farm land as would be included in the proposed program. On a unit of approximately 26,000 acres, which has no merchantable timber, 300 to 400 men are employed during several months in the year. Approximately 100 forest settlements have been established, dependent primarily on the forest and supplemented by food grown on small agricultural allotments. In Germany and Scandinavia many prosperous communities owe their existence to permanent forests and to accompanying industries. In the United States, the state forests of Michigan already employ several hundred men in building up forests of wild land, and serve to sustain considerable numbers of settlers.

At least that is the way it started—as a means of supplying the treasury with more money than the average man probably would contribute.

Presently certain shrewd Americans began to see how they could turn it to their account in another way.

Firstly it was a very nicely camouflaged kind of tax.

Secondly, it gave a great advantage to American producers of everything that American consumers have to buy. That is, it enabled the farmer to boost prices to the latter—while still slightly underestimating the foreigner's customs house handicap.

Thus the revenue tariff became a protective tariff too.

The difficulty is: Inflated prices act and react in a fashion to make protection's ben-

THE LONG AND SHORT OF REAPPORTIONMENT

HOW TO ACHIEVE BEAUTY

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

After you have organized a health program including proper diet, plenty of drinking water, exercise and sleep in your corrective treatment for acne (pimples and blackheads), you come to the important matter of what to do directly for your skin. Naturally the acne afflicted skin needs very different care from that given to a youthful skin that is normal. Cleanliness is, of course, a first law in the treatment of this condition, even more so than for the normal skin, but the means of attaining it are slightly different.

The acne skin must be washed frequently. But do not wash with ordinary water and soap. Instead use an especially prepared washing preparation, a cream paste, free from alkali and so medicated as to correct blackheads and open pores. This kind of a washing preparation is more penetrating than soap and is without the fatty content, acids and harsh alkalis that makes most soaps unsuited for the acne skin. Such a preparation makes a soft, deeply cleansing lather which soothes and invigorates the skin while it cleanses. Use it with warm water night and morning to completely cleanse the acne area.

Once a day, either night or morning after the washing, or whenever convenient, smooth on an essentially pure face cream, preferably a pasteurized one, and remove this with cleansing tissues. After this, as after any cleansing treatment for acne, pat on a refining lotion, or mild astringent skin tonic to close the pores and to freshen the skin. Be very careful in choosing your preparations, to get those which are the very purest and best. A pasteurized face cream, unlike almost any other cream, is a corrective for acne because it contains antiseptic properties and because it counteracts the excessive oiliness which is most often a characteristic of acne. Besides this, it is unusually mild and soothing.

One fact that is not generally known about acne is that the discharge from an open pimple often continues for as long as 15 or 20 minutes after the pimple has been brought to a head. This substance is highly infectious, and it is through careless "letting" of pimples that nine-tenths of all the infection carries. The pimple that is opened and not sterilized can infect almost the entire surface of your face.

Always avoid touching your face with your fingers except when you are treating the skin. Infection with acne spreads rapidly, consequently you must be careful to sterilize each pimple as it is opened. If your acne is the kind that manifests itself in "blind pimples" you must try to bring them to the surface of the skin where they can be treated and cured. There are certain creams and liquids which do this effectively. Certain active liquid stimulants are good for this purpose. Once the pimple has been brought to a head, the skin may be pricked with a sterilized needle and then disinfected, either with an antiseptic liquid disinfectant or with dry boracic acid.

The rest of the world's threat against our export trade is no idle dream. The state department actually is receiving hints at reprisals by foreign governments—to date, including England, Canada, France, Spain, Argentina and several smaller countries—and the list lengthens every day.

Economists recognize a difference between a tariff "policy" and tariff "reprisals." Tariff reprisals amount to economic war. To be sure, the United States may not be afraid of war—but war is no joke either—especially the United States against all the rest of the world.

This is the problem the senate finance committee will be busy with all summer.

The tariff bill, as passed by the representatives, was tentative, it is agreed. It remains for the senate committee, under Senator Smoot's chairmanship, to tick it into its final form. On the theory that congress would be in recess, it has been assumed that Washington would be a quiet place this summer. In reality, no place can be quiet where that tariff bill is simmering.

To the eye of the uninitiated it doubtless is an uninspiring-looking hodge-podge of ingredients, sizzling monotonously in the senate finance committee room, but there is dynamite in that stew.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The tariff is not a popular subject, doubtless because so few people know much about it. A lot of talk concerning something one does not understand naturally is tiresome.

It is no reflection on the public's intelligence to say that the tariff is a mystery to it. It is a mystery to everybody but a small group of specialists.

The very reason why the folk who run governments always have been so fond of the tariff method of raising cash is that no one except an expert can see through it. It enables the tax collector to get away with murder unsuspected.

At least that is the way it started—as a means of supplying the treasury with more money than the average man probably would contribute.

Presently certain shrewd Americans began to see how they could turn it to their account in another way.

Firstly it was a very nicely camouflaged kind of tax.

Secondly, it gave a great advantage to American producers of everything that American consumers have to buy. That is, it enabled the farmer to boost prices to the latter—while still slightly underestimating the foreigner's customs house handicap.

Thus the revenue tariff became a protective tariff too.

The difficulty is: Inflated prices act and react in a fashion to make protection's beneficiaries everlastingly need more and more protection—like a dope fiend, constantly forced to increase doses of his drug or it loses its kick.

American tariffs have crept higher and higher until today they are much the highest in the world's history.

The present tariff bill looks like elevating them to a point where virtually they will prohibit imports because nobody but American millionaires can afford the prices foreigners will have to charge here. If so, America's protective tariff beneficiaries will have practically an absolute monopoly.

There are two objections to such a situation. 1. As soon as our protective tariff becomes prohibitory, it will cease to be a revenue producer, and the government needs the money. 2. If we prohibit other countries from selling goods to us, they will prohibit us from selling goods to them. Our export trade will stop. Then what will we do with our surplus products?—which are quite a problem to us already.

The rest of the world's threat against our export trade is no idle dream. The state department actually is receiving hints at reprisals by foreign governments—to date, including England, Canada, France, Spain, Argentina and several smaller countries—and the list lengthens every day.

Economists recognize a difference between a tariff "policy" and tariff "reprisals." Tariff reprisals amount to economic war. To be sure, the United States may not be afraid of war—but war is no joke either—especially the United States against all the rest of the world.

This is the problem the senate finance committee will be busy with all summer.

The tariff bill, as passed by the representatives, was tentative, it is agreed. It remains for the senate committee, under Senator Smoot's chairmanship, to tick it into its final form. On the theory that congress would be in recess, it has been assumed that Washington would be a quiet place this summer. In reality, no place can be quiet where that tariff bill is simmering.

To the eye of the uninitiated it doubtless is an uninspiring-looking hodge-podge of ingredients, sizzling monotonously in the senate finance committee room, but there is dynamite in that stew.

DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am in great trouble. I am 15 years old. Am the oldest. Being a girl it is hard for me. My mother is always fussing at me. Dad finds fault with everything I do or say. I am sick of this life I have to live. Please, Mrs. Lee, help me out and I will thank you so much.

BROKEN HEARTED FRANCES: It would be all right to ask for help, dear, and when you get to camp play as hard as you can. I think you will forget to a great extent. Most young girls of your age have these crushes.

PETER'S ADVENTURES

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH SPIDER?

Peter's remark seemed to make Spider a little nervous.

"You are my friend, aren't you?" demanded the fellow. "You're not going to turn enemy just because I wanted to drop glue on the end of your nose, are you? Can't you let by-gones be by-gones?"

"Of course," Peter chuckled. "I don't say I wasn't your friend, I simply remarked that none but your best friend would recognize you. And I'm not your best friend, Spider, am I?"

"Well, no, not my very best friend," admitted Spider. "Still I like you!"

"Good!" exclaimed Peter, heartily. "Now that's settled would you mind answering a question or two? Some of my eyes have you? They seem to be all over your head. Seems to me you are looking all ways at once."

"So I am, so I am!" buzzed Spider. "Why should I? I see what is going on all around me with eight eyes to look with, youngster. Mark my words, nothing much gets by me. And if I have eight eyes all better to see with, I have eight legs to use when I need them." Spider kicked all eight of them as he was doing and looked so comical in the doing that he kept laughing out loud. But he didn't—not only because he was polite but because he feared Spider might bite him if he made the insect angry. What was the matter with the fuzzy fellow, anyhow? He was spinning in circles. Did Peter

Next: "Peter Takes a Chance at" 1

DIET AND HEALTH

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

"DEAR DOCTOR: Since taking quinine capsules before retiring at night will make one perspire during the night, do you believe this would help in reducing weight? Also, since quinine is a blood purifier (is it not?) would you advocate quinine capsules as a spring tonic to clear the system?"

No, I don't believe quinine would help to reduce unless it were taken to the extent that it would upset the general health. J. You should not take any medication except when necessary and prescribed by your physician.

There is no medicine that is a "blood purifier." And the spring tonics you should take are plenty of green vegetables and fruits, and sunshine. There is no doubt that in former days many had borderline degrees of scurvy and beriberi from a deficiency of vitamins during the winter.

We have an article on Balanced Diet which you may have.

"DEAR DOCTOR: I wrote you before, but never saw it in the papers. I am 19 years old, and my husband is 21, and we have been married two years. We are very happy except for one thing—we have no children. I know my husband would be the happiest man on earth if I can do I will gladly take your advice, for I think where there are no children we grow selfish, don't you?"

Dear little girl, you and your husband are both very young, so you should not be discouraged. Of course, you both should be examined to see if there is any reason that can be found for your present sterility, and if there is none, then all you can do is to live as hygienically as possible, especially having a diet that is high in vitamins, and get plenty of fresh air and exercise. It has been found in animals that there is a certain vitamin necessary for fertility. It is called vitamin E, and is present in many of the foods, especially the whole grain products, lettuce and other greens, and lean meat. You might send for our article on Balanced Diet.

"Hooraay! I have lost 35 pounds for this morning my scales register 200. You see, I had inset, and still have some excess, being only 5 feet 1 inch tall, and I am only 26 years old. I used to have such a time with my heart, but I don't any more. Every one tells me I am beginning to look better already. Do you suppose I will ever be able to get down to 110, a loss of 90 pounds more? The flesh on my abdomen is real flabby, and I wish you would tell me some way of shrinking the skin after the fat underneath is gone. I am so happy over my success that I feel at times that I could burst."

Certainly you can get down to normal, Mrs. L., and don't worry about your being flabby. That will adjust itself in time, especially at your age. You had better send for our article on the Atopic Abdominal Wall and take the Tummy Ten exercises. That will help you. Have your pamphlet on the subject of reducing and gaining weight?

Congratulations on your good start.

Tomorrow: "Blisters" on Tongue.

LIVING AND LOVING

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

Far be it from me to set myself up as an adviser to parents. They have my deep sympathy, and my wonder is that so many ordinary people, who do not great preparation for the profession of parenthood, are as good as they are. They are considered by educators and social workers to be at the root of all the evil in the world.

All of John and Susie's inhibitions and exhibitions are directly traceable to their inheritance from said parents, from too much liberty and restraint or not enough of what have you.

If one happens to be one of those things—a parents—all one can do is to keep so busy with other matters that one has no time to think of all the things one has done that one should not do, and all the things one has left undone that one should have done, and pray that one's particular Johns and Susans have been kept, by the grace of God, from the awful pitfalls that yawn for their misguided feet.

However, humbly I would beg parents generally to try to remember the days of their own adolescence—that period of extreme sensitivity and conviction of sin. I was convinced, I remember, at that unhappy period in my existence, that I had the most fiendish temper that ever was, and many a night have I cried myself to sleep over my iniquity and the fact that no one ever could, would or should love me.

I hope the parents of all the little girls—not forgetting the manly boys—who read the following letter, will remember their own youth and try hard to make their youngsters feel that they are loved and appreciated and that life is worth living.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am in great trouble. I am 15 years old. Am the oldest. Being a girl it is hard for me. My mother is always fussing at me. Dad finds fault with everything I do or say. I am sick of this life I have to live. Please, Mrs. Lee, help me out and I will thank you so much.

BROKEN HEARTED FRANCES: It would be all right to ask for help, dear, and when you get to camp play as hard as you can. I think you will forget to a great extent. Most young girls of your age have these crushes.

PETER'S ADVENTURES

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH SPIDER?

Peter's remark seemed to make Spider a little nervous.

"You are my friend, aren't you?" demanded the fellow. "You're not going to turn enemy just because I wanted to drop glue on the end of your nose, are you? Can't you let by-gones be by-gones?"

"Of course," Peter chuckled. "I don't say I wasn't your friend, I simply remarked that none but your best friend would recognize you. And I'm not your best friend, Spider, am I?"

"Well, no, not my very best friend," admitted Spider. "Still I like you!"

"Good!" exclaimed Peter, heartily. "Now that's settled would you mind answering a question or two? Some of my eyes have you? They seem to be all over your head. Seems to me you are looking all ways at once."

"So I am, so I am!" buzzed Spider. "Why should I? I see what is going on all around me with eight eyes to look with, youngster. Mark my words, nothing much gets by me. And if I have eight eyes all better to see with, I have eight legs to use when I need them." Spider kicked all eight of them as he was doing and looked so comical in the doing that he kept laughing out loud. But he didn't—not only because he was polite but because he feared Spider might bite him if he made the insect angry. What was the matter with the fuzzy fellow, anyhow? He was spinning in circles. Did Peter

Next: "Peter Takes a Chance at" 1

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

By MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

Breakfast
Orange Juice Muffins
Strawberry Preserves

Luncheon
Creamed Finnan Haddie
Mashed Potatoes Willet Lettuce
Bread and Butter Tea

Dinner
Clear Soup Special Spaghetti
Peas Radishes
Head Lettuce Salad
French Dressing

Hard Rolls Unsalted Butter
Cheese and Crackers
Strawberries Coffee

FEATURES VIEWS and NEWS COMMENT EDITORIAL

The Gazette is published morning and evening except Sunday at the Gazette Building, South Detroit Street, Xenia, Ohio, by The Chew Publishing Company, Inc. Entered as second class matter under act of March 3, 1879, at the Postoffice, Xenia, Ohio.

Members of "Ohio Select List" Daily Newspapers Robert E. Ward, Inc., Foreign Advertising Representative; Chicago Office, No. 5 South Wabash Avenue; New York Office, 501 Fifth Avenue.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES	1 Mo. 3 Mo. 6 Mo. 1 Yr.
In Greene County	$4.00 $10.00 $18.00 $35.00
Zones 1 and 2	40 1.15 2.15 4.00
Zones 3, 4, and 5	50 1.30 2.40 4.50
Zones 6 and 7	55 1.45 2.65 4.80
Zone 8	60 1.50 2.90 5.50

By carrier in Xenia, 15c Per Week, Single Copy, Three Cents

TELEPHONES

Advertising and Business Office 111

Editorial Department 70

Circulation Department 800

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE THIRD TEST—Again the devil sheweth him all the kingdoms of the world, and saith, All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me. Then saith Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.—Matthew 4:8, 9, 10.

GOLD-DIGGING DIVORCEES

The day is not far distant when American courts generally will radically reduce the national divorce rate by the simple expedient of refusing alimony to all able-bodied and childless divorcees, in the opinion of Frances Parkinson Keyes, the writer, wife of Senator Keyes of New Hampshire, who also is a close student of marital problems.

"I do not think that the young, healthy, childless woman should ever be granted alimony, and indeed I believe the time is coming when she will not be," declares Mrs. Keyes, discussing modern marriage in Good Housekeeping Magazine.

A large proportion of divorces, she believes, can be traced to young women who find the duties of marriage and home-making irksome, who prefer excitement to placid home life and motherhood, and who know that American courts traditionally provide for the livelihood of the ex-wife at the husband's expense where she can provide even the flimsiest justifications for divorce.

"The practice has been so abused that the pendulum is bound to swing the other way before long, and courts which now regard pretty plaintiffs with a lenient eye will look at them more severely in the future, unless I am very much mistaken," she says.

Mrs. Keyes admits the faults of men in marriage, but she also points out that wives are usually half to blame wherever a home comes to grief. As despicable as the gold-digging divorcee, she declares, is the wife "who lives with her husband, takes everything he can give her and gives nothing in return." She is probably responsible for as large a share of marital failures as the first group.

Sometimes we wonder whether other people are not worrying about the President's troubles with congress more than the President is himself.

David Lloyd George doesn't seem to have gained much by his attempt to return from the wilderness, except a nice little balance of power.

YOUR BROADWAY AND MINE

By Walter Winchell

NEW YORK, June 12.—Dear Column: Conductor: My experiences, not far from your Broadway, are given herewith to you for all sundry to observe:

My wife and I were strolling through Central park—if you know where that is—over miles of crags and remains of lunch baskets and bridges falling apart, past acres and acres of grass with nobody permitted on it, when—

"I'd like an ice cream soda," I says to my wife.

"All right," she replies.

Twisting and turning and endeavoring to be missed by eighteen million autos, we finally reached a bush, behind which stood a traffic cop on duty.

"I'm a stranger from Indiana," I began, "and I'd like to know where to get an ice cream soda."

He jerked his thumb. "At the casino over the hill."

"Which hill?" I asked.

"That hill!" he roared, waving his arms at three formidable (understand that word?) risings.

Well, we climbed all three hills, and found a large rambling place with flags flying, bearing the title "Casino."

"It must be a gambling joint," my wife breathed fearfully.

There wasn't any sidewalk to it, merely a driveway. A liveried footman stood at the foot of an elaborate entrance stairs.

"No, it looks like a movie theater," I guessed.

I politely asked the goon whether I could obtain an ice cream soda there.

With an air of surprise, he opined I could.

We climbed the carpeted stair. In a hallway always described as being of "quiet magnificence" there was a checkroom. Then I knew we were in it.

We made our way, with the aid of three head waiters in full dress, to a balcony overlooking a sea of tree tops. If you look at the tree tops before you look at the menu, it's all right.

Poring over menus or dining daintily were scores of persons who might have been of the ultra-ultras for all I know, but now I am willing to bet they were suckers.

"How beautiful it all looks," my tired wife remarked.

Then I looked at the engraved menu.

"What shall you have, dear?" my wife asked.

I looked deeper. "I—I don't see any ice cream soda," I faltered.

"Then take ice cream," she comforted, not having seen the menu yet.

THE WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

NO CURE

There is no cure for the man bitten with the bug of office-holding or office-seeking. One might think defeat would cure the victim but it only makes him worse. Election soothes him for a time but effects no permanent cure. Some, indeed, are so afflicted that holding one office they demand the stimulant that comes from chasing another. It is a restless, never-ending advantage that men embark upon when they seek office.

All this is but comment on life and times and is not a criticism of men who are candidates. It is fortunate there are good men—a few—who are willing to give up time and money, and sacrifice their private business for the sake of the public service. Of course not many are animated by such motives. Most of them just crave a gold braided job. When we do detect a modest and able man seeking public office it is our duty to be for him.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not confined to civilized peoples and it is not confined to the white race. Some proverbs of a primitive tribe in Africa, being interpreted into English, prove barbarians have the intelligence to size up life. Among the proverbs are these: "Two clever women do not plant rice in the same field." "He who boasts is not always rich." "The sound of the snapping trap which has caught me remains in my ears."

TOO LIMITED

Lola Jean Simpson, once a teacher and now editor of "Children," a magazine for parents, says: "Mentality hounds teachers and takes out all the inspiration to do a fine piece of work. I doubt if any woman has any business teaching more than ten years. I advise any woman with intelligence to train herself for another field at the end of ten years."

Miss Simpson seems to be lacking in vision and is unduly pessimistic. A good mind ought to improve steadily through ten years of use. What can exercise the mind more than the analysis of a subject which is necessary to true teaching? What can stimulate the mind more than contact with young lives? What offers more improvement for one's self than the study made necessary for intelligent teaching?

The victim of monotony usually has a mind with a small entrance and a small exit.

Why this talk about ten years? The mind is not like a piece of cheap machinery. It does not wear out. It improves with use—if it is put to good work.

Who's Who and Timely Views

BILL TO DIVERT UNPRODUCTIVE LANDS TO FORESTRY USES INTRODUCED

By H. P. FULMER

Congressman from South Carolina

(Hampton Pitts Fulmer was born at Springfield, S. C., June 23, 1878. He was educated in high school and business college. He has been merchant, banker and farmer. From 1917 to 1920 he was a member of the South Carolina house of representatives. He was elected to congress in 1921 from the seventh South Carolina district and is now serving his fourth term. He is a Democrat and his home is at Orangeburg, S. C.)

I recently introduced in the house a bill to divert lands unsuitable for profitable agricultural purposes to productive forestry uses.

The measure is based on the assumption that the farm relief bill will become a law, creating a federal board.

In the farm bill we have given the board the following power: "To make investigations and reports upon the following: Land utilization for agricultural purposes; reduction of the acreage of unprofitable marginal lands in cultivation; the economic need for reclamation and irrigation projects, and so forth...."

Therefore, my bill purposes to put into execution these powers, believing that this work is of too much importance to further delay a real national survey, as stated.

After this survey has been made, it is very important that the uses for which we shall utilize the lands designated by the board as lands that should be taken over, that the forest service, which is a part of the department of agriculture should determine whether or not these lands are suitable for forest, pasture or recreational purposes.

Some indications of the way in which such a program would work may be obtained from the example of the Landes region of France, where the creation of extensive forests (both public and private) on distinctly sub-marginal land brought prosperity to an impoverished population. In England the government has purchased and is planning forests on considerable areas of just such marginal and sub-marginal land as would be included in the proposed program. On a unit of approximately 26,000 acres, which has no merchantable timber, 300 to 400 men are employed during several months in the year. Approximately 100 permanent settlers have been established, dependent primarily on the forest and supplemented by food grown on small agricultural allotments. In Germany and Scandinavia many prosperous communities owe their existence to permanent forests and to accompanying industries. In the United States, the state forests of Michigan already employ several hundred men in building up forests on wild land, and serve to sustain considerable numbers of settlers.

At least that is the way it started—as a means of supplying the treasury with more money than the average man probably would contribute.

and supplemented by food grown on small agricultural allotments. In Germany and Scandinavia many prosperous communities owe their existence to permanent forests and to accompanying industries. In the United States, the state forests of Michigan already employ several hundred men in building up forests on wild land, and serve to sustain considerable numbers of settlers.

At least that is the way it started—as a means of supplying the treasury with more money than the average man probably would contribute.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF REAPPORTIONMENT

HOW TO ACHIEVE BEAUTY

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

After you have organized a health program including proper diet, plenty of drinking water, exercise and sleep in your corrective treatment for acne (pimples and blackheads), you come to the important matter of what to do directly for your skin.

Naturally the acne afflicted skin needs very different care from that given to a youthful skin that is normal. Cleanliness is, of course, a first law in the treatment of this condition, even more so than for the normal skin, but the means of attaining it are slightly different.

The acne skin must be washed frequently. But do not wash with ordinary water and soap. Instead use an especially prepared washing preparation, a cream paste, free from alkali and so medicated as to correct blackheads and open pores. This kind of a washing preparation is more penetrating than soap and acids and harsh alkalis that makes most soaps unsuitable for the acne skin. Such a preparation makes a soft, deeply cleansing lather which soothes and invigorates the skin while it cleanses. Use it with warm water night and morning to completely cleanse the acne area.

Once a day, either night or morning after the washing, or whenever convenient, smooth on an essentially pure face cream, preferably a pasteurized one, and remove this with cleansing tissues. After this, as after any cleansing treatment for acne, pat on a refining lotion, or mild astringent skin tonic to close the pores and to freshen the skin. Be very careful in choosing your preparations, to get those which are suited to acne. Buy only the very purest and best. A pasteurized face cream, unlike almost any other cream, is a corrective for acne because it contains antiseptic properties and because it counteracts the excessive oiliness which is most of a characteristic of acne. Besides this, it is unusually mild and soothing.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The tariff is not a popular subject, doubtless because so few people know much about it. A lot of talk concerning something one does not understand naturally is tiresome.

It is no reflection on the public's intelligence to say that the tariff is a mystery to it. It is a mystery to everybody but a small group of specialists.

The very reason why the folk who run governments always have been so fond of the tariff method of raising cash is that no one except an expert can get through it. It enables the tax collector to get away with murder unsuspected.

At least that is the way it started—as a means of supplying the treasury with more money than the average man probably would contribute.

and supplemented by food grown on small agricultural allotments. In Germany and Scandinavia many prosperous communities owe their existence to permanent forests and to accompanying industries. In the United States, the state forests of Michigan already employ several hundred men in building up forests on wild land, and serve to sustain considerable numbers of settlers.

At least that is the way it started—as a means of supplying the treasury with more money than the average man probably would contribute.

and supplemented by food grown on small agricultural allotments. In Germany and Scandinavia many prosperous communities owe their existence to permanent forests and to accompanying industries. In the United States, the state forests of Michigan already employ several hundred men in building up forests on wild land, and serve to sustain considerable numbers of settlers.

At least that is the way it started—as a means of supplying the treasury with more money than the average man probably would contribute.

The skin tonic for an acne skin must be both soothing and stimulating, and it must be astringent. One of the milky skin-toning lotions is best for mild cases of acne. For the more severe cases a clear, antiseptic, refining lotion is better, as its action is stronger. Compresses wet in this tonic may be left on the affected areas for several minutes. After this treatment you may dust on your powder and rouge and other makeup, provided, they are of the very purest quality as this is the most important in cases of acne.

At night, to complete your treatment, spread on every part of the acne-affected area a generous application of medicated acne cream. Leave it on all night to purify and heal the eruptions.

Always avoid touching your face with your fingers except when you are treating the skin. Infection with acne spreads rapidly, consequently you must be careful to sterilize each pimple as it is opened. If your acne is the kind that manifests itself in "blind pimples" you must try to bring them to the surface of the skin where they can be treated and cured. There are certain creams and liquids which do this effectively. Certain active liquid stimulants are good for this purpose. Once the pimple has been brought to a head, the pimple may be pricked with a sterilized needle and then disinfected, either with an antiseptic liquid disinfectant or with dry boracic acid.

One fact that is not generally known about acne is that the discharge from an open pimple often continues for as long as 15 or 20 minutes after the pimple has been lanced. This substance is highly infectious, and it is through careless "dotting" of pimple that nine-tenths of all the infection carries. The pimple that is opened and not sterilized can infect almost the entire surface of your face.

consider necessary if he realized that he was putting it up.

A foreigner, exporting goods to America has to pay a duty to land them here. Of course he adds it onto the price of his wares; so his American customers pay it back to him in the end. However, the version fed to the American public was that, "The foreigner pays the tax." Strange to relate, it was a yarn which a large part of this country believed for years. My impression is that it is pretty well punctured now.

Such was the revenue tariff—originally.

Presently certain shrewd Americans began to see how they could turn it to their account in another way.

Firstly it was a very nicely camouflaged kind of tax.

Secondly it gave a great advantage to American producers of everything that American consumers have to buy. That is, it enabled the former to boost prices to the latter—while still slightly underselling their foreign competitors, because of the foreigner's customs house handicap.

Thus the revenue tariff became a protective tariff too.

The difficulty is: Inflated prices act and react in a fashion to make protection's beneficiaries everlastingly need more and more protection—like a dope fiend, constantly forced to increase doses of his drug or it loses its kick.

American tariffs have crept higher and higher until today they are much the highest in the world's history.

The present tariff bill looks like elevating them to a point where virtually they will prohibit imports—because nobody but American millionaires can afford the prices foreigners will have to charge here. If so, America's protective tariff beneficiaries will have practically an absolute monopoly.

There are two objections to such a situation.

1. As soon as our protective tariff becomes prohibitory, it will cease to be a revenue producer, and the government needs the money.

2. If we prohibit other countries from selling goods to us, they will prohibit us from selling goods to them. Our export trade will stop. Then what will we do with our surplus products?—which are quite a problem to us already.

The rest of the world's threat against our export trade is no idle dream.

The state department actually is receiving hints at reprisals by foreign governments—to date including England, Canada, France, Spain, Argentina and several smaller countries—and the list lengthens every day.

Economists recognize a difference between a tariff "policy" and tariff "reprisals." Tariff reprisals amount to economic war. To be sure, the United States may not be afraid of war—but war is no joke either, especially the United States against all the rest of the world.

This is the problem the senate finance committee will be busy with all summer.

The tariff bill, as passed by the representatives, was tentative, it is agreed. It remains for the senate committee, under Senator Smoot's chairmanship, to lick it into its final form. On the theory that congress would be in recess, it has been assumed that Washington would be a quiet place this summer. In reality, no place can be quiet where that tariff bill is simmering.

To the eye of the uninitiated it doubtless is an uninspiring-looking hodge-podge of ingredients, sizzling monotonously in the senate finance committee room, but there is dynamite in that stew.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

By MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT
Breakfast
Orange Juice	Muffins
Strawberry Preserves	Coffee
Luncheon
Creamed Potatoes	Haddie
Roasted Potatoes	Wilted Lettuce
Bread and Butter	Tea
Dinner
Clear Soup	Special Spaghetti
Peas	Radishes
Head Lettuce Salad
French Dressing
Hard Rolls	Unsalted Butter
Cheese and Crackers
Strawberries	Coffee

This menu was planned for two people. The creamed fish is made a little different from the usual creamed fish and so is interesting. The strawberries should be washed but not hulled, and served with powdered sugar.

WORDS OF WISDOM

The wise man warns me that life is but a dewdrop on the lotus leaf.—Rabindranath Tagore.

They do not love that do not know their love.—Heywood.

DIET AND HEALTH

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

"DEAR DOCTOR: Since taking quinine capsules before retiring at night will make one perspire during the night, do you believe this would help in reducing weight? Also, since quinine is a blood purifier (is it not?) would you advocate quinine capsules as a spring tonic to clear the system?"

No, I don't believe quinine would help to reduce unless it were taken to the extent that it would upset the general health, J. You should not take any medication except when necessary and prescribed by your physician.

There is no medicine that is a "blood purifier." And the spring tonics you should take are plenty of green vegetables and fruits, and sunshine. There is no doubt that in former days many had borderline degrees of scurvy and beri-beri from a deficiency of vitamins during the winter months.

We have an article on Balanced Diet which you may have.

"DEAR DOCTOR: I wrote you before, but never saw it in the papers. I am 19 years old, and my husband is 21, and we have been married two years. We are very happy except for one thing—we have no children. I know my husband would be the happiest man on earth if I had a baby. If there is anything I can do I will gladly take your advice, for I think there are no children we grow selfish, don't you?"

Dear little girl, you and your husband are both very young, so you should not be discouraged. Of course, you both should be examined to see if there is any reason that can be found for your present sterility, and if there is none, then all you can do is to live as hygienically as possible, especially having a diet that is high in vitamins, and get plenty of fresh air and exercise. It has been found in animals that there is a certain vitamin necessary for fertility. It is called vitamin E, and is present in many of the foods, especially the whole grain products, lettuce and other greens, and lean meat. You might send for our article on Balanced Diet.

"Hooray! I have lost 35 pounds for this morning my scales register 200. You see, I had insect, and still have some excess, being only 5 feet 1 inch tall, and I am only 26 years old. I used to have such a time with my heart, but I don't any more. Everyone tells me I am beginning to look better already. Do you suppose I will ever be able to get down to 110, a loss of 90 pounds more? The flesh on my abdomen is real flabby, and I wish you would tell me some way of shrinking the skin after the fat underneath is gone. I am so happy over my success that I feel at times that I could burst."

Certainly you can get down to normal, Mrs. L., and don't worry about your being flabby. That will adjust itself in time, especially at your age. You had better send for our article on the Atopic Abdominal Wall and take the Tummy Ten exercises. That will help you. Have your pamphlet on the subject of reducing and gaining weight? Congratulations on your good start.

Tomorrow: "Blisters" on Tongue.

LIVING AND LOVING

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

Far be it from me to set myself up as an adviser to parents. They have my deep sympathy, and my wonder is that so many ordinary people, with no great preparation for the profession of parenthood, are as good as they are. They are considered by educators and social workers to be at the root of all the evil in the world.

All of John and Susan's inhibitions and exhibitions are directly traceable to their inheritance from said parents, from too much liberty and restraint or not enough of what have you.

If one happens to be one of those things—a parents—all one can do is to keep so busy with other matters that one has no time to think of all the things one has done that one should not do, and all the things one has left undone that one should have done, and pray that one's particular John and Susans have been kept, by the grace of God, from the awful pitfalls that yawn for their misguided feet.

However, humbly I would beg parents generally to try to remember the days of their own adolescence—that period of extreme sensiveness and conviction of sin. I am convinced, I remember, at that unhappy period in my existence, that I had the most fiendish temper that ever was, and many a night have I cried myself to sleep over my iniquity and the fact that no one ever could, would or should love me.

I hope the parents of all the little girls—not forgetting the many boys—who read the following letter, will remember their own youth and try hard to make their youngsters feel that they are loved and appreciated and that life is worth living.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE I am in great trouble. I am 15 years old. Am the oldest. Being a girl it is hard for me. My mother is always fussing at me. Dad finds fault with everything I do or say. I am sick of the life I have to live. Please Mrs. Lee, help me out and I will thank you so much."

"I never get a kind word from anybody home. Sometimes I wish I was dead. Please answer this in a hurry. If you don't I will kill myself, cause I just can't go on like this forever. Put your answer in the paper as soon as you can, please. Thanks. NOBODY'S CHILD."

Steady, steady, little girl. You are making a bad thing a trying period, and you would be surprised how many girls, and boys, too, of your age, feel the same way. You want to day dream and your parents think you are such a "great girl"—how I hate that term—that you should be "mother's right-hand."

They think you should take on all kinds of responsibility because you are the oldest, and have forgotten how they felt at your age. The best thing you can do is to make up your mind that you are not going to pity yourself. That never helps.

You have a home and father and mother and brothers and sisters, and that is something. Many girls have not and are very unhappy because of it. Now think of your parents and what they are up against in the way of providing for and educating your children and then see if you can't help a bit.

Maybe part of their criticism is true and you can see it yourself. You can remedy that, and if they so too far it is partly, I am sure, because they are anxious to have their little girl turn out well. Realize that part of your unhappiness is growing pains. You are changing from a child into a woman and it hurts a bit.

And believe me, my dear, when I tell you that there are glorious days ahead, and they are waiting for you. So don't do anything rash, and if occasionally your heart gets too full, write to me and I'll drop a note in the column to show you that I have heard and sympathize.

BROKEN HEARTED FRANCES: It would be all right to ask for her picture, dear, and when you get it, send it to me as hard as you can, and I think you will forget to a great extent. Most young girls of your age have these crushes.

PETER'S ADVENTURES

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH SPIDER?

Peter's remark seemed to make Spider a little nervous.

"You are my friend, aren't you?" demanded the fellow. "You're not going to turn enemy just because I wanted to drop glue on the end of your nose, are you? Can't you let bygones be bygones?"

"Of course," Peter chuckled. "I didn't say I wasn't your friend. I simply remarked that none but your best friend would recognize you. And I'm not your best friend, Spider, am I?"

"Well, no, not my very best friend," admitted Spider. "Still I like you."

"Good!" exclaimed Peter, heartily. "Now that's settled would you mind answering a question or two? How many eyes have you? They seem to be all over your head. Seems to me you are looking all ways at once."

"So I am, so I am!" buzzed Spider. "Why shouldn't I see what is going on all around me with eight eyes to look with, youngster. Mark my words, nothing much gets by me. And if I have eight eyes all the better to see with, I have eight legs to use when I need them." Spider kicked all eight of them as he spoke, and looked so comical in the doing that Peter had all he could do to keep from laughing out loud. But he didn't—not only because he was polite but because he feared Spider might bite him if he made the insect angry. What was the matter with the fuzzy fellow, anyhow? He was spinning in circles. Did Peter

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

ROTARIANS DEFEAT COATES; LONG WORM HAS NO TURNING

In the presence of a sympathetic gathering of relatives and friends, the long worm turned so to speak and the last place Rotary nine won its first game in the American Softball League this season with a surprising 16 to 11 victory over the Coates Barber Shop team in a postponed game Friday night at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

Collapsing entirely in the field, the Coates nine, by virtue of the unexpected setback, dropped back into a tie with the Hooven and Allison Co. for first place, each with four victories and two defeats.

Previous to Friday's game, Rotarians had lost four straight games.

Unearthing a batting punch that has been lacking in other games and fielding well, Rotarians got the jump on their opponents at the start, scoring six runs in the first inning, and by continued hard hitting maintained this lead throughout.

Rotary garnered sixteen hits against fourteen for the losers. Russ Kimber, Rotary pitcher, fanned five batters and his batting also featured. He made three hits. Baldner collected four safe blows. Hagler, Coates second baseman, had a perfect day at bat. Up five times, Hagler raved out five hits, including a home run, a double and three singles and personally scored four runs.

Wells was on the mound for Coates. Score:

Rotary	AB. R. H.
Baldner, 3b	7 1 4
Cole, ss	5 3 0
Kimber, p	5 2 3
S. McClellan, lf	5 2 2
Lang, cf	5 2 3
Ervin, 1b	6 1 0
McElree, 2b	6 1 2
T. McClellan, c	6 2 0
Drake, rf	6 2 2

Totals 52 16 16

Coates	AB. R. H.
Hart, ss	5 2 0
McFadden, c	5 2 0
Hagler, 2b	5 1 5
A. Smith, 1b	5 0 2
Thompson, 3b	3 0 1
McCurran, cf-lf	5 0 0
Conklin, rf	4 1 1
Brennan, lf-p	4 1 2
Wells, p	4 1 0
Stiles, 3b	2 0 1
McDonald, rf-cf	1 0 0
Ackerman, rf	0 0 0

Totals 43 11 14

Score by innings:
Rotary 6 0 0 3 2 3 1 1 0—16
Coates 1 0 2 4 0 3 0 0 1—11
Umpires—Gibney at plate; Rachford and Turnbull on bases.

CONGRATULATIONS

"Pud" Purdy
Everett "Pud" (Pud) Purdy, outfielder of the Cincinnati Reds, was born just twenty-five years ago today—June 15, 1904, to be exact—in the struggling hamlet of Beatrice, Neb.

Though only 25, young Pud has already experienced eight full seasons of league baseball, having begun his career with the Lincoln club of the Nebraska State League.

Swanson went to Lombard College, at Galesburg, Ill., where there is no freshman rule, so he was sixteen varsity letters. He pitched on the baseball team, played half-back and end at football, won all the dash events at track and played all over the court at basketball. He was looking for a coaching job rather than a baseball offer when he quit college but finally signed as a pitcher with the Moline club in the Mississippi Valley League. He won eight games and lost three his first season, and then went to the Vernon Club as a pitcher. The Pacific Coast Leaguers converted Ever into an outfielder and as a gardener he came to the Reds.

Swanson may make good with the Reds and still have a new manager next year, as there are ugly rumors that Jack Hendricks will be out of a job at the end of this season.

Hendricks hasn't done so well with his Redders for several seasons, and the rabid Cincinnati fans are demanding a change in the interests of winning more ball games.

Our guess is that no manager is going to make a winning team unless given the material, and the narrow financial policy of the Red director isn't going to permit the addition of many expensive stars. Out of all the high-class players who have been sold or traded during the last few seasons, isn't it funny that the Reds never had a line on any of them? Players like Cuyler, Hornsby, O'Farrell, Wright, Sisler and many others have been on the market and gobbled up by other clubs. As a result there isn't a standard player on the entire Red roster and the manager is forced to constantly develop new rookies for his regular jobs. Third base has been a problem with the Reds for years but there has never been any attempt to fill the job with other than rookies. In the meantime the directors have listened to the call of money in disposing of such players as Hunter, Brainerd, Fonseca and others who are making good with other big league clubs. No manager the Reds can employ can make a pennant contender out of a crowd of rookies playing against seasoned stars.

In the outfield only Walker was obtained as a first-rate player. Swanson, Purdy, Allen, Zitzman and Shaner were youngsters picked up and developed by the Reds. Kelly has been a disappointment and Ford, a good fielder, has never been able to hit. Critz, one of the best second basemen in baseball, has never been a good hitter. Eppa Rixey was the last first-rate pitcher brought to the club by trade or purchase and that was in Pat Moran's day. There's something wrong with the Reds but it won't help any to make Hendricks the goat unless the policy of the board changes.

Swanson may make good with the Reds and still have a new manager next year, as there are ugly rumors that Jack Hendricks will be out of a job at the end of this season.

Hendricks hasn't done so well with his Redders for several seasons, and the rabid Cincinnati fans are demanding a change in the interests of winning more ball games.

Our guess is that no manager is going to make a winning team unless given the material, and the narrow financial policy of the Red director isn't going to permit the addition of many expensive stars. Out of all the high-class players who have been sold or traded during the last few seasons, isn't it funny that the Reds never had a line on any of them? Players like Cuyler, Hornsby, O'Farrell, Wright, Sisler and many others have been on the market and gobbled up by other clubs. As a result there isn't a standard player on the entire Red roster and the manager is forced to constantly develop new rookies for his regular jobs. Third base has been a problem with the Reds for years but there has never been any attempt to fill the job with other than rookies. In the meantime the directors have listened to the call of money in disposing of such players as Hunter, Brainerd, Fonseca and others who are making good with other big league clubs. No manager the Reds can employ can make a pennant contender out of a crowd of rookies playing against seasoned stars.

In the outfield only Walker was obtained as a first-rate player. Swanson, Purdy, Allen, Zitzman and Shaner were youngsters picked up and developed by the Reds. Kelly has been a disappointment and Ford, a good fielder, has never been able to hit. Critz, one of the best second basemen in baseball, has never been a good hitter. Eppa Rixey was the last first-rate pitcher brought to the club by trade or purchase and that was in Pat Moran's day. There's something wrong with the Reds but it won't help any to make Hendricks the goat unless the policy of the board changes.

Swanson may make good with the Reds and still have a new manager next year, as there are ugly rumors that Jack Hendricks will be out of a job at the end of this season.

Hendricks hasn't done so well with his Redders for several seasons, and the rabid Cincinnati fans are demanding a change in the interests of winning more ball games.

Our guess is that no manager is going to make a winning team unless given the material, and the narrow financial policy of the Red director isn't going to permit the addition of many expensive stars. Out of all the high-class players who have been sold or traded during the last few seasons, isn't it funny that the Reds never had a line on any of them? Players like Cuyler, Hornsby, O'Farrell, Wright, Sisler and many others have been on the market and gobbled up by other clubs. As a result there isn't a standard player on the entire Red roster and the manager is forced to constantly develop new rookies for his regular jobs. Third base has been a problem with the Reds for years but there has never been any attempt to fill the job with other than rookies. In the meantime the directors have listened to the call of money in disposing of such players as Hunter, Brainerd, Fonseca and others who are making good with other big league clubs. No manager the Reds can employ can make a pennant contender out of a crowd of rookies playing against seasoned stars.

In the outfield only Walker was obtained as a first-rate player. Swanson, Purdy, Allen, Zitzman and Shaner were youngsters picked up and developed by the Reds. Kelly has been a disappointment and Ford, a good fielder, has never been able to hit. Critz, one of the best second basemen in baseball, has never been a good hitter. Eppa Rixey was the last first-rate pitcher brought to the club by trade or purchase and that was in Pat Moran's day. There's something wrong with the Reds but it won't help any to make Hendricks the goat unless the policy of the board changes.

Swanson may make good with the Reds and still have a new manager next year, as there are ugly rumors that Jack Hendricks will be out of a job at the end of this season.

Hendricks hasn't done so well with his Redders for several seasons, and the rabid Cincinnati fans are demanding a change in the interests of winning more ball games.

Our guess is that no manager is going to make a winning team unless given the material, and the narrow financial policy of the Red director isn't going to permit the addition of many expensive stars. Out of all the high-class players who have been sold or traded during the last few seasons, isn't it funny that the Reds never had a line on any of them? Players like Cuyler, Hornsby, O'Farrell, Wright, Sisler and many others have been on the market and gobbled up by other clubs. As a result there isn't a standard player on the entire Red roster and the manager is forced to constantly develop new rookies for his regular jobs. Third base has been a problem with the Reds for years but there has never been any attempt to fill the job with other than rookies. In the meantime the directors have listened to the call of money in disposing of such players as Hunter, Brainerd, Fonseca and others who are making good with other big league clubs. No manager the Reds can employ can make a pennant contender out of a crowd of rookies playing against seasoned stars.

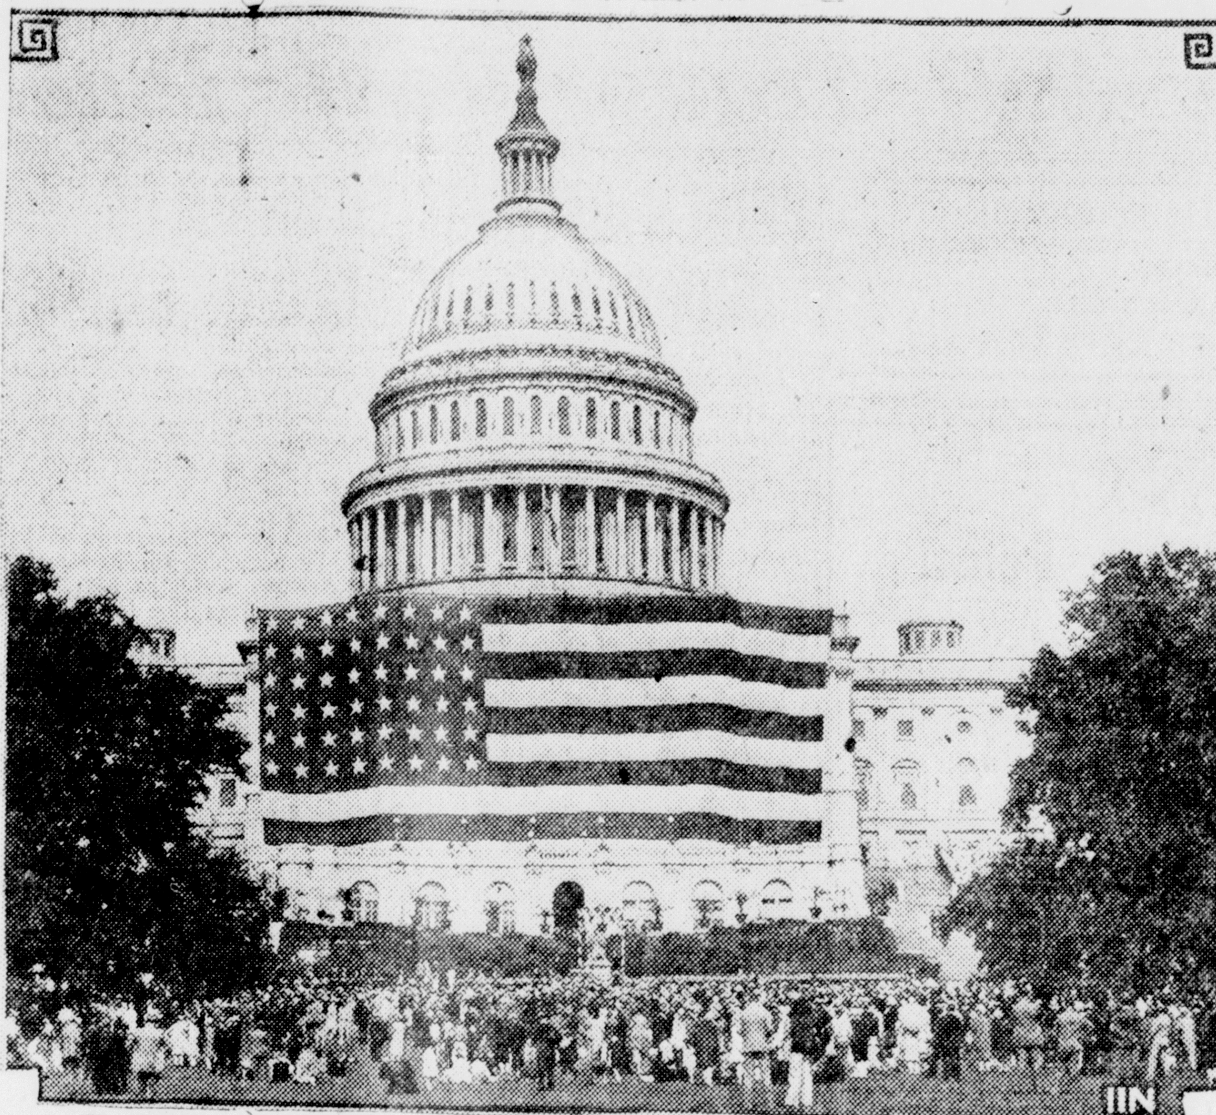

In the outfield only Walker was obtained as a first-rate player. Swanson, Purdy, Allen, Zitzman and Shaner were youngsters picked up and developed by the Reds. Kelly has been a disappointment and Ford, a good fielder, has never been able to hit. Critz, one of the best second basemen in baseball, has never been a good hitter. Eppa Rixey was the last first-rate pitcher brought to the club by trade or purchase and that was in Pat Moran's day. There's something wrong with the Reds but it won't help any to make Hendricks the goat unless the policy of the board changes.

Swanson may make good with the Reds and still have a new manager next year, as there are ugly rumors that Jack Hendricks will be out of a job at the end of this season.

Hendricks hasn't done so well with his Redders for several seasons, and the rabid Cincinnati fans are demanding a change in the interests of winning more ball games.

Our guess is that no manager is going to make a winning team unless given the material, and the narrow financial policy of the Red director isn't going to permit the addition of many expensive stars. Out of all the high-class players who have been sold or traded during the last few seasons, isn't it funny that the Reds never had a line on any of them? Players like Cuyler, Hornsby, O'Farrell, Wright, Sisler and many others have been on the market and gobbled up by other clubs. As a result there isn't a standard player on the entire Red roster and the manager is forced to constantly develop new rookies for his regular jobs. Third base has been a problem with the Reds for years but there has never been any attempt to fill the job with other than rookies. In the meantime the directors have listened to the call of money in disposing of such players as Hunter, Brainerd, Fonseca and others who are making good with other big league clubs. No manager the Reds can employ can make a pennant contender out of a crowd of rookies playing against seasoned stars.

Largest Flag Received at Washington

Nearly covering the front of the Capitol at Washington, this enormous flag, the largest in the country, is shown draped during the flag vespers services held by the U. S. Flag Association. The giant example of "Old Glory" weighs 640 pounds and is 165 feet in length by 90 feet in width.

OLD TIMERS TODAY

In Which George Stovall Writes About Baseball Stars Of Other Days.

By GEORGE STOVALL
Former Star Big League First Baseman and Former Manager Cleveland Indians, St. Louis Browns and Kansas City Federals, Written Especially for Central Press and The Gazette

There you have Jack Coombs, five games and finished with a percentage of .775. It was Jack who kept the Athletics craft on level keel by pitching nearly every other day over a two-week span when the other members of the staff were out of condition. His iron will and strength carried the A's through to victory.

Coombs was one of the brainiest of pitchers, always making his head divide the work with his arm. He was cool and deliberate in the box, seldom ruffled. You could rely on Jack to go in there and pitch his usual good game under the most trying conditions.

Coombs and old Chief Bender were the big pitching guns of the Athletics in the days when such players as Home Run Baker, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry, Stuffy McInnis and others were winning pennants for Connie Mack.

Perhaps the high point of Coombs' career came in the world series of 1910, when his pitching featured the Athletics' victory over the Cubs. He won three of the four triumphs, which took the series. He beat the Cubs 9-3, 12-5, 7-2. He batted .461 in the series.

But Coombs has not forsaken the business of baseball entirely. He also coaches the Duke University, Durham, N. C., baseball team. This year, Duke's first in the Southern conference, Coombs' classy North Carolinians went through their conference schedule unbeaten.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

Coombs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games.

RICHMOND TEAM TO OPPOSE RESERVES SUNDAY AFTERNOON

One of the best baseball games of the season is in prospect for next Sunday afternoon at Washington Park with an announcement by the management of the Reserve baseball nine that the Richmond, Ind., Reds will appear here against the local team.

The Richmond team was booked to play the Reserves earlier in the season but through a misunderstanding the Indiana club failed to show up for the contest.

The Reserve management has been definitely advised, however, that the engagement Sunday will be kept.

The Reserve lineup will remain about the same as usual. The Reds will line up with Orr at second base, C. Rogers in right field, Holtkamp in center, Wright at third base, Hill at first, Morgan in left field, McGill behind the plate, C. Turner at shortstop and either Reis or L. Turner on the mound.

Maxton in all probability will pitch for the Reserves.

MARKETS

LIVE STOCK

CINCINNATI LIVESTOCK

CINCINNATI, June 15.—Hogs receipts 700; holdover 167; market steady to 25c lower; 250-350 lbs., $10.50@11.25; 200-250 lbs., $11.00@11.40; 160-200 lbs., $11.00@11.40; 120-160 lbs., $11@11.25; 90-130 lbs., $9.50@9.90; packing sows, $9.50@11.00.

Cattle receipts 225; calves 175; market steady; veals steady to lower; beef steers, $12.50@14.50; light yearling steers and heifers, $12.50@14.50; beef cows, $9@10.50; low cutter and cutter cows, $16@18; vealers, $13@15; bulk stock and feeder steers, $10@12.

Sheep receipts 475; market steady.

XENIAN SERIOUSLY HURT IN ACCIDENT

Russell Terrell, 25, son of Robert Terrell, this city, and an employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is confined in the General Hospital at Cincinnati with serious injuries to the face sustained at 1:40 p. m. Thursday when he fell while installing a culvert at the Cincinnati, Lebanon and Northern tracks, North Norwood.

Terrell fell on a piece of steel used for re-enforcing concrete. The rod punctured the right side of his neck, passed through the roof of his mouth and out through his left cheek.

He was removed to the hospital by Norwood police. Terrell is employed as a carpenter on the railroad and was engaged in inspecting cement work.

He slipped and fell a distance of five feet.

He was removed to the hospital by Norwood police. Terrell is employed as a carpenter on the railroad and was engaged in inspecting cement work.

He slipped and fell a distance of five feet.

He was removed to the hospital by Norwood police. Terrell is employed as a carpenter on the railroad and was engaged in inspecting cement work.

He slipped and fell a distance of five feet.

He was removed to the hospital by Norwood police. Terrell is employed as a carpenter on the railroad and was engaged in inspecting cement work.

He slipped and fell a distance of five feet.

He was removed to the hospital by Norwood police. Terrell is employed as a carpenter on the railroad and was engaged in inspecting cement work.

He slipped and fell a distance of five feet.

He was removed to the hospital by Norwood police. Terrell is employed as a carpenter on the railroad and was engaged in inspecting cement work.

He slipped and fell a distance of five feet.

He was removed to the hospital by Norwood police. Terrell is employed as a carpenter on the railroad and was engaged in inspecting cement work.

He slipped and fell a distance of five feet.

He was removed to the hospital by Norwood police. Terrell is employed as a carpenter on the railroad and was engaged in inspecting cement work.

day; top fat lambs, $16; bulk fat lambs, $15@16; bulk cull lambs, $10.50@12; bulk cull ewes, $2@6.50.

PITTSBURGH LIVESTOCK

PITTSBURGH, June 15.—Hogs receipts 1000; market 10 to 25c lower. Quotations: 250-350 lbs., $11@11.65; 200-250 lbs., $11.40@11.75; 160-200 lbs., $11.60@11.75; 130-160 lbs., $11.25@11.75; 90-130 lbs., $11@11.50; packing sows, $9.25@9.75.

Cattle receipts none; calves 25, steady. Bulk quotations: beef steers, $13@14.50; light yearling steers and heifers, $11.50@14.50; beef cows, $8@11; low cutter and cutter cows, $6@7.75; vealers, $13@16; heavy calves, $10@14.50.

Sheep receipts 150; market steady. Quotations: top fat lambs, $16; bulk fat lambs, $13@16; bulk cull lambs, $7@11; bulk fat ewes, $5@7; bulk yearlings, $11@12.50.

Potatoes: 150 lb. sacks, Ohio and New York, $2.15@2.25; Maine, $2.25, 120 lb. sack, $2.10; Burbanks 120 lb. bag $2.10; home grown, 160 lbs. sbs. 66c, Florida, new potatoes, in barrels, $7.50; Michigan, Wisconsin, Minn., $1.60; Idaho Russet, $2@2.10 per 100 lb. sack.

Corn, per cwt., $1.10. Wheat, No. 1, $1.00. Rye, No. 2, per bu. 70c. Oats, No. 2, white, old, bu. 40c.

DAYTON PRODUCE
Retail Price
Dressed Turkeys ..... 65c
Eggs, per dozen ..... 32c
Butter, per lb. .... 50c
1928 Fries ..... 55c
Dressed hens per pound ..... 45c
Dressed Ducks ..... 27c
Live Roosters ..... 40c
Geese, per lb. .... 27c
1929 Fries, pound ..... 60c

Prices Being Paid at Plant for Live Poultry and Eggs

Leghorn Hens, 4 lbs. up ..... 25c
1928 Fries ..... 27c
Eggs, per dozen ..... 26c
Spring Ducks, per lb. .... 20c
Hens ..... 27c
Geese ..... 14c
Old Roosters, per lb. .... 14c
1929 Fries, pound ..... 35c
(By Miami Valley Co-operative Milk Producers Ass'n)
Butter, per lb. .... 47c

XENIA
Leghorn Springers ..... 25c
Leghorn Hens ..... 20c
Eggs ..... 26c
Good Hens ..... 22c
Young Roosters ..... 20c
Old Roosters ..... 12c
Heavy Springers ..... 30c

SHEEP
Sheep ..... $ 2.00 @ 5.00
Spring lambs ..... 14.00 @ 15.00

PRODUCE

CHICAGO BUTTER

CHICAGO, June 15.—Butter: receipts, 12,395 tubs; firsts, 39 1/2¢; 40 1-2¢; standards, 42 1-2¢; extra firsts, 41 1-4¢; 41 3-4¢; seconds, 36 3/4¢; extras, 42 3-4¢.

CLEVELAND PRODUCE

CLEVELAND, June 15.—Butter: extra, 44 1-2¢; 46 1-2¢; extra firsts, 42 1-2¢; 44 1-2¢; seconds, 40 1-2¢; 42 1-2¢.

Eggs: extra, 31c; ordinaries, 28 1/2¢; pullets 30c; extra firsts, 41 3-4¢; 43 3-4¢; firsts, 29 3-4¢.

Poultry: heavy fowls, 28@29c; leghorns, 25@26c; heavy spring geese, 15@18c; stages, 15@20c; broilers, 40@42c; ducks, 30@32c; leghorn broilers, 28@30c; leghorn springers, 33@35c; old cocks, 18@20c.

Potatoes: 150 lb. sacks, Ohio and New York, $2.15@2.25; Maine, $2.25, 120 lb. sack, $2.10; Burbanks 120 lb. bag $2.10; home grown, 160 lbs. sbs. 66c, Florida, new potatoes, in barrels, $7.50; Michigan, Wisconsin, Minn., $1.60; Idaho Russet, $2@2.10 per 100 lb. sack.

Corn, per cwt., $1.10. Wheat, No. 1, $1.00. Rye, No. 2, per bu. 70c. Oats, No. 2, white, old, bu. 40c.

DAYTON PRODUCE
Retail Price
Dressed Turkeys ..... 65c
Eggs, per dozen ..... 32c
Butter, per lb. .... 50c
1928 Fries ..... 55c
Dressed hens per pound ..... 45c
Dressed Ducks ..... 27c
Live Roosters ..... 40c
Geese, per lb. .... 27c
1929 Fries, pound ..... 60c

Prices Being Paid at Plant for Live Poultry and Eggs

Leghorn Hens, 4 lbs. up ..... 25c
1928 Fries ..... 27c
Eggs, per dozen ..... 26c
Spring Ducks, per lb. .... 20c
Hens ..... 27c
Geese ..... 14c
Old Roosters, per lb. .... 14c
1929 Fries, pound ..... 35c
(By Miami Valley Co-operative Milk Producers Ass'n)
Butter, per lb. .... 47c

XENIA
Leghorn Springers ..... 25c
Leghorn Hens ..... 20c
Eggs ..... 26c
Good Hens ..... 22c
Young Roosters ..... 20c
Old Roosters ..... 12c
Heavy Springers ..... 30c

SHEEP
Sheep ..... $ 2.00 @ 5.00
Spring lambs ..... 14.00 @ 15.00

PRODUCE

CHICAGO BUTTER

CHICAGO, June 15.—Butter: receipts, 12,395 tubs; firsts, 39 1/2¢; 40 1-2¢; standards, 42 1-2¢; extra firsts, 41 1-4¢; 41 3-4¢; seconds, 36 3/4¢; extras, 42 3-4¢.

CLEVELAND PRODUCE

CLEVELAND, June 15.—Butter: extra, 44 1-2¢; 46 1-2¢; extra firsts, 42 1-2¢; 44 1-2¢; seconds, 40 1-2¢; 42 1-2¢.

Eggs: extra, 31c; ordinaries, 28 1/2¢; pullets 30c; extra firsts, 41 3-4¢; 43 3-4¢; firsts, 29 3-4¢.

Poultry: heavy fowls, 28@29c; leghorns, 25@26c; heavy spring geese, 15@18c; stages, 15@20c; broilers, 40@42c; ducks, 30@32c; leghorn broilers, 28@30c; leghorn springers, 33@35c; old cocks, 18@20c.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

If you think Xenia isn't a live baseball town, you should take the occasion to visit Cox Athletic Field any evening when teams in either of the two softball leagues are playing games.

Fans who watch these games estimate that approximately 500 people find their way to the field when the games are played. And while the majority of these spectators are men, there are also many women fans present to cheer their favorites on to victory.

Softball began here several years ago with a series of games between the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs and took such a hold that a softball league was organized and played a regular schedule of games, but with little pomp or dignity. The idea continued to grow and as a result the number of teams entered, made it necessary to divide the group into two leagues and play off a "little world series" annually to decide the championship.

The teams this year are uniformed, not in the conventional diamond costume, but in apparel that distinguishes the players, allows for freedom in playing and is pleasing to the eye. The leagues are ruled by a softball commission headed by Sheriff Ohmer Tate, commission-appointed umpires have charge of the games and everything is done according to Hoyle or Spalding or whoever it is. As a result softball here is on the up and up and lots of folks take their fun that way during the summer, either playing or watching the games. Of course no admission charge is made.

They say the Swedes are slow but whoever said that didn't know about young Evar Swanson, Cincinnati Red outfielder, who is said to be a throwback to the days when Ty Cobb ran wild on the paths.

In this day and age players who can hit the ball but who run like "ice-wagons" have cluttered up both major leagues, but young Swanson has a good batting eye, is a fair fielder, and can run like nobody's business.

Swanson went to Lombard College, at Galesburg, Ill., where there is no freshman rule, so he won sixteen varsity letters. He pitched on the baseball team, played half-back and end at football, won all the dash events at track and played all over the court at basketball. He was looking for a coaching job rather than a baseball offer when he quit college but finally signed as a pitcher with the Moline club in the Mississippi Valley League. He won eight games and lost three his first season, and then went to the Vernon Club as a pitcher. The Pacific Coast Leaguers converted Evar into an outfielder and as a gardener he came to the Reds.

Swanson may make good with the Reds and still have a new manager next year, as there are ugly rumors that Jack Hendricks will be out of a job at the end of this season.

Hendricks hasn't done so well with his Redlegs for several seasons, and the rabid Cincinnati fans are demanding a change in the interests of winning more ball games.

Our guess is that no manager is going to make a winning team unless given the material, and the narrow financial policy of the Red director isn't going to permit the addition of many expensive stars. Out of all the high-class players who have been sold or traded during the last few seasons, isn't it funny that the Reds never had a line on any of them? Players like Cuyler, Hornsby, O'Farrell, Wright, Sisler and many others have been on the market and gobbled up by other clubs. As a result there isn't a standout player on the entire Red roster and the manager is forced constantly develop new rookies for his regular jobs. Third base has been a problem with the Reds for years but there has never been any attempt to fill the job with other than rookies. In the meantime the directors have listened to the call of money in disposing of such players as Harper, Bressler, Fonseca and others who are making good with other big league clubs. No manager the Reds can employ can make a pennant contender out of a crowd of rookies playing against seasoned stars.

In the outfield only Walker was obtained as a first-rate player. Swanson, Purdy, Allen, Zitzman and Shaner were youngsters picked up and developed by the Reds. Kelly has been a disappointment and Ford, a good fielder, has never been able to hit. Critz, one of the best second basemen in baseball, has never been a good hitter. Eppa Rixey was the last first-rate pitcher brought to the club by trade or purchase and that was in Pat Moran's day. There's something wrong with the Reds but it won't help any to make Hendricks the goat unless the policy of the board changes.

LINERS SCRAPE ON PASSING IN HARBOR

PLYMOUTH, England, June 15.—The liner American Barker scraped the side of the Cunard liner Carmania as the two passed in the Plymouth Harbor today, carrying away gangway ports of the Cunard.

There was no other damage to either vessel, and both proceeded. The Carmania was entering Plymouth from New York with 800 passengers.

ROTARIANS DEFEAT COATES; LONG WORM HAS NO TURNING

In the presence of a sympathetic gathering of relatives and friends, the worm turned so to speak and the last-place Rotary nine won its first game in the American Softball League this season with a surprising 16 to 11 victory over the Coates Barber Shop team in a postponed game Friday night at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

Collapsing entirely in the field, the Coates nine, by virtue of the unexpected setback, dropped back into tie with the Hooven and Allison Co. for first place, each with four victories and two defeats.

Previous to Friday's game, Rotarians had lost four straight games.

Unearthing a batting punch that has been lacking in other games and fielding well, Rotarians got the jump on their opponents at the start, scoring six runs in the first inning, and by continued hard hitting maintained this lead throughout.

Rotary garnered sixteen hits against fourteen for the losers. Russ Kimber, Rotary pitcher, threw a complete game.

Softball began here several years ago with a series of games between the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs and took such a hold that a softball league was organized and played a regular schedule of games, but with little pomp or dignity. The idea continued to grow and as a result the number of teams entered, made it necessary to divide the group into two leagues and play off a "little world series" annually to decide the championship.

The teams this year are uniformed, not in the conventional diamond costume, but in apparel that distinguishes the players, allows for freedom in playing and is pleasing to the eye. The leagues are ruled by a softball commission headed by Sheriff Ohmer Tate, commission-appointed umpires have charge of the games and everything is done according to Hoyle or Spalding or whoever it is. As a result softball here is on the up and up and lots of folks take their fun that way during the summer, either playing or watching the games. Of course no admission charge is made.

They say the Swedes are slow but whoever said that didn't know about young Evar Swanson, Cincinnati Red outfielder, who is said to be a throwback to the days when Ty Cobb ran wild on the paths.

In this day and age players who can hit the ball but who run like "ice-wagons" have cluttered up both major leagues, but young Swanson has a good batting eye, is a fair fielder, and can run like nobody's business.

Swanson went to Lombard College, at Galesburg, Ill., where there is no freshman rule, so he won sixteen varsity letters. He pitched on the baseball team, played half-back and end at football, won all the dash events at track and played all over the court at basketball. He was looking for a coaching job rather than a baseball offer when he quit college but finally signed as a pitcher with the Moline club in the Mississippi Valley League. He won eight games and lost three his first season, and then went to the Vernon Club as a pitcher. The Pacific Coast Leaguers converted Evar into an outfielder and as a gardener he came to the Reds.

Swanson may make good with the Reds and still have a new manager next year, as there are ugly rumors that Jack Hendricks will be out of a job at the end of this season.

Hendricks hasn't done so well with his Redlegs for several seasons, and the rabid Cincinnati fans are demanding a change in the interests of winning more ball games.

Our guess is that no manager is going to make a winning team unless given the material, and the narrow financial policy of the Red director isn't going to permit the addition of many expensive stars. Out of all the high-class players who have been sold or traded during the last few seasons, isn't it funny that the Reds never had a line on any of them? Players like Cuyler, Hornsby, O'Farrell, Wright, Sisler and many others have been on the market and gobbled up by other clubs. As a result there isn't a standout player on the entire Red roster and the manager is forced constantly develop new rookies for his regular jobs. Third base has been a problem with the Reds for years but there has never been any attempt to fill the job with other than rookies. In the meantime the directors have listened to the call of money in disposing of such players as Harper, Bressler, Fonseca and others who are making good with other big league clubs. No manager the Reds can employ can make a pennant contender out of a crowd of rookies playing against seasoned stars.

In the outfield only Walker was obtained as a first-rate player. Swanson, Purdy, Allen, Zitzman and Shaner were youngsters picked up and developed by the Reds. Kelly has been a disappointment and Ford, a good fielder, has never been able to hit. Critz, one of the best second basemen in baseball, has never been a good hitter. Eppa Rixey was the last first-rate pitcher brought to the club by trade or purchase and that was in Pat Moran's day. There's something wrong with the Reds but it won't help any to make Hendricks the goat unless the policy of the board changes.

Swanson may make good with the Reds and still have a new manager next year, as there are ugly rumors that Jack Hendricks will be out of a job at the end of this season.

Hendricks hasn't done so well with his Redlegs for several seasons, and the rabid Cincinnati fans are demanding a change in the interests of winning more ball games.

Our guess is that no manager is going to make a winning team unless given the material, and the narrow financial policy of the Red director isn't going to permit the addition of many expensive stars. Out of all the high-class players who have been sold or traded during the last few seasons, isn't it funny that the Reds never had a line on any of them? Players like Cuyler, Hornsby, O'Farrell, Wright, Sisler and many others have been on the market and gobbled up by other clubs. As a result there isn't a standout player on the entire Red roster and the manager is forced constantly develop new rookies for his regular jobs. Third base has been a problem with the Reds for years but there has never been any attempt to fill the job with other than rookies. In the meantime the directors have listened to the call of money in disposing of such players as Harper, Bressler, Fonseca and others who are making good with other big league clubs. No manager the Reds can employ can make a pennant contender out of a crowd of rookies playing against seasoned stars.

In the outfield only Walker was obtained as a first-rate player. Swanson, Purdy, Allen, Zitzman and Shaner were youngsters picked up and developed by the Reds. Kelly has been a disappointment and Ford, a good fielder, has never been able to hit. Critz, one of the best second basemen in baseball, has never been a good hitter. Eppa Rixey was the last first-rate pitcher brought to the club by trade or purchase and that was in Pat Moran's day. There's something wrong with the Reds but it won't help any to make Hendricks the goat unless the policy of the board changes.

Swanson may make good with the Reds and still have a new manager next year, as there are ugly rumors that Jack Hendricks will be out of a job at the end of this season.

Hendricks hasn't done so well with his Redlegs for several seasons, and the rabid Cincinnati fans are demanding a change in the interests of winning more ball games.

Our guess is that no manager is going to make a winning team unless given the material, and the narrow financial policy of the Red director isn't going to permit the addition of many expensive stars. Out of all the high-class players who have been sold or traded during the last few seasons, isn't it funny that the Reds never had a line on any of them? Players like Cuyler, Hornsby, O'Farrell, Wright, Sisler and many others have been on the market and gobbled up by other clubs. As a result there isn't a standout player on the entire Red roster and the manager is forced constantly develop new rookies for his regular jobs. Third base has been a problem with the Reds for years but there has never been any attempt to fill the job with other than rookies. In the meantime the directors have listened to the call of money in disposing of such players as Harper, Bressler, Fonseca and others who are making good with other big league clubs. No manager the Reds can employ can make a pennant contender out of a crowd of rookies playing against seasoned stars.

In the outfield only Walker was obtained as a first-rate player. Swanson, Purdy, Allen, Zitzman and Shaner were youngsters picked up and developed by the Reds. Kelly has been a disappointment and Ford, a good fielder, has never been able to hit. Critz, one of the best second basemen in baseball, has never been a good hitter. Eppa Rixey was the last first-rate pitcher brought to the club by trade or purchase and that was in Pat Moran's day. There's something wrong with the Reds but it won't help any to make Hendricks the goat unless the policy of the board changes.

Swanson may make good with the Reds and still have a new manager next year, as there are ugly rumors that Jack Hendricks will be out of a job at the end of this season.

CONGRATULATIONS

"Pud" Purdy

Everett Virgil (Pud) Purdy, outfielder of the Cincinnati Reds, was born just twenty-five years ago today—June 15, 1904, to be exact—in the struggling hamlet of Beatrice, Neb.

Though only 25, young Pud has already experienced eight full seasons of league baseball, having begun his career with the Lincoln club of the Nebraska State League.

Swanson went to Lombard College, at Galesburg, Ill., where there is no freshman rule, so he won sixteen varsity letters. He pitched on the baseball team, played half-back and end at football, won all the dash events at track and played all over the court at basketball. He was looking for a coaching job rather than a baseball offer when he quit college but finally signed as a pitcher with the Moline club in the Mississippi Valley League. He won eight games and lost three his first season, and then went to the Vernon Club as a pitcher. The Pacific Coast Leaguers converted Evar into an outfielder and as a gardener he came to the Reds.

Swanson may make good with the Reds and still have a new manager next year, as there are ugly rumors that Jack Hendricks will be out of a job at the end of this season.

Hendricks hasn't done so well with his Redlegs for several seasons, and the rabid Cincinnati fans are demanding a change in the interests of winning more ball games.

Our guess is that no manager is going to make a winning team unless given the material, and the narrow financial policy of the Red director isn't going to permit the addition of many expensive stars. Out of all the high-class players who have been sold or traded during the last few seasons, isn't it funny that the Reds never had a line on any of them? Players like Cuyler, Hornsby, O'Farrell, Wright, Sisler and many others have been on the market and gobbled up by other clubs. As a result there isn't a standout player on the entire Red roster and the manager is forced constantly develop new rookies for his regular jobs. Third base has been a problem with the Reds for years but there has never been any attempt to fill the job with other than rookies. In the meantime the directors have listened to the call of money in disposing of such players as Harper, Bressler, Fonseca and others who are making good with other big league clubs. No manager the Reds can employ can make a pennant contender out of a crowd of rookies playing against seasoned stars.

In the outfield only Walker was obtained as a first-rate player. Swanson, Purdy, Allen, Zitzman and Shaner were youngsters picked up and developed by the Reds. Kelly has been a disappointment and Ford, a good fielder, has never been able to hit. Critz, one of the best second basemen in baseball, has never been a good hitter. Eppa Rixey was the last first-rate pitcher brought to the club by trade or purchase and that was in Pat Moran's day. There's something wrong with the Reds but it won't help any to make Hendricks the goat unless the policy of the board changes.

Swanson may make good with the Reds and still have a new manager next year, as there are ugly rumors that Jack Hendricks will be out of a job at the end of this season.

Hendricks hasn't done so well with his Redlegs for several seasons, and the rabid Cincinnati fans are demanding a change in the interests of winning more ball games.

Our guess is that no manager is going to make a winning team unless given the material, and the narrow financial policy of the Red director isn't going to permit the addition of many expensive stars. Out of all the high-class players who have been sold or traded during the last few seasons, isn't it funny that the Reds never had a line on any of them? Players like Cuyler, Hornsby, O'Farrell, Wright, Sisler and many others have been on the market and gobbled up by other clubs. As a result there isn't a standout player on the entire Red roster and the manager is forced constantly develop new rookies for his regular jobs. Third base has been a problem with the Reds for years but there has never been any attempt to fill the job with other than rookies. In the meantime the directors have listened to the call of money in disposing of such players as Harper, Bressler, Fonseca and others who are making good with other big league clubs. No manager the Reds can employ can make a pennant contender out of a crowd of rookies playing against seasoned stars.

In the outfield only Walker was obtained as a first-rate player. Swanson, Purdy, Allen, Zitzman and Shaner were youngsters picked up and developed by the Reds. Kelly has been a disappointment and Ford, a good fielder, has never been able to hit. Critz, one of the best second basemen in baseball, has never been a good hitter. Eppa Rixey was the last first-rate pitcher brought to the club by trade or purchase and that was in Pat Moran's day. There's something wrong with the Reds but it won't help any to make Hendricks the goat unless the policy of the board changes.

Swanson may make good with the Reds and still have a new manager next year, as there are ugly rumors that Jack Hendricks will be out of a job at the end of this season.

Hendricks hasn't done so well with his Redlegs for several seasons, and the rabid Cincinnati fans are demanding a change in the interests of winning more ball games.

Our guess is that no manager is going to make a winning team unless given the material, and the narrow financial policy of the Red director isn't going to permit the addition of many expensive stars. Out of all the high-class players who have been sold or traded during the last few seasons, isn't it funny that the Reds never had a line on any of them? Players like Cuyler, Hornsby, O'Farrell, Wright, Sisler and many others have been on the market and gobbled up by other clubs. As a result there isn't a standout player on the entire Red roster and the manager is forced constantly develop new rookies for his regular jobs. Third base has been a problem with the Reds for years but there has never been any attempt to fill the job with other than rookies. In the meantime the directors have listened to the call of money in disposing of such players as Harper, Bressler, Fonseca and others who are making good with other big league clubs. No manager the Reds can employ can make a pennant contender out of a crowd of rookies playing against seasoned stars.

In the outfield only Walker was obtained as a first-rate player. Swanson, Purdy, Allen, Zitzman and Shaner were youngsters picked up and developed by the Reds. Kelly has been a disappointment and Ford, a good fielder, has never been able to hit. Critz, one of the best second basemen in baseball, has never been a good hitter. Eppa Rixey was the last first-rate pitcher brought to the club by trade or purchase and that was in Pat Moran's day. There's something wrong with the Reds but it won't help any to make Hendricks the goat unless the policy of the board changes.

Rotary	AB. R. H.
Baldner, 3b	7 1 4
Cole, ss	5 3 0
Kimber, p	5 2 2
S. McClellan, lf	5 2 2
Lang, cf	6 2 3
Ervin, 1b	6 1 0
McElree, 2b	6 1 2
T. McClellan, c	6 2 0
Drake, rf	6 2 2
Totals	52 16 16

Coates	AB. R. H.
Herr, ss	5 2 0
McFadden, c	5 2 2
Hagler, 2b	5 4 5
A. Smith, 1b	5 0 2
Thompson, 3b	3 0 1
McCurran, cf	5 0 0
Conklin, rf	4 1 1
Brennan, lf	4 1 2
Wells, p	4 1 0
Stiles, 3b	2 0 1
McDonald, rf	1 0 0
Ackerman, rf	0 0 0
Totals	43 11 14

Score by Innings:	Rotary	Coates
1	6	0
2	0	0
3	0	0
4	0	0
5	0	0
6	0	0
7	0	0
8	0	0
9	0	0
Umpires—Gibney at plate; Rachford and Turnbull on bases.

RECRUIT GARDENER BEATS REDLEGS IN ELEVENTH INNING

Yesterday's hero—Sylvester Johnson, whose stout-hearted recruiting in the ninth inning stopped a Boston rally and enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to beat the Braves, 4 to 3, and gain the National League lead, Johnson went to the mound with the bases loaded and none out and retired the Braves in order.

Larry Benton pitched the New York Giants to a 7 to 2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Giants knocked Jess Petty out of the box in the first inning.

Johnny Frederick, Brooklyn's recruit outfielder, doubled in the eleventh and drove in the winning run in the Robins 5 to 4 triumph over Cincinnati.

Lefty Grove won his tenth game of the season and the Philadelphia Athletics beat Cleveland, 9 to 4. Hasebi hit a home run and drove in three runs.

Lou Gehrig hit home runs No. 16 and 17 and the New York Yankees beat Detroit, 15 to 4. Pat Fothergill also hit two home runs and Gehrig and Combs hit one each.

The St. Louis Browns beat the Boston Red Sox in the ninth, 7 to 6.

Hadley's tight pitching featured Washington's 4 to 1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Edwin H. Ezelkraut and Frances H. Ezelkraut to Guy M. and Marie Williams, property in village of Osborn, $100.

R. O. and Fern O. Routzong to Carl Lee and Alveta Viola Young, property in village of Fairfield, $100.

William H. and Ida B. Shields to Jesse and Earnest Toner, property in Xenia City, $100.

Laura V. Knisley to Carl E. and Fern Knisley, property in Xenia City, $100.

G. Val and Alice Sims, Morris and Minnie Sims and Leon C. Sims to John W. and Bertha Reeves, property in village of Spring Valley, $100.

Arthur L. Weinreich to William Vance Hamilton, property in Bearcreek Twp., $100.

More children are reading books in Greene County than ever before, according to a report of Miss Mildred Sandoe, county librarian of the Sandoe County District Library.

The report shows that more than 2,000 certificates were given to children reading ten or more books during the school year. In addition, 4,000 or more seals were placed on these certificates, showing that each child awarded a seal had read five additional books.

The highest number of seals was awarded to a pupil of Spring Hill School, Xenia, for reading enough books to entitle her to have twenty-six seals placed on her certificate.

Largest Flag Received at Washington

Nearly covering the front of the Capitol at Washington, this enormous flag, the largest in the country, is shown draped during the flag vespers services held by the U. S. Flag Association. The giant example of "Old Glory" weighs 640 pounds and is 165 feet in length by 90 feet in width.

OLD TIMERS TODAY In Which George Stovall Writes About Baseball Stars Of Other Days.

By GEORGE STOVALL
Former Star Big League First Baseman and Former Manager Cleveland Indians, St. Louis Browns and Kansas City Federalists. Written Especially for Central Press and The Gazette

Cases of canned peas and corn, carloads of cabbage and spinach, of apples and bananas are strange things to capture the interest of a man who once was a great sport figure of his day and the idol of small boys, now, too, grown into men.

There you have Jack Combs, Jack Combs of the Philadelphia Athletics. Jack Combs, whose mighty right arm helped write baseball history long before Babe Ruth was old enough to play league baseball.

Combs has become a wholesale grocer in Palestine, Tex. And that same right arm that helped raise the great Athletics of baseball's golden era to shining heights and brought disaster and doom to the Chicago Cubs in the world series of 1910, has been going about the prosaic business of adding up the day's receipts, of checking up the latest shipment of beans and butter and bars of soap.

But Combs has not forsaken the business of baseball entirely. He also coaches the Duke University, Durham, N. C., baseball team. This year, Duke's first in the Southern conference, Combs' classy North Carolinians went through their conference schedule unbeaten.

Combs, a clever batter as well as a wonderful pitcher, worked in more games than any other American league pitcher during the 1910 season. He was in forty-five games and finished with a percentage of .775.

It was Jack who kept the Athletics craft on level keel by pitching nearly every other day over a two-week span when the other members of the staff were out of condition. His iron will and strength carried the A's through to victory.

Combs was one of the brainiest of pitchers, always making his head divide the work with his arm. He was cool and deliberate in the box, seldom ruffled. You could rely on Jack to go in there and pitch his usual good game under the most trying conditions.

Combs and old Chief Bender were the big pitching guns of the Athletics in the days when such players as Home Run Baker, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry, Stuffy McInnis and others were winning pennants for Connie Mack.

Perhaps the high point of Combs' career came in the world series of 1910, when his pitching featured the Athletics' victory over the Cubs. Combs won three of the A's four triumphs, which took the series. He beat the Cubs 9-3, 12-5, 7-2. He batted .461 in the series.

Russell Terrell, 25, son of Robert Terrell, this city, and an employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is confined in the General Hospital at Cincinnati with serious injuries to the face sustained at 1:40 p. m. Thursday when he fell while installing a culvert at the Cincinnati, Lebanon and Northern tracks, North Norwood.

Terrell fell on a piece of steel used for reinforcing concrete. The rod punctured the right side of his neck, passed through the roof of his mouth and out through his left cheek.

He was removed to the hospital by Norwood police. Terrell is employed as a carpenter on the railroad and was engaged in inspecting cement work.

He slipped and fell a distance of five feet.

Pleading guilty to operating a milk truck equipped with only one license plate, Theodore Hoover, Wilmington, was fined $10 and costs by Probate Judge S. C. Wright Saturday morning.

Hoover was cited to appear in court June 2 and when he failed to appear a warrant was issued for his arrest. He was taken into custody Friday night by L. A. Davis, county road patrolman, and returned to Xenia.

TRUCK DRIVER IS FINED FOR OFFENSE

Pleading guilty to operating a milk truck equipped with only one license plate, Theodore Hoover, Wilmington, was fined $10 and costs by Probate Judge S. C. Wright Saturday morning.

Hoover was cited to appear in court June 2 and when he failed to appear a warrant was issued for his arrest. He was taken into custody Friday night by L. A. Davis, county road patrolman, and returned to Xenia.

Combs was one of the brainiest of pitchers, always making his head divide the work with his arm. He was cool and deliberate in the box, seldom ruffled. You could rely on Jack to go in there and pitch his usual good game under the most trying conditions.

Combs and old Chief Bender were the big pitching guns of the Athletics in the days when such players as Home Run Baker, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry, Stuffy McInnis and others were winning pennants for Connie Mack.

Perhaps the high point of Combs' career came in the world series of 1910, when his pitching featured the Athletics' victory over the Cubs. Combs won three of the A's four triumphs, which took the series. He beat the Cubs 9-3, 12-5, 7-2. He batted .461 in the series.

Russell Terrell, 25, son of Robert Terrell, this city, and an employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is confined in the General Hospital at Cincinnati with serious injuries to the face sustained at 1:40 p. m. Thursday when he fell while installing a culvert at the Cincinnati, Lebanon and Northern tracks, North Norwood.

Terrell fell on a piece of steel used for reinforcing concrete. The rod punctured the right side of his neck, passed through the roof of his mouth and out through his left cheek.

He was removed to the hospital by Norwood police. Terrell is employed as a carpenter on the railroad and was engaged in inspecting cement work.

He slipped and fell a distance of five feet.

Pleading guilty to operating a milk truck equipped with only one license plate, Theodore Hoover, Wilmington, was fined $10 and costs by Probate Judge S. C. Wright Saturday morning.

Hoover was cited to appear in court June 2 and when he failed to appear a warrant was issued for his arrest. He was taken into custody Friday night by L. A. Davis, county road patrolman, and returned to Xenia.

Combs was one of the brainiest of pitchers, always making his head divide the work with his arm. He was cool and deliberate in the box, seldom ruffled. You could rely on Jack to go in there and pitch his usual good game under the most trying conditions.

Combs and old Chief Bender were the big pitching guns of the Athletics in the days when such players as Home Run Baker, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry, Stuffy McInnis and others were winning pennants for Connie Mack.

Perhaps the high point of Combs' career came in the world series of 1910, when his pitching featured the Athletics' victory over the Cubs. Combs won three of the A's four triumphs, which took the series. He beat the Cubs 9-3, 12-5, 7-2. He batted .461 in the series.

Russell Terrell, 25, son of Robert Terrell, this city, and an employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is confined in the General Hospital at Cincinnati with serious injuries to the face sustained at 1:40 p. m. Thursday when he fell while installing a culvert at the Cincinnati, Lebanon and Northern tracks, North Norwood.

Terrell fell on a piece of steel used for reinforcing concrete. The rod punctured the right side of his neck, passed through the roof of his mouth and out through his left cheek.

dy; top fat lambs, $16; bulk fat lambs, $15@16; bulk cull lambs, $10.50@12; bulk cull ewes, $2@6.50.

Eggs: extra, 31c; ordinaries, 28c; 12c; pullets 30c; extra firsts, 41c; 34@43 3-4c; firsts, 29 3-4c. Poultry: heavy fowls, 28@29c; leghorns, 25@26c; heavy spring geese, 15@18c; stags, 18@20c; broilers, 40@42

The Theater

Recently this column reported that Gilbert Roland, erstwhile leading man for Norma Talmadge, was to play the heavy in her first talkie, but it now seems that the movie moguls have relented and Gilbert is scheduled to play a romantic character opposite Miss Talmadge.

The talkie is "Tin Pan Alley" across the footlights with "Is Zat So?" are reported planning to bow onto the silver screen as costars in a Pathe story to be written by Gleason called "Oh, Yeah?" They have been separated since "Is Zat So?" except for informal appearances together, such as in the Maskers' Revels.

Gloria Swanson is reported interested in getting Edward Horton to play opposite her in her next picture.

FLORENCE VIDOR

Twenty Years '09- Ago '29

Edward Hart, 12, fell fifteen feet from a cherry tree and sustained injuries to his head and right shoulder which will cause him to be confined to his bed for some time.

Xenia's regular police force, consisting of a chief and six patrolmen, was cut to a chief and two patrolmen by action of city council.

The Xenia "boosters", 200 strong, and headed by the O. S. and S. O. Home band, will go to Newark, O., Wednesday to pull for Xenia as the place for the 1910 G. A. R. encampment.

Steve Phillips has resigned his position at the Hyman clothing store and expects to go to Washington, D. C., where he will be associated with his uncle, Stephen Phillips, the veteran horseman, in the race horse business.

story by Hugh Stanislaus Strange. The story is laid in present-day New York and is full of romance, comedy and drama.

Laura Hope Crews has said that the voices of Norma and Gilbert are excellent. Wray was in New York and was signed by telegraph. A script was sent him by airmail, which he picked up at Kansas City and he was ready for rehearsal on arrival.

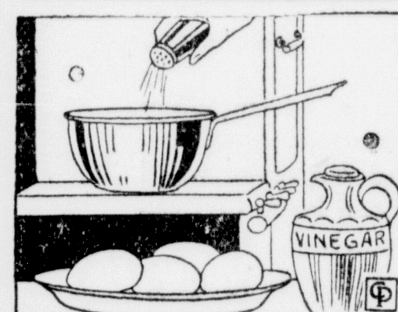

Theodore Von Eltz, who left the screen for the stage, will make his last talking picture appearance in "The Awful Truth", featuring Ina Claire. Henry Danielsen is playing opposite Miss Claire. Ina and her new husband, Jack Gilbert, are reported to be planning a trip to Europe soon.

Tom Mix, the cowboy actor, who twenty years ago was working for the Miller Brothers 101 Ranch show for $18 a week, has been sued for breach of contract, by the Miller Bros., Circus. The suit was filed at Binghamton, N. Y., and alleges Mix broke his contract with the 101 Ranch Shows, signed last April at a salary of $7,500 a week and has joined an other circus at $15,000 a week.

Florence Vidor, whose picture appears in this column today, has vigorously denied a rumored rift in the domestic affairs of herself and her violinist-husband, Jascha Heifetz. She admitted there had been some differences, but claimed they are now patched up.

James Gleason and Robert Armstrong, who smashed a big hit

Wife Preservers

Add a little salt and vinegar to water in which eggs are to be poached. Salt gives flavor, and both set the whites.

NONSENSE

DAWGONIT! I GOTTA GO SEE A "TOMMY" MOVIE WITH MAMA

SALLY'S SALLIES

HOW IS TH' BIG BRUTE TREATING YOU?

Some Ma's put the mar in marriage.

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

Says Selma - Some people may have been born with a silver spoon in their mouth—but their words cut like a KNIFE

BIG SISTER—Yes, Speck "Got It"

SPECK WAS HIGHLY INCENSED AT HIS HARD LUCK WHEN HE FOUND THAT HE'D PICKED FROM DONNIE'S TOYS THE CAN WITH THE BUILDING BLOCKS IN IT. SO HE RETURNED TO HAVE A TRY FOR THE CAN OF MONEY.

DE CAN WID DE MONEY IN IT IS RIGHT DOWN HERE IN DE DARK SOMEERS

WHAT'S THAT? SOME ONE'S PROULIN ROUND IN OUR HOUSE! THANK GOODNESS I'VE GOT BUDD'S BALL BAT HANDY.

LOOKS LIKE I'M GOIN TO GET IT AT LAST.

Copyright, 1929, by Central Press Association, Inc.

SPECK! AN' WHATEVER ARE YOU DOIN' WITH DONNIE'S MARBLES?

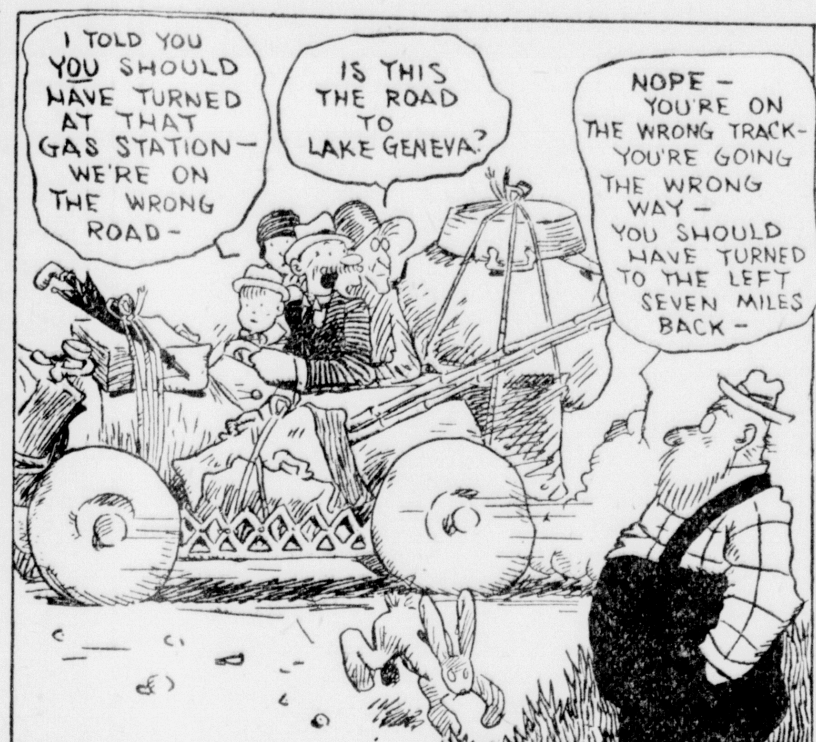

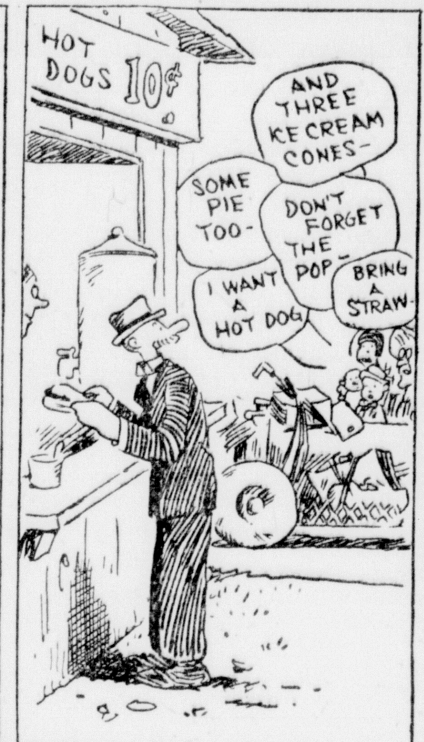

6-15 Forgrave

By LESLIE FORGRAVE

THE GUMPS—Lake Geneva or Bust

TOOT! TOOT! HONK! HONK! THE GUMPS ARE COUNTRY BOUND MOTORCYCLE POLICE - BEWARE WATCH FOR THAT LICENSE NUMBER ~348~

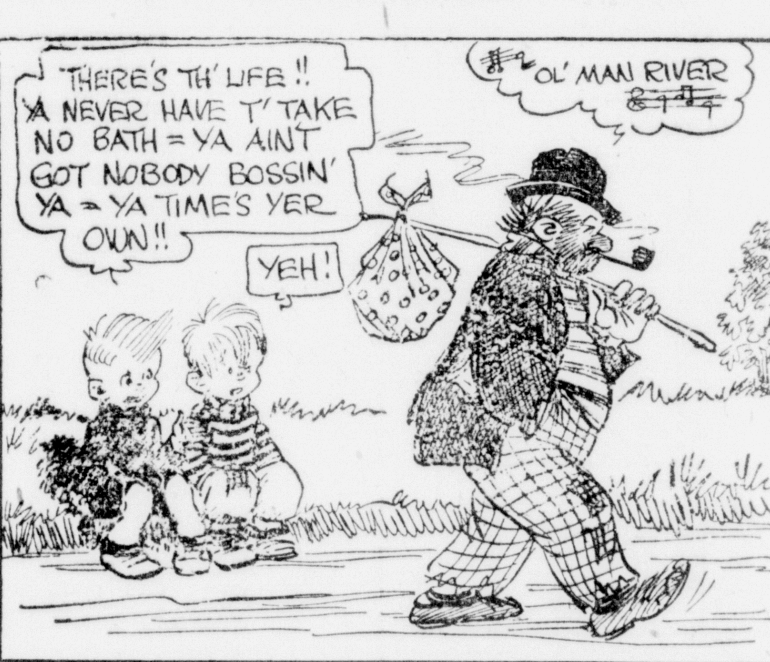

By SIDNEY SMITH

ETTA KETT—Now He IS Sick!

By PAUL ROBINSON

MUGGS McGINNIS—After Tea

By WALLY BISHOP

HIGH PRESSURE PETE—SOME Dogs

By SWAN

"CAP" STUBBS—Gran'ma's Error!

By EDWIN

The Theater

Recently this column reported that Gilbert Roland, erst-while leading man for Norma Talmadge, was to play the heavy in her first talkie, but it now seems that the movie moguls have relented and Gilbert is scheduled to play a romantic character opposite Miss Talmadge.

The talkie is "Tin Pan Alley" across the footlights with "Is Zat So?", are reported planning to bow onto the silver sheet as co-stars in a Pathe story to be written by Gleason called "Oh, Yeah?" They have been separated since "Is Zat So?" except for informal appearances together, such as in the Maskers' Revels.

Gloria Swanson is reported interested in getting Edward Horton to play opposite her in her next picture.

FLORENCE VIDOR

Twenty Years '09- Ago '29

Edward Hart, 12, fell fifteen feet from a cherry tree and sustained injuries to his head and right shoulder which will cause him to be confined to his bed for some time.

Xenia's regular police force, consisting of a chief and six patrolmen, was cut to a chief and two patrolmen by action of city council.

The Xenia "hoosters", 200 strong, and headed by the O. S. and S. O. Home band, will go to Newark, O., Wednesday to pull for Xenia as the place for the 1930 G. A. R. encampment.

Steve Phillips has resigned his position at the Hyman clothing store and expects to go to Washington, D. C., where he will be associated with his uncle, Stephen Phillips, the veteran horseman, in the race horse business.

story by Hugh Stanislaus Stranice. The story is laid in present-day New York and is full of romance, comedy and drama.

Laura Hope Crews has said that the voices of Norma and Gilbert are excellent. Wray was in New York and was signed by telegraph. A script was sent him by airmail, which he picked up at Kansas City and he was ready for rehearsal on arrival.

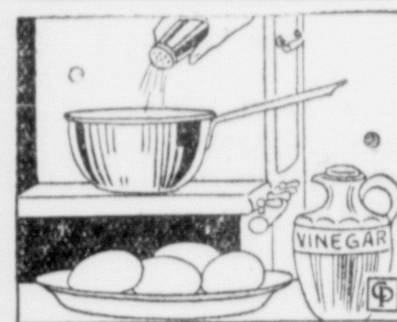

Theodore Von Eltz, who left the screen for the stage, will make his first talking picture appearance in "The Awful Truth", featuring Ina Claire. Henry Danielson is playing opposite Miss Claire. Ina and her new husband, Jack Gilbert, are reported to be planning a trip to Europe soon.

Tom Mix, the cowboy actor, who twenty years ago was working for the Miller Brothers 101 Ranch show for $18 a week, has been sued for breach of contract, by the Miller Bros. Circus. The suit was filed at Binghamton, N. Y., and alleges Mix broke his contract with the 101 Ranch Show, signed April at a salary of $7,700 a week and has joined another circus at $15,000 a week.

Florence Vidor, whose picture appears in this column today, has vigorously denied a rumored rift in the domestic affairs of herself and her violinist-husband, Jascha Heifetz. She admitted there had been some differences, but claimed they are now patched up.

James Gleason and Robert Armstrong, who smashed a big hit

Wife Preservers

Add a little salt and vinegar to water in which eggs are to be poached. Salt gives flavor, and both set the whites.

NONSENSE

SALLY'S SALLIES

Some Ma's put the mar in marriage.

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

Says Selma - Some people may have been born with a silver SPOON in their mouth—but their words cut like a KNIFE

BIG SISTER—Yes, Speck "Got It"

THE GUMPS—Lake Geneva or Bust

ETTA KETT—Now He IS Sick!

MUGGS McGINNIS—After Tea

HIGH PRESSURE PETE—SOME Dogs

"CAP" STUBBS—Gran'ma's Error!

By LESLIE FORGRAVE

By SIDNEY SMITH

By PAUL ROBINSON

By WALLY BISHOP

By SWAN

By EDWIN

O. S. U. PROFESSOR ARRESTED IN PROBE OF BRUTAL KILLING

(Continued From Page 1)

T. Hix, a former public school teacher in New York, told the United Press by long-distance telephone that he had received a letter from his daughter yesterday and that she had given no indication that she was in trouble. He sobbed as he told now he had not seen Miss Hix for a year, but said she wrote frequently. She attended high school in Northfield, Conn., he said.

Despite her reported indifference toward men, Miss Hix dressed attractively. Her body was clothed in a brown dress with a white collar and she wore black shoes. A handkerchief covered with blood was in her right hand.

Coroner Murphy estimated Miss Hix had been dead about eighteen hours when her body was found. That would mean that she was slain sometime between 8 p. m. and 10 p. m., Thursday.

Miss Hix had lived here six years, having been graduated from the university with an arts degree two years ago. Since then she had been taking a medical course. She was a member of Alpha Epsilon, a medical society, and when the latter failed to keep it she called the Bustin girls, who then decided to notify police.

Police expressed the opinion Miss Hix put up a battle with her assailant, who apparently used a sharp instrument to carry out his fiendish plans. A score of wounds were inflicted in the young woman's head and her throat slashed five inches, further examination revealed.

The blood soaked handkerchief indicated she had tried desperately to stop the flow of blood. The other hand tightly clasped a number of large strands of her long brown hair.

Miss Hix was twenty-five years old.

Warren said he had seen the man in the neighborhood before, but does not know him. Police could not locate him.

Miss Peggy Edwards, secretary to the dean of women at the university, said she had a luncheon engagement with Miss Hix yesterday, and when the latter failed to keep it she called the Bustin girls, who then decided to notify police.

Police expressed the opinion Miss Hix put up a battle with her assailant, who apparently used a sharp instrument to carry out his fiendish plans. A score of wounds were inflicted in the young woman's head and her throat slashed five inches, further examination revealed.

The blood soaked handkerchief indicated she had tried desperately to stop the flow of blood. The other hand tightly clasped a number of large strands of her long brown hair.

Miss Hix was twenty-five years old.

Warren said he had seen the man in the neighborhood before, but does not know him. Police could not locate him.

Miss Peggy Edwards, secretary to the dean of women at the university, said she had a luncheon engagement with Miss Hix yesterday, and when the latter failed to keep it she called the Bustin girls, who then decided to notify police.

Police expressed the opinion Miss Hix put up a battle with her assailant, who apparently used a sharp instrument to carry out his fiendish plans. A score of wounds were inflicted in the young woman's head and her throat slashed five inches, further examination revealed.

The blood soaked handkerchief indicated she had tried desperately to stop the flow of blood. The other hand tightly clasped a number of large strands of her long brown hair.

Miss Hix was twenty-five years old.

Warren said he had seen the man in the neighborhood before, but does not know him. Police could not locate him.

Miss Peggy Edwards, secretary to the dean of women at the university, said she had a luncheon engagement with Miss Hix yesterday, and when the latter failed to keep it she called the Bustin girls, who then decided to notify police.

Police expressed the opinion Miss Hix put up a battle with her assailant, who apparently used a sharp instrument to carry out his fiendish plans. A score of wounds were inflicted in the young woman's head and her throat slashed five inches, further examination revealed.

The blood soaked handkerchief indicated she had tried desperately to stop the flow of blood. The other hand tightly clasped a number of large strands of her long brown hair.

Miss Hix was twenty-five years old.

Warren said he had seen the man in the neighborhood before, but does not know him. Police could not locate him.

Miss Peggy Edwards, secretary to the dean of women at the university, said she had a luncheon engagement with Miss Hix yesterday, and when the latter failed to keep it she called the Bustin girls, who then decided to notify police.

Police expressed the opinion Miss Hix put up a battle with her assailant, who apparently used a sharp instrument to carry out his fiendish plans. A score of wounds were inflicted in the young woman's head and her throat slashed five inches, further examination revealed.

The blood soaked handkerchief indicated she had tried desperately to stop the flow of blood. The other hand tightly clasped a number of large strands of her long brown hair.

Miss Hix was twenty-five years old.

Warren said he had seen the man in the neighborhood before, but does not know him. Police could not locate him.

Miss Peggy Edwards, secretary to the dean of women at the university, said she had a luncheon engagement with Miss Hix yesterday, and when the latter failed to keep it she called the Bustin girls, who then decided to notify police.

Police expressed the opinion Miss Hix put up a battle with her assailant, who apparently used a sharp instrument to carry out his fiendish plans. A score of wounds were inflicted in the young woman's head and her throat slashed five inches, further examination revealed.

The blood soaked handkerchief indicated she had tried desperately to stop the flow of blood. The other hand tightly clasped a number of large strands of her long brown hair.

Miss Hix was twenty-five years old.

Warren said he had seen the man in the neighborhood before, but does not know him. Police could not locate him.

Miss Peggy Edwards, secretary to the dean of women at the university, said she had a luncheon engagement with Miss Hix yesterday, and when the latter failed to keep it she called the Bustin girls, who then decided to notify police.

Police expressed the opinion Miss Hix put up a battle with her assailant, who apparently used a sharp instrument to carry out his fiendish plans. A score of wounds were inflicted in the young woman's head and her throat slashed five inches, further examination revealed.

The blood soaked handkerchief indicated she had tried desperately to stop the flow of blood. The other hand tightly clasped a number of large strands of her long brown hair.

Miss Hix was twenty-five years old.

Warren said he had seen the man in the neighborhood before, but does not know him. Police could not locate him.

Miss Peggy Edwards, secretary to the dean of women at the university, said she had a luncheon engagement with Miss Hix yesterday, and when the latter failed to keep it she called the Bustin girls, who then decided to notify police.

Police expressed the opinion Miss Hix put up a battle with her assailant, who apparently used a sharp instrument to carry out his fiendish plans. A score of wounds were inflicted in the young woman's head and her throat slashed five inches, further examination revealed.

The blood soaked handkerchief indicated she had tried desperately to stop the flow of blood. The other hand tightly clasped a number of large strands of her long brown hair.

Miss Hix was twenty-five years old.

Warren said he had seen the man in the neighborhood before, but does not know him. Police could not locate him.

Miss Peggy Edwards, secretary to the dean of women at the university, said she had a luncheon engagement with Miss Hix yesterday, and when the latter failed to keep it she called the Bustin girls, who then decided to notify police.

Police expressed the opinion Miss Hix put up a battle with her assailant, who apparently used a sharp instrument to carry out his fiendish plans. A score of wounds were inflicted in the young woman's head and her throat slashed five inches, further examination revealed.

The blood soaked handkerchief indicated she had tried desperately to stop the flow of blood. The other hand tightly clasped a number of large strands of her long brown hair.

Miss Hix was twenty-five years old.

Warren said he had seen the man in the neighborhood before, but does not know him. Police could not locate him.

Miss Peggy Edwards, secretary to the dean of women at the university, said she had a luncheon engagement with Miss Hix yesterday, and when the latter failed to keep it she called the Bustin girls, who then decided to notify police.

Police expressed the opinion Miss Hix put up a battle with her assailant, who apparently used a sharp instrument to carry out his fiendish plans. A score of wounds were inflicted in the young woman's head and her throat slashed five inches, further examination revealed.

The blood soaked handkerchief indicated she had tried desperately to stop the flow of blood. The other hand tightly clasped a number of large strands of her long brown hair.

Miss Hix was twenty-five years old.

Warren said he had seen the man in the neighborhood before, but does not know him. Police could not locate him.

Miss Peggy Edwards, secretary to the dean of women at the university, said she had a luncheon engagement with Miss Hix yesterday, and when the latter failed to keep it she called the Bustin girls, who then decided to notify police.

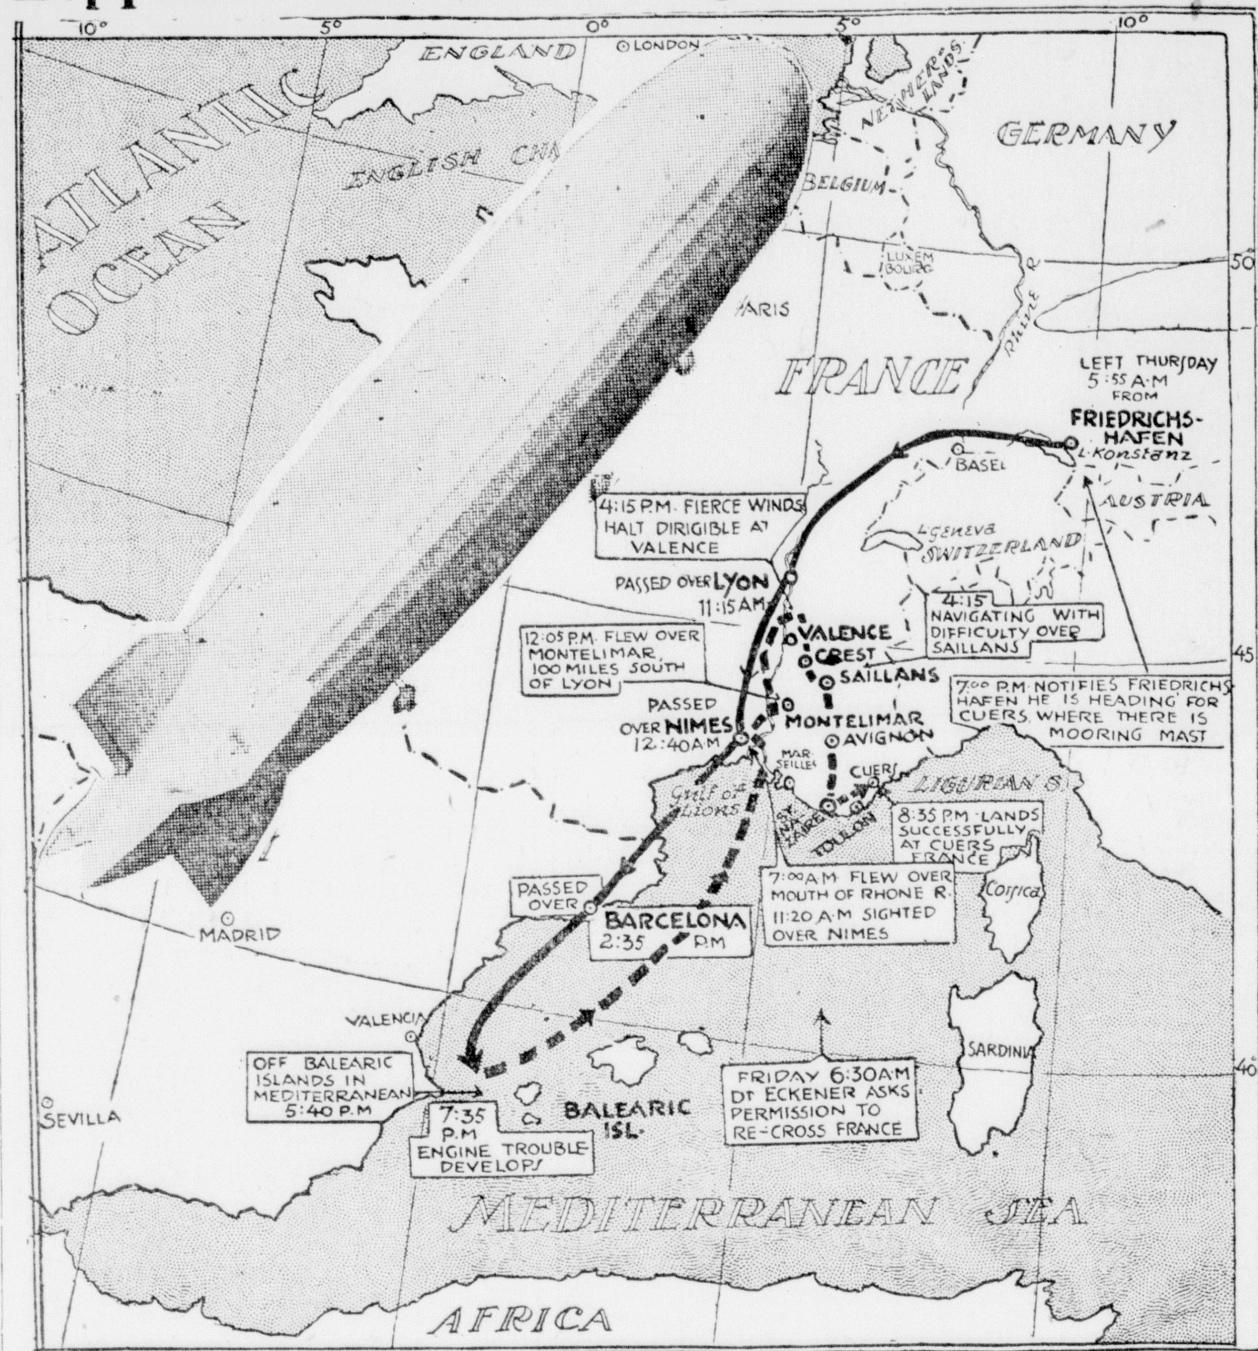

Police expressed the opinion Miss Hix put up a battle with her assailant, who apparently used a sharp instrument to carry out his fiendish plans. A score of wounds were inflicted in the young woman's head and her throat slashed five inches, further examination revealed.

The blood soaked handkerchief indicated she had tried desperately to stop the flow of blood. The other hand tightly clasped a number of large strands of her long brown hair.

Miss Hix was twenty-five years old.

Warren said he had seen the man in the neighborhood before, but does not know him. Police could not locate him.

Zeppelin Will Start Flight After Repairs

The above map graphically depicts the gallant fight against the elements which the Graf Zeppelin made after four of her five engines were crippled while flying over Spain enroute to the United States. After two engines failed Dr. Hugo Eckener ordered the ship to turn about and head for home. Two more went dead on the way and with only one working the eighteen passengers and crew of the giant airship found themselves drifting helplessly over France toward the Mediterranean. Only the tremendous efforts and skill of Dr. Eckener saved a catastrophe when the Graf finally was landed at Cuers, France. New motors are being rushed to replace the damaged ones and the Graf will proceed to Friedrichshafen. It is believed that the flight to the United States will be tried again after the repairs are made.

(International Newsreel)

FORECLOSURE SUIT FILED HERE; OTHER LOCAL COURT NEWS

Suit to marshal liens and for foreclosure and sale of real estate has been filed in Common Pleas Court by the Spring Valley National Bank against S. C. Turner and Lilly Turner with The Peoples Building and Savings Co. named co-defendant.

According to the petition, the bank obtained a judgment against the Turners for $451.78 last March 26 and the judgment remains wholly unsatisfied.

Because of a claim of the savings company that it has a lien on the property the plaintiff is unable to effect a sale of real estate owned by the defendants, the petition asserts.

The plaintiff asks that the priorities of the liens be adjusted by the court and that the real estate be sold and the proceeds divided. George H. Smith is attorney for the plaintiff.

VALUE ESTATE

Gross value of the estate of John F. Harshman, deceased, is valued at $23,560, composed of personal property worth $600 and real estate valued at $22,960, in an estimate on file in Probate Court. Debts and the cost of administration total $16,846, leaving a net value of $6,714.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Alfred Allen Rich, Norwood, salesman, and Mollie Mildred Fuller, Cincinnati, O., were refused a license because of non-residence.

PLAN RECEPTION AT YELLOW SPRINGS TO HONOR RALPH WEAD

A reception honoring Ralph O. Wead, county auditor, who has been appointed deputy auditor of state and will move to Columbus about June 30, is planned by citizens of Yellow Springs, his birthplace, for Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Bryan High School auditorium.

Just twenty-five years ago this June Auditor Wead received his diploma from Antioch College, Yellow Springs, and the celebration is being arranged in his honor by his early pupils, graduates and friends in that village.

He is still regarded by residents of Yellow Springs as one of their citizens, since his career started there. For seventeen years he served as superintendent of the public schools in Yellow Springs.

A program of speaking and music is being arranged, speakers of ability are being engaged, a brass band will lead a procession and a quartet will sing.

The public is being invited to the reception.

WEEKLY EVENTS

MONDAY:
Unity Center.
D. of P.
S. F. O.
Phi Delta Kappa.

TUESDAY:
Kiwanis.
Rotary.
Xenia I. O. O. F.

WEDNESDAY:
Church Prayer meetings.
Jr. O. U. A. M.

THURSDAY:
Red Men.

FRIDAY:
Earles.

CRAIG OFF DUTY

Under a schedule of vacations arranged for members of the Xenia Police Department, Night Patrolman J. E. Craig will go off duty for a fifteen day period Sunday. During the last fifteen days Night Patrolman Charles Thompson has been on his vacation.

PILOT ENCIRCLES TEXAS IN ONE DAY

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 15.—No matter how much old time Texas Rangers stretch the stories of their record rides during frontier days, they can never make them compare with that of young Lieut. Y. H. Taylor of Kelly Field who recently flew around the state of Texas in one day, covering 2,087 miles.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

CONTRIBUTING MEMBERS ARE SOUGHT BY NATIONAL GUARD

Letters soliciting supporting memberships in Company L, 147th Infantry, National Guard, have been sent to a number of Xenians by Captain Ozni H. Cornwell, commanding officer.

Solicitation by letter is being used in place of personal solicitation, and Xenians wishing to contribute to the support of the guard company, are asked to send checks for $5, made out to Company Fund, Company L, 147th Infantry. The letters call attention to the fact that contributing members are exempt from jury duty, and contain copies of sections of the General Code, relating to the contributing membership. The company is permitted to recruit 150 contributing members, who then are required to take an oath of allegiance and are subject to call for service, although never required to perform field service or to do any service outside of the company.

A certified list of contributing members is filed with the clerk of courts, and tallies drawn for jury services are checked against this list when juries are drawn. All contributors are exempt from service on juries or from labor on the public highways, the law provides.

DAMAGE CAUSED BY WIND ON THURSDAY

A severe rain and windstorm which broke over Greene County between 10:30 and 11 o'clock Thursday night caused slight damage except in the vicinity of Bowersville, where the wind gained near-tornado intensity and resulted in considerable property loss.

Blowing down trees and damaging orchards, the high wind tore the summer kitchen off the residence of Joseph Jackson, south of Bowersville.

At the farm home of Clem Husey, on the Sheeley Road, one-fourth of a mile northeast of Bowersville, all the windows in the residence were shattered and the barn was unroofed.

Telephone communication to Bowersville was cut off for about twelve hours. Crews repaired wires and straightened poles with the result that service was partly restored Friday afternoon.

WOMEN SLEEP MORE QUIETLY THAN MEN

LONDON, June 15.—Sex equality may be all right but women have an advantage over men in being able to sleep longer and more peacefully.

Dr. Bernard Hollander, alienist, is the authority for this statement, declaring in a speech here that all women sleep longer and more peacefully than men because they believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to

Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not especially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San

O. S. U. PROFESSOR ARRESTED IN PROBE OF BRUTAL KILLING

(Continued From Page 1)

T. Hix, a former public school teacher in New York, told the United Press by long-distance telephone that he had received a letter from his daughter yesterday and that she was in trouble. He sobbed as he told now he had not seen Miss Hix for a year, but said she wrote frequently. She attended high school in Northfield, Conn., he said.

Despite her reported indifference toward men, Miss Hix dressed attractively. Her body was clothed in a brown dress with a white collar and she wore black shoes. A handkerchief covered with blood was in her right hand.

Coroner Murphy estimated Miss Hix had been dead about eighteen hours when her body was found. That would mean that she was slain sometime between 8 p. m. and 10 p. m., Thursday.

Miss Hix had lived here six years, having been graduated from the university with an arts degree two years ago. Since then she had been taking a medical course. She was a member of Alpha Epsilon, a medical sorority.

R. F. Warren, proprietor of a barber shop in the building in which Miss Hix lived, told police that a man with whom he talked early Thursday evening, inquired as to the co-ed's identity. "About 7 p. m. Miss Hix came downstairs from her room," Warren said, "and walked passed us. Then the man asked me who she was. I told him and there was nothing more said."

Warren said he had seen the man in the neighborhood before, but does not know him. Police could not locate him.

Miss Peggy Edwards, secretary to the dean of women at the university, said she had a luncheon engagement with Miss Hix yesterday, and when the latter failed to keep it she called the Bustin girls, who then decided to notify police.

Police expressed the opinion Miss Hix put up a battle with her assailant, who apparently used a sharp instrument to carry out his fiendish plans. A score of wounds were inflicted in the young woman's head and her throat slashed five inches, further examination revealed.

The blood soaked handkerchief indicated she had tried desperately to stop the flow of blood. The other hand tightly clasped a number of large strands of her long brown hair.

Miss Hix was twenty-five years old.

YOUNG STOWAWAY IS BLAMED IN FAILURE OF GASOLINE TANKS

(Continued From Page 1)

garded his big, blue eyes, which seemed to be mutely begging for our pardon, we looked at each other and smiled. There was nothing else to do."

A group of fishermen were the first to see the plane come out of the skies and settle on the beach. They rushed to the spot and surrounded the pilot of the air.

When the aviator stepped out of the cabin the fishermen grasped their hands and cheered them. Assolant brought out the stowaway, holding him by the collar, as if angered. But Assolant, who recently married a show girl in the United States, was jovial.

"Allow me to present to you our unexpected pilot," he said.

The aviators were frank in expressing their disgust when they discovered that they were not on the coast of France, which they had hoped to reach.

On their way to the hotel for rest and food, the aviators were showered with flowers thrown at them by señoritas of the village. The whole village turned out to give the aviators a welcome.

Much of the applause apparently was for Schreiber.

The United Press correspondent was one of the first to reach the aviators after they had landed.

On the way to the hotel Assolant told of the great drive across the storm-torn north Atlantic. Schreiber was alongside the pilot not knowing whether to look proud or sheepish. He did both.

"Our trip," Assolant said, "was wholly uneventful, except, of course, for this youngster bobbing up after we had started. We discussed the idea of turning back and putting him off, but decided against it, after seeing the accident which befell the Green Flash."

Just twenty-five years ago this June Auditor Wead received his diploma from Antioch College, Yellow Springs, and the celebration is being arranged in his honor by his early pupils, graduates and friends in that village.

He is still regarded by residents of Yellow Springs as one of their citizens, since his career started there. For seventeen years he served as superintendent of the public schools in Yellow Springs.

A program of speaking and music is being arranged, speakers of ability are being engaged, a brass band will lead a procession and a quartet will sing.

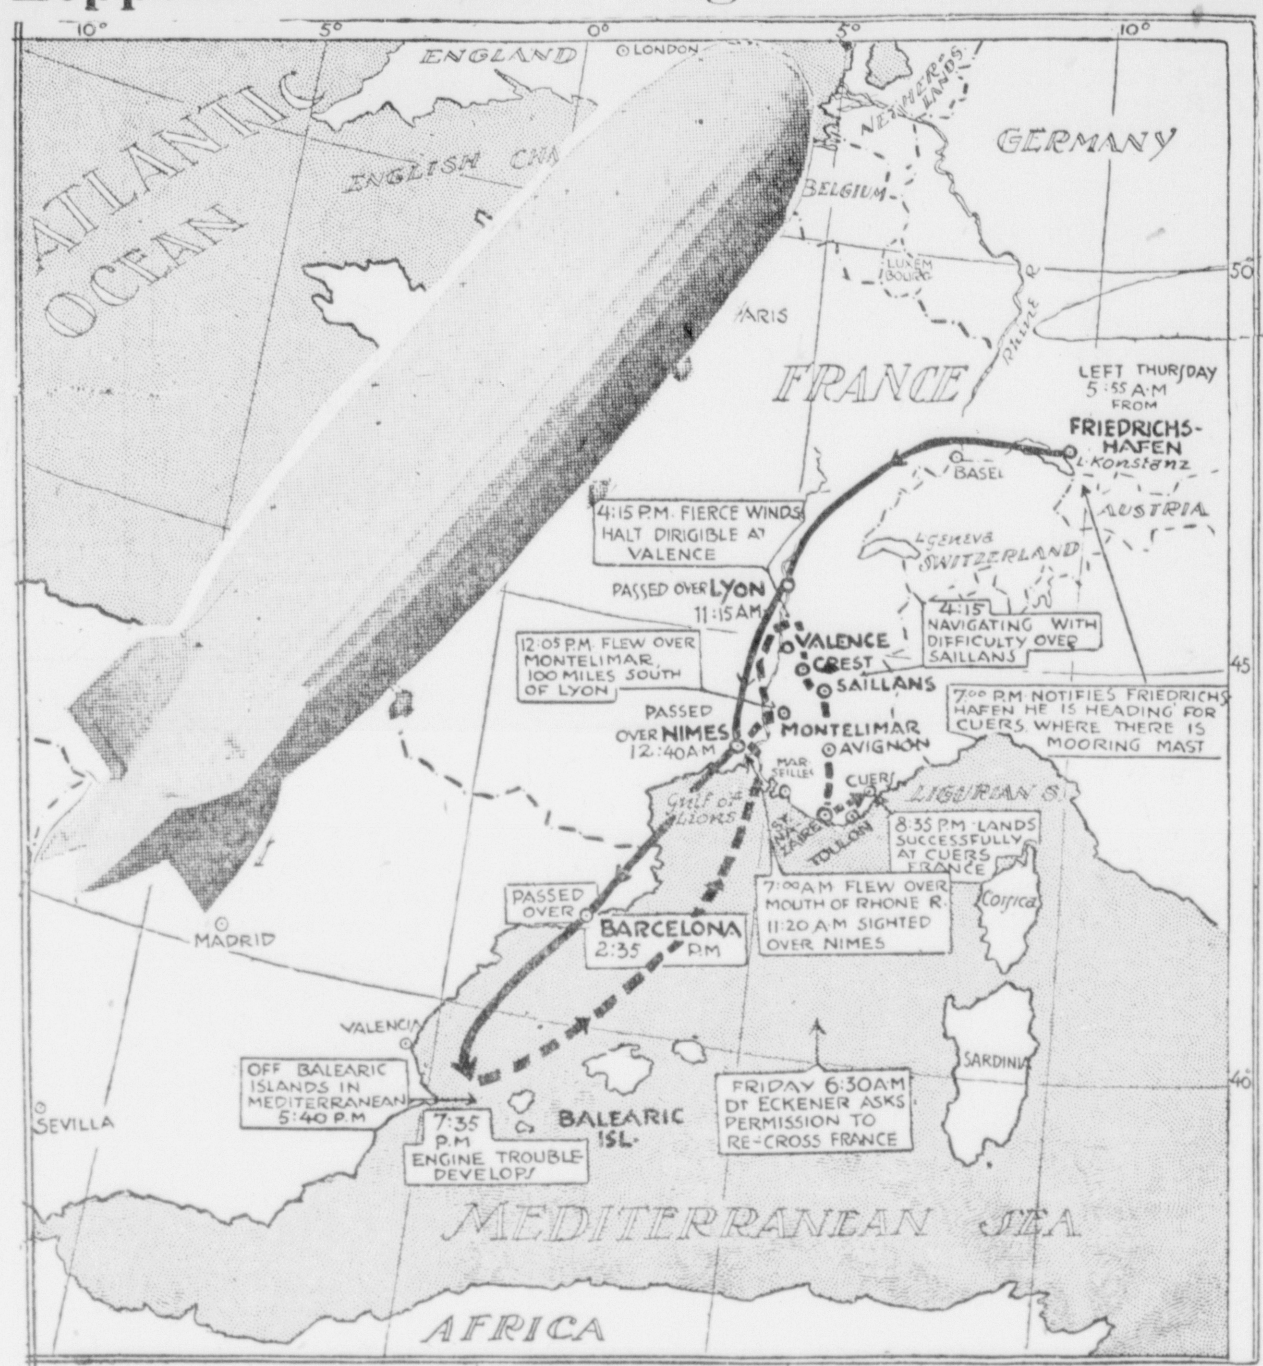

The public is being invited to the reception.

At the hospital she seemed preoccupied. When she left, she told the telephone operator there that she had a date. She didn't say who she was going out with. She left the building alone.

Her roommates were not worried when she failed to return home that night. They thought she had spent the night with the friend she said she might visit. Theora was the kind of a girl that would stay away for a night without bothering to notify her roommates.

She did not return Friday, and then, late in the afternoon, her friends learned that Theora would not return, that though she had fought desperately for life in those last few moments, her death was as her life—a mystery.

Zeppelin Will Start Flight After Repairs

The above map graphically depicts the gallant fight against the elements which the Graf Zeppelin made after four of her five engines were crippled while flying over Spain enroute to the United States. After two engines failed Dr. Hugo Eckener ordered the ship to turn about and head for home. Two more went dead on the way and with only one working the eighteen passengers and crew of the giant airship found themselves drifting helplessly over France toward the Mediterranean. Only the tremendous efforts and skill of Dr. Eckener saved a catastrophe when the Graf finally was landed at Cuers, France. New motors are being rushed to replace the damaged ones and the Graf will proceed to Friedrichshafen. It is believed that the flight to the United States will be tried again after the repairs are made.

(International Newsreel)

FORECLOSURE SUIT FILED HERE; OTHER LOCAL COURT NEWS

Suit to marshal liens and for foreclosure and sale of real estate has been filed in Common Pleas Court by the Spring Valley National Bank against S. C. Turner and Lilly Turner with The Peoples Building and Savings Co. named co-defendant.

According to the petition, the bank obtained a judgment against the Turners for $451.78 last March 26 and the judgment remains wholly unsatisfied.

Because of a claim of the savings company that it has a lien on the property the plaintiff is unable to effect a sale of real estate owned by the defendants, the petition asserts.

The plaintiff asks that the priorities of the liens be adjusted by the court and that the real estate be sold and the proceeds divided. George H. Smith is attorney for the plaintiff.

VALUE ESTATE

Gross value of the estate of John P. Harshman, deceased, is valued at $23,560, composed of personal property worth $660 and real estate valued at $22,900, in an estimate on file in Probate Court. Debts and the cost of administration total $16,846, leaving a net value of $6,714.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Alfred Allen Rich, Norwood, salesman, and Mollie Mildred Fuller, Cincinnati, O., were refused a license because of non-residence.

PLAN RECEPTION AT YELLOW SPRINGS TO HONOR RALPH WEAD

A reception honoring Ralph O. Wead, county auditor, who has been appointed deputy auditor of state and will move to Columbus about June 30, is planned by citizens of Yellow Springs, his birthplace, for Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Bryan High School auditorium.

Just twenty-five years ago this June Auditor Wead received his diploma from Antioch College, Yellow Springs, and the celebration is being arranged in his honor by his early pupils, graduates and friends in that village.

He is still regarded by residents of Yellow Springs as one of their citizens, since his career started there. For seventeen years he served as superintendent of the public schools in Yellow Springs.

A program of speaking and music is being arranged, speakers of ability are being engaged, a brass band will lead a procession and a quartet will sing.

The public is being invited to the reception.

WEEKLY EVENTS

MONDAY: Unity Center, D. of P. S. P. O. Phi Delta Kappa.

TUESDAY: Kiwanis, Rotary, Xenia I. O. O. F.

WEDNESDAY: Church Prayer meetings, Jr. O. U. A. M.

THURSDAY: Red Map, FRIDAY: Eagles.

CRAIG OFF DUTY

Under a schedule of vacations arranged for members of the Xenia Police Department, Night Patrolman J. E. Craig will go off duty for a fifteen day period Sunday. During the last fifteen days Night Patrolman Charles Thompson has been on his vacation.

PILOT ENCIRCLES TEXAS IN ONE DAY

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 15.—No matter how much old time Texas Rangers stretch the stories of their record rides during frontier days, they can never make them compare with that of young Lieut. Y. H. Taylor of Kelly Field who recently flew around the state of Texas in one day, covering 2,987 miles.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for fifteen hours and thirty-five minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to # hold everything!

The Dodge 4-wheel internal-expanding hydraulic brakes on the new Dodge Brothers Six will spoil you for any other type—perfect equalization, maximum safety, velvety smoothness, self-adjustment, easy operation. This feature alone makes a Dodge ride a new experience in motoring. Try it out.

EIGHT BODY STYLES: '945 to '1065 F. O. B. DETROIT

Convenient Terms.

NEW DODGE BROTHERS SIX

276

CHRYSLER MOTORS PRODUCT

CREAMER & BINDER

CONTRIBUTING MEMBERS ARE SOUGHT BY NATIONAL GUARD

Letters soliciting supporting memberships in Company L, 147th Infantry, National Guard, have been sent to a number of Xenians by Captain Ozni H. Cornwell, commanding officer.

Solicitation by letter is being used in place of personal solicitation, and Xenians wishing to contribute to the support of the guard company, are asked to send checks for $5, made out to Company Fund, Company L, 147th Infantry.

The letters call attention to the fact that contributing members are exempt from jury duty, and contain copies of sections of the General Code, relating to the contributing membership. The company is permitted to recruit 150 contributing members, who then are required to take an oath of allegiance and are subject to call for service, although never required to perform field service or to do any service outside of the company.

A certified list of contributing members is filed with the clerk of courts, and talismen drawn for jury services are checked against this list when juries are drawn. All contributors are exempt from service on juries or from labor on the public highways, the law provides.

DAMAGE CAUSED BY WIND ON THURSDAY

A severe rain and windstorm which broke over Greene County between 10:30 and 11 o'clock Thursday night caused slight damage except in the vicinity of Bowersville, where the wind gained near-tornado intensity and resulted in considerable property loss.

Blowing down trees and damaging orchards, the high wind tore the summer kitchen off the residence of Joseph Jackson, south of Bowersville.

At the farm home of Clem Hussey, on the Sheeley Road, one-fourth of a mile northeast of Bowersville, all the windows in the residence were shattered and the barn was unroofed.

Telephone communication to Bowersville was cut off for about twelve hours. Crews repaired wires and strengthened poles with the result that service was partly restored Friday afternoon.

WOMEN SLEEP MORE QUIETLY THAN MEN

LONDON, June 15.—Sex equality may be all right but women have an advantage over men in being able to sleep longer and more peacefully.

Dr. Bernard Hollander, alienist, is the authority for this statement, declaring in a speech here that all women sleep longer and more peacefully than men because they believe he established a record distance for one-day travel under such conditions.

TONIGHT
MARY ASTOR—MATT MOORE
In "DRY MARTINI"
Comedy and Cartoon

SUNDAY AND MONDAY
Richard Arlen and Mary Brian
In
"THE MAN I LOVE"
Also Latest News and Two Reel Comedy

held at Mr. Neff's home Saturday night, June 22.

LUMBERTON

Mrs. Rufus Wical entertained about seventy-five relatives and friends of Mrs. Wayne Hemstead, (nee Marjorie Wintersteen) at her home Thursday afternoon to a miscellaneous shower. The afternoon was spent in guessing contests, after which a delicious refreshment course of ice cream and angel food cake and iced tea was served. Mrs. Hemstead received many beautiful and useful presents.

Mrs. Truman Hiatt has been ill the past week suffering with gall stone trouble.

Mrs. A. J. Michener spent Monday and Tuesday in Springfield with her daughter, Mrs. George Tribbey and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Wooland and family of near Waynesville.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Jessup of Dayton, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. James Jessup.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lieberman entertained Mr. and Mrs. Henry Flesher and daughter, Mary Irene of Dayton, Mrs. Harry Selly of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Viola Mitchell to dinner Sunday.

Miss Luna Lewis spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lewis.

ORPHIUM

TONIGHT
BOB STEELE IN "COME AND GET IT"
Also Billy Bevan 2-reel comedy

SUNDAY MATINEE AT 2:30 P. M.
PHYLLIS HAVER AND ALAN HALE in "SAL OF SINGAPORE"

A sea epic of rare beauty and charm, vibrant with drama, thrills and laughs.
Also "NO PICNIC"—2 reel comedy

Monday—Patsy Ruth Miller in "Beautiful But Dumb"

for Economical Transportation

The Chevrolet Six offers all the Distinct Advantages of BODY by FISHER

STYLE

The new Fisher bodies on the Chevrolet Six are unusually smart and attractive. Concave front pillars lengthen the profile—the effect of the side paneling extends well up over the roof line—and all rear quarters are artistically molded.

COMFORT

In comfort, too, these new Fisher bodies represent a marked advance. The seats are deeply cushioned. Upholstery is "built-up" for added luxuriousness. And the driver's seat is easily adjustable, forward and back.

STRENGTH

Another outstanding feature of these new Fisher bodies is their sturdy construction. Built of selected hardwood and steel, they provide a measure of strength, endurance and safety that is unapproached in any other low-priced car.

QUIETNESS

As a result of their composite wood and steel construction, Chevrolet's new Fisher bodies are exceptionally quiet. The roof is padded to prevent rumble. And wherever wood and metal contact, a layer of insulation prevents noise.

APPOINTMENTS

All hardware fittings on Chevrolet enclosed bodies are designed and built by Ternstedt. Door handles are of the remote control type—window lifts are smart and convenient—and all exterior bright metal parts are chromium-plated.

FINISH

No single feature of Chevrolet bodies has created more widespread comment than their beautiful finish—made possible by the superlatively smooth surface of the steel body panels. Applied against this silken surface, Chevrolet finishes are uniform, lustrous and permanent.

THE ROADSTER... $525	THE COACH	THE CONVERTIBLE LANDAU... $725
THE PHAETON... $525	$595	The Sedan Delivery... $595
THE COUPE... $595		The Light Delivery Chassis... $400
THE SEDAN... $675		The 1 1/2 Ton Chassis... $545
THE CABRIOLET... $695		The 1 1/2 Ton Chassis with Cab... $650

COMPARE the delivered price as well as the list price in considering automobile values. Chevrolet's delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

Lang Chevrolet Company

ASSOCIATED DEALERS
H. W. BADGLEY, Spring Valley, Ohio
HILL TOP GARAGE Cedarville, Ohio
BALES CHEVROLET CO., Yellow Springs

A SIX IN THE PRICE RANGE OF THE FOUR